La Crosse Wins Standoff Against Rampaging Flood

By HARVEY BREUSCHER

LA CROSSE, Wis. (AP) — La Crosse was worn but ready today in the crisis hours of its struggle against a record flood crest rampaging through the Mississippi River valley.

The river has swelled to 17.7 feet, only inches short of an expected 18-foot crest, due to ram five miles of protective dikes before day's end and hold through Friday.

After 48 hours of frenzied labor on the dikes, flood fighters had won a standoff. Crews were given a brief rest shortly after midnight before returning to raise and reinforces the dikes.

The river already had claimed some victories. Water ringed the city's north side and had swept over two of three runways at the municipal airport on French Island. Phone service was cut to both locations.

A guard remained posted at a 15-million gallon gasoline tank farm where one tank, holding 107,000 gallons, was tipped at a 10-degree angle when a dike crumbled Monday. Water swirled eight feet deep around the self-sealing tanks and the potential fire danger added to the city's uneasiness.

Downstream at Clinton, Iowa, a 75-foot section of a dike collapsed without warning Tuesday, injuring 15 young volunteer flood fighters. Eleven were released after hospital treatment.

South Vietnamese Must Be Destroyed, Red China Says

By JOHN RODERICK

TOKYO (AP) — Red China said today the republic of South Viet Nam must be destroyed as a "product of U.S. imperialism" so that all Viet Nam can be reunified.

"There can be no compromise between the Vietnamese people and the U.S. aggressors on this question," said the Chinese Communist party paper, the Peking People's Daily.

Attacking President Johnson's April 17 statement that the United States insists that the independence of South Viet Nam be guaranteed, Peking said:

"The very purpose for which the South Vietnamese people are fighting at great sacrifice to themselves is to destroy completely this so-called 'independent country,' a product of U.S. imperialism, and to realize the reunification and complete liberation of their fatherland.

"So long as this so-called 'independent country' created by the U.S. exists, there can be no complete reunification nor a completely independent country for the Vietnamese people themselves. There can be no compromise between the Vietnamese people and the U.S. aggressors on this question."

The People's Daily charged that the United States "has gradually turned South Viet Nam into its colony and military base and a clamped a most brutal fascist rule on the region."

Recalling the coups of recent years, it continued:

"Finding Ngo Dinh Diem not to its liking, the United States murdered him; finding Nguyen Khan not to its liking either, it removed him from office. Saigon has become the stage of ceaseless merry-go-round, with a reshuffle every day and a coup d'etat every other day. Nobody is clear what sort of people constitute the present government of this so-called 'independent country.'"

The paper said Johnson's statement "amounts to a declaration that the aim of the U.S. aggression in South Viet Nam is unalterable and that the U.S. is determined to hang on in South Viet Nam and carry on its war of aggression against Viet Nam."

The People's Daily again rejected Johnson's call for unconditional talks on Viet Nam, saying the U.S. chief executive had, along with Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, "made clear the U.S. intention to resort to war blackmail, to use bombing to enforce a peace negotiation and make the Vietnamese people stop their just struggle against U.S. imperialism and for national salvation."

Stepped-Up War in Viet Nam Forecast by McNamara

By CHARLES W. CORDDRY

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara reported today that Communist infiltration into South Viet Nam had "increased at a high rate" in recent months.

He said that the war effort against the Reds would be stepped up to counteract the "high-level" of infiltration of men and equipment.

McNamara talked with newsmen at Andrews Air Force Base, Md., after an overnight flight from Honolulu where he presided over a high-level conference of U.S. officials and military leaders.

He said that the air strikes against North Viet Nam had tended to overshadow the importance of the war in the south and the necessity to defeat Red insurgents whose aim was to subvert and overthrow the Saigon government.

The Honolulu meeting directed its attention, he said, to steps for bolstering the South Vietnamese forces.

McNamara said that those forces "suffer from a strength disadvantage" relative to the guerrillas. They outnumber the guerrillas about five to one whereas experience indicates a ratio of about ten to one is needed to defeat insurgents."

The defense secretary said he did not expect "new policy decisions" to come from his meeting with top Pacific commanders and Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff.

He said the United States, implementing earlier broad decisions to help South Viet Nam expand its forces, now would supply "additional logistics, training and advisory assistance."

Asked whether he thought the Communist Chinese would intervene in the war, McNamara said, "I don't want to forecast the actions of a foreign power, especially of Red China."

Nor would he say what evidence the United States had about the construction of anti-aircraft missile sites in North Viet Nam. But he said it was logical to expect such missiles to be installed "at some point."

Discussing infiltration, McNamara said that in a recent action in which two "Viet Cong or Communist" battalions were encountered, 90 per cent of the small arms and 100 per cent of the large weapons were "of Chinese or (Communist) bloc manufacture."

He said that "we sometimes fail to understand the importance" of actions to defeat the Reds in the south. He said the Vietnamese forces are going to be expanded and there will be increased use of both U.S. and South Vietnamese air power to support them.

$622 Million 'Sleeper' Seen in Foreign Aid Bill

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — There is a $622 million "sleeper" in the multi-billion dollar foreign aid bill — and Congress can't do a thing about it.

Not only is this hidden $622 million outlay in addition to the $3.38 billion in new economic and military aid funds President Johnson is seeking, but it can't be cut, modified or changed in any way. It's untouchable by Congress.

And that isn't all!

American taxpayers are committed to pay this $622 million annually for from 20 to 40 years.

Even if this vast foreign aid program is finally abandoned, as increasingly demanded in Congress, American taxpayers will have to continue shelling out for this $622 million "sleeper."

This virtually unknown whopping financial burden consists of the difference in interest rates between what the U.S. is getting on the billions in so-called loans it has made under the gigantic foreign aid program, and what it costs the Treasury to borrow those billions.

Interest cost for the Treasury is 5¾ per cent. Interest rates paid the U.S. on these foreign aid loans range from ¾ of one per cent to 5½ per cent.

The $622 million difference is the minimum. Actually, it's a lot more.

Corridor Through Fog Helps Airliner Flights

By MATT KRAMER

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — A commercial air line says there is a way to get through the winter fogs which tie up many airports.

For this you need a small plane with a hole in it and some ground-up dry ice.

When fog stops the airliners, up goes the small plane. Once over the airport, the pilot begins shoving the dry ice pellets through a hole in the side or bottom of the plane.

United Air Lines says that more than 80 per cent of the time a corridor opens in the fog, big enough to allow liners to land and take off. Sometimes the corridor lasts all day.

Last winter United tried it 74 times at 6 airports and it worked 60 times. Some 5,500 passengers got through, including 2,000 on rival lines.

The procedure has been used at Medford, Ore., for 15 years.

United has used it successfully on a small scale for two winters. The air line thinks it should be extended to at least 12 other airports, including Washington, Detroit and Chicago.

It will not work every place. Los Angeles, for example, probably can expect no fog relief.

Northern airports will benefit because their fog occurs at colder temperatures.

What make it work is the dry ice, which is frozen carbon dioxide. It is 110 degrees below zero Fahrenheit when solidified. United officials say it works best when the fog occurs at temperatures between 24 and 28 degrees. This is called supercooled fog.

This is what they believe happens:

When dry ice pellets are released, they begin to turn to gas. This takes heat from the air. In this intense cooling, moisture begins to collect into ice particles and to descend. They pick up other patricles and eventually turn into a light snow. No fog remains.

Soviets to Send Viets Missiles, McNamara Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara says he assumes Soviet anti-aircraft missiles eventually will be sent to North Viet Nam although they are not known to be there now.

The Pentagon chief spoke to newsmen Tuesday night in Honolulu after two days of conferences on the Viet Nam war. He then headed home.

The defense chief gave a go-ahead for intensified air and sea activity against the North Vietnamese Communists and said the United States intends to give more help to South Viet Nam's anti-guerrilla forces.

Last week reports reached Washington that a Soviet anti-aircraft missile site was being constructed near Hanoi, the North Viet Nam capital. Last Friday, a State Department spokesman said such a site appeared to be in preparation near Hanoi, but other officials said

Grandfather Saves Two But Drowns

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Two sobbing youngsters told Tuesday night how their grandfather saved them and then drowned in a futile effort to rescue a fishing companion.

C. J. Pruitt, 71, and Arving Traugot, 24, both of Austin, drowned after their boat upset in the Colorado River about two miles south of here.

A search began because they failed to return home. It led to the two boys, Jeffrey Pruitt, 10, and his brother Gary, 5, who remained beside the stream.

The boys said they were in the boat with Pruitt and Traugot and it overturned while the fishermen were laying trotlines.

Their grandfather, a strong swimmer, towed both boys to the river bank. He was unable to rescue Traugot and both went down.

Delayed Fuse Atom Bomb Reported Developed

By FRANK CAREY

SANDIA BASE, Albuquerque, N.M. (AP) — The United States has developed nuclear bombs which will, when dropped by low-flying planes, survive impact and explode by delayed fuse.

The time lapse allows the planes time to escape the blast area.

These so-called "lay-down" weapons, designed for hit- and-run attacks, are girded in armor tough enough to smash against rock or concrete without damaging the nuclear explosive.

Testing the hide of these new weapons is an assignment being carried out at heavily guarded laboratories and areas in the foothills of the rolling Sandia Mountains. The site is a key atomic support base of the Atomic Energy Commission and the armed forces.

Technicians use every means to wreck, burn and freeze the non-nuclear hardware that goes into U.S. nuclear bombs, missiles, land mines, artillery shells and other arms.

The world's largest centrifuge spins weapons assemblies at speeds that subject them to forces 45 times the pull of gravity, simulating a missile launch.

Nuclear reactors subject hardware to bursts of radiation.

Other test machinery includes shake tables, giant refrigerators with temperatures 100 degrees below zero, heat chambers with quartz lamps that flash 5,400 degrees heat and a mammoth air gun which shoots weapon assemblies weighing a ton or more against targets.

Dixon Paper Co. Builds $250,000 Facility Here

Dixon Paper Co. officials have announced ground-breaking for a 21,600 square foot warehouse and distribution center.

The new facility, to be erected at an approximate cost of $250,000, will be located near the northern edge of the city on a three-acre tract in the Pikes Peak Industrial Park.

The Dixon Co., headquartered in Denver, a division of the Mead Corp., operates sales branches in seven other cities in the state.

The new building will include air conditioned offices, a 3,300 square foot constant humidity room, 12,000 square feet of regular storage space, an inside loading and unloading area for two railroad cars and four trucks.

The entire building will have a full sprinkling system for fire protection.

D. O. Clark, president of the company, said that the growth of the Pikes Peak Region and increased activities in manufacturing in recent years justified the decision to enlarge and modernize the sales and ware-

Not Everybody Would Perish, Dr. Teller Says

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A nuclear war would not wipe out the human race, Dr. Edward Teller, one of the developers of the hydrogen bomb, told a lecture audience in San Diego.

Teller said Tuesday that a nuclear war would be terrible, "but there is no chance human life will come to an end."

An advocate of civil defense measures, Teller said such a war could bring an end to the United States "if we do not take steps to protect the civilian population."

"If we are to survive, we must find a way to cooperate with the other advanced free democracies. If the disagreements in the Atlantic alliance continue unchecked, then our fate will be sealed," he said.

Talks Slated For Planning Of New Canal

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is naming a special ambassador to handle negotiations on a possible new canal linking the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

He is John N. Irwin II, 51, a native of Keokuk, Iowa, who lives in New York. Irwin is a former assistant secretary of defense for international security affairs.

The President also announced Tuesday he will nominate Charles Wallace Adair Jr., now deputy chief of missions in Buenos Aires, Argentina, as ambassador to Panama. He succeeds Jack Hood Vaughn, who is assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs.

Adair, 51, is a native of Xenia, Ohio, and has been in the Foreign Service since 1940.

Gen. Strother to Represent LBJ In Observance

Gen. Dean C. Strother, commander in chief of the North American Air Defense Command, will be United States representative to observances in Australia and New Zealand of the Battle of the Coral Sea.

He will represent President Johnson at the annual commemoration of the World War II battle.

The Coral Sea battle (May 4-8, 1942) is recognized as a landmark in the history of Australia because the joint American-Australian victory prevented the probable invasion of Northern Australia and marked the beginning of the defeat of Japanese forces.

During the battle, naval vessels of opposing forces never sighted each other. The entire engagement was fought by combat aircraft. Although both sides suffered losses, the allies achieved strategic victory by thwarting the Japanese thrust toward Australia.

Gen. Strother will arrive in Australia May 2 and will visit major cities there and in New Zealand.

He will be a guest of the governments of Australia and New Zealand and of the Australia-American and New Zealand-American Associations. Both

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Red China's renewed threat to send volunteers to Viet Nam appears to be a result of a contest between the two big Communist powers. The contest is bringing about the Communists' own form of escalation of the peril in Southeast Asia.

The Red Chinese have seemed to be trying to force Moscow to become more and more involved in a bellicose quarrel with the United States. Peking now indicates it believes it is on the way to achieving such a goal.

The standing committee of the National People's Congress in Peking announces it has called on Chinese organizations to "make preparations" to send their own people to fight the Americans in Viet Nam.

The question is whether this is a real threat to intervene or a signal to the Communist world that Red China is more willing and more able than the Soviet Union to call the shots in Southeast Asia. The latter seems the case.

Peking — as before — still is "prepared" to send volunteers. It has not said it will send them. Several ifs are attached to the broadside — if "U.S. imperialism continues to escalate" the war; if the Vietnamese ask such help. Peking will be the judge of the first if. As for the second, there are strong doubts that Hanoi is anxious to have a flood of Chinese volunteers.

There is strong evidence that the Moscow-Peking struggle for influence in the Communist and underdeveloped worlds is involved in Peking's threats.

As if accusing the Russians of failing in their duty to the world revolution, the Peking announcement said: "The Chinese people have always been infinitely loyal in fulfilling their proletarian internationalist obligations. They have never spared any sacrifice whatever in this respect. They always mean what they say. Both past and present struggles testify to this."

For the present, the Red Chinese are likely to leave well

State Daylight Saving Time to Start Sunday

DENVER (AP) — One aspect of daylight saving time has Colorado tavern owners unhappy.

Under the terms of the legislative bill, the change takes effect at 1 a.m. Sunday when clocks will be moved up one hour. Since liquor establishments must close at 2 a.m., this means patrons will lose one hour's drinking time.

Whether they will get it back when Colorado returns to standard time is uncertain. The law states daylight time ends at 2 a.m. Sunday, Oct. 31.

The question is: Will bars have to close at 2 a.m., daylight time, before clocks are turned back, or can they turn back their clocks to 1 a.m. and stay open the extra hour?

None of the other states near Colorado — New Mexico, Arizona, Utah, Wyoming, Montana, Nebraska, Kansas and Oklahoma — will switch to daylight time.

The only exception is Los Alamosa County, N.M., birthplace of the atomic bomb, which will go on mountain daylight time.

Five counties in western Kansas are on mountain standard, rather than central standard, time, but have not decided what to do when Colorado pushes its clocks forward Sunday.

Democrats Pay for Use of Helicopters

The Defense Department said this today in response to an inquiry.

Last week the Pentagon said that the national committee had paid more than $[illegible] for the President's use of Air Force planes in the campaign. Nothing was said at the time about any bill to the national committee for helicopters.

The Democratic National Committee originally challenged the size of the Air Force's bill for use of jets and propeller-driven airplanes in the campaign. After a review of the bill, it was paid with a check dated April 1.

WORRY CLINIC

By George W. Crane, M.D.,Ph.D.

Ph. D., M. D.

Case V-470: Lola P., aged 29, is the frustrated wife who has begun to patronize taverns

"Dr. Crane," she added, "if I had a baby and thus were sure I was a normal woman, I'd stay at home.

"But whenever I see another married woman pushing a perambulator down the street, I go to pieces.

"For I feel so inferior and frustrated at the thought I can't have a baby.

"A Chicago doctor told me my womb was tipped and urged that I have a 'suspension' operation to correct the trouble. Is that a bona fide operation?

"And would it enable me to get pregnant and have a baby."

The female womb can be visualized like the young tree which is planted in your city park.

Such a tree is usually kept straight by four bracing wires that run East, West, North and South.

The womb thus has ligaments that likewise hold it to the sides and also front and rear.

If a ligament gets too loose, the womb, shaped like an inverted pear, will droop over on itself.

Sometimes, if the tipping is too great, it may kink, as a garden hose may thus be bent till it completely stops the flow of water.

But millions of women have tipped wombs, yet don't even know it! And they may get pregnant easily!

But before submitting to such major surgery, I quizzed Lola about some of the preliminary a-b-c tests of sterility.

"Did you ever have a Rubin test?" I asked and she shook her head.

This test is easily administered, even in the doctor's office, and checks to make sure the Fallopian tubes are open.

For if they are sealed shut, as from infection, pregnancy will not occur, despite a suspension operation.

Next, I asked Lola if her husband had been checked to see if he were sterile, for in childless couples, the husband is to blame in about 50 per cent of the cases.

He had never been checked.

"So wouldn't it be foolish," I warned Lola, "to submit to a costly major operation, only to find that your husband was sterile?"

Then I asked her about the "Rhythm theory." She knew nothing about it, though she was a Roman Catholic, where such a theory is widely used.

"Then you haven't made an adequate test of pregnancy," I concluded.

So I urged her to use a baking soda douche prior to marital congress for the next six months. If no pregnancy ensued, then take the Rubin test.

If no pregnancy still results, then have the husband's sperm checked.

If he were O.K., as a final resort, try the suspension operation.

But Lola became pregnant within 60 days just by using the "Rhythm theory" plus the soda douche.

So send for my booklet "Facts About Pregnancy," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

Thousands of babies have been born to previously sterile couples by using the medical common sense outlined therein!

South Seas Raft Trip Planned by Adventurers

WATSONVILLE, Calif. (UPI)—A dream of adventure will become reality soon for four young men who are building a raft to sail to the South Seas.

Inspired by the Kon Tiki adventure several years ago, the four are spending their spare time building the vessel they plan to launch next Fall.

It all started when Larry White, 24, a research assistant in oceanography at the U.S. Naval Postgraduate School at Monterey, was discussing the project as a part-time job. The others overheard and they began to translate the words into concrete ideas.

Douglas Otis, 25, a welder from Rio del Mar, is doing the lion's share of the work at this stage of the raft's construction. He is welding five steel tubes which will be stuffed with buoyant styrofoam for the vessel's 20-foot by 32-foot base. On top the four will build a main cabin 10 feet by 12 feet, with a smaller cabin for storage.

The other two adventurers are Chuck Starbird, 19, and Melvin Higley, 12, both of Watsonville and both students at Cabrillo College. A total of $1,600 has been spent in preparation for the journey so far, and they expect to spend another $1,600 before they leave.

The four expect to spend about six months sailing the 7,200 miles from Monterey Bay to the Society Islands. They plan to take the California Current south to Panama, then use sails to get to the Galapagos Islands off Ecuador, and then catch the Humboldt Current to drift southwest.

The adventure has a more serious purpose than just to get away from it all. All four young men are accepting assignments from interested institutions to conduct scientific experiments and observations during the voyage.

"The Humboldt is one of the ocean's richest currents," Higley said. "We shouldn't have any trouble getting fish, and also we'll have plenty of specimens to study and learn more about the sea."

THE NAME'S THE SAME

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham, conducting a crusade here, recalled this comment after a round of golf with top pro Gary Player.

"Gary," Dr. Graham says he told his companion, "the game you play and the one I play ought to be called by two different names."

(Coneinued From Page One)

there was no evidence that any Soviet missiles had reached North Viet Nam.

When the Soviet missile question was put to McNamara in his planeside interview, he replied:

"We have no specific information whether surface-to-air missiles are in North Viet Nam, but we must assume they will eventually be introduced into that country."

Of U.S. assistance to South Viet Nam, McNamara said aid will be increased "above originally planned levels."

"We must seek to overcome the strategic disadvantage the South Vietnamese have versus the Viet Cong in terms of traditional guerrilla-to-guerrilla ratios by adding to the mobility and firepower of these forces."

Specifically he said more helicopter and close air support is required. He would not say whether more American combat troops will be sent to South Viet Nam.

McNamara said the basis for greater use of the American Navy is the use of sea routes by North Viet Nam to infiltrate men and equipment.

U.S. Navy forces will continue to operate outside territorial waters, he said, but "they will note and detect suspicious vessels, will follow them, will report them to the South Vietnamese navy, who will follow them into South Viet Nam territorial waters and inspect them."

He said the United States also will give South Viet Nam more small craft for this purpose.

Norfolk to Launch Azalea Festival

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Norfolk's 12th annual Azalea Festival opens today with the arrival of the festival queen, Luci Baines Johnson, 17, the President's younger daughter.

Luci's arrival at Norfolk Airport heralds four days of festivities which come to a climax Saturday with the arrival of the remainder of the Johnson family and the coronation of Queen Luci. The President is scheduled to place the crown on her head.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Mrs. Humphrey will arrive Thursday, when Humphrey is to speak to a civic club luncheon.

Azaleas around the coronation stage in the Botanical Garden "are coming in rapidly but I didn't want to take a chance," said Bob Matthews, garden superintendent.

So he ordered 19 bottled gas heaters installed near the flowers.

Sheriff's Officer Reports Car Theft

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — Capt. Ernest C. Pintler of the Spokane County sheriff's department was embarrassed by having to report the theft of his own car.

Police arrested Norren D. Schenk, 26, and charged her with the theft. She told officers she had been at a party in Pintler's neighborhood and couldn't find a ride home.

Theft From Cars Reported to Sheriff

Two cases of larceny from motor vehicles were reported to the sheriff's office Tuesday.

D. J. Fisher, 3025 Drakestone Dr. said that four hubcaps worth a total of $40 had been stolen from his car while it was parked outside his home Tuesday.

The second incident was reported by Curtis Govig, 4290 N. Nevada Ave. A $15 tire and a wheel valued at $4 were stolen from the trunk of his automobile. Govig could not be certain where the theft happened and he last saw the tire and wheel March 31.

$622 Million 'Sleeper' Seen in Foreign Aid Bill

this little-known aspect of the program. He cites the following significant facts:

The U.S. is owed at least $13.2 billion. Accurate figures are difficult to dig out because foreign aid operations are so immense, confused and chaotic.

This stupendous total includes only loans made directly by U.S. agencies. It does NOT include loans to foreign countries by such international agencies as the World Bank, Export-Import Bank and the Inter-American Bank — into which the U.S. has poured billions of taxpayers' money.

HOW AND WHY TAXPAYERS ARE STUCK

The $622 million in hidden foreign aid charges — over and above the $3.38 billion in new money the President wants for this program — covers the annual interest cost to the U.S. of two basic types of loans:

$242 million (without figuring the interest on interest on interest) on $5.9 billion in loans repayable in dollars — a mighty big IF, incidentally.

$380 million (also without figuring the interest on interest on interest) on $6.6 billion in loans repayable in the currencies of foreign countries. That is, the U.S. will never get back the $6.6 billion. Even if the interest on these loans is paid — another big IF — the principal is gone forever. These are loans largely in name only.

Of the $5.9 billion in loans repayable in dollars, $3.3 billion are at ¾ of one per cent interest. The Treasury pays 5¼ per cent to borrow that money.

That still isn't all of the story as uncovered by Senator Gruening.

Most of the $3.3 billion loans at ¾ of one per cent interest are for 40 years. Throughout that period, it will cost the Treasury $165.8 million each year to make up the difference between the 5¼ per cent interest it paid for this money and the ¾ of one per cent the foreign borrowers are paying.

That is, assuming these loans are repaid in 40 years U.S. taxpayers will have been nicked for at least another $3.2 billion in hidden interest costs.

In other words, these foreign aid loans will have cost U.S. taxpayers within $100 million of the principal of the loans — $3.3 billion principal, $3.2 billion in hidden interest charges.

This huge hidden interest cost, that American taxpayers will be paying for decades, is graphically summed up in the following breakdown of the so-called foreign aid loans repayable in dollars:

* * *

Int. rate to foreign borrower	Total of such loans	Cost to U.S. Trea. paying 5¼% for this money	Interest differential born by taxpayers U.S.
2%	148,300,000	5,561,250	3¼%
2¼%	1,655,254,646	53,795,776	3¼%
2¾%	3,7000,000	[illegible]	3%
3%	204,321,687	5,618,846	2¾%
3¼%	15,493,871	503,551	2½%
3½%	389,546,795	7,764,802	2¼%
4%	78,034,077	1,359,596	1¾%
4½%	82,499,998	1,031,250	1¼%
5%	36,300,00	272,160	¾%
5¼%	5,455,444	27,277	½%
5½%	44,901,825	112,259	¼%

CUT OUT THE BOODLE

Senators Gruening and Wayne Morse, D-Ore., spearheading the fight in their chamber for drastic revision of the entire foreign aid program, with seek to increase the minimum interest rate on such loans. As a result of their persistent battling the past several years, Congress fixed a 2½ per cent minimum—over strenuous administration opposition.

An especially sore point in this high-priced foreign aid lending has been that, while foreign borrowers can get 40-year loans at as low as ¾ of one per cent, U.S. taxpayer disaster victims have to pay at least 3 per cent interest on loans running no longer than 30 years.

When Gruening protested to foreign aid officials the granting of a $300,000 loan to Tanganyika at ¾ of one per cent for 40 years, he was told that left-leaning neutralist country couldn't pay an additional $15,000 a year in interest.

"They could very easily do that," retorted Gruening, "if you made them cut out some luxuries. Just three Cadillacs less a year for the Tanganyika government would readily take care of the matter. I see utterly no reason why the American taxpayer should be gouged for the benefit of Tanganyika officials."

A $281,000 study by the American Institute of Research, Washington, D.C., on the functions and activities of four top categories of foreign aid officials abroad contains the folowing revealing commentary under the caption "Knowledge of Practical Political Processes":

"Much of the activity which influences mission operations is political in nature. . . More than one incumbent has discovered, to his dismay, that a host government officials was using AID money or equipment, or the prestige or naivete of the incumbent himself, to further his own political ends."

Congressional investigators are digging into a Scandinavian junket made by Minnesota's Governor Karl Rolvaag, who squeaked into office by 91 votes, at a cost to the government of $3,710. He toured Iceland, Denmark, Sweden and Norway, lecturing on such topics as "The Changing Politics of Minnesota."

The probers have uncovered a telegram sent by Philip Coombs, State Department official then in charge of cultural exchange rprograms, to Fisher Howe, charge d'affaires at the U.S. embassy in Oslo, stating, "I hope you will give this matter your personal attention. . . Although the funds for American specialist grants are tight this year, the expenses of Lieutenant Governor Rolvaag's visit can be taken care of without prejudice to your American specialist budget, if necessary."

PROSPECTS

Agriculture Undersecretary Charles Murphy, one of President Truman's White House assistants, and David Phillips, General Services Administration director in Dallas, Tex., are under White House consideration to succeed GSA head Bernard Boutin. Insiders give Phillips the best chance of landing the job because of his Texas ties.

Oxygen Furnished at Grain Elevators

SUPERIOR, Wis. (UPI) — Thanks to a new, lightweight, portable back-pack resuscitator, safety-conscious workers at the Farmers Union Grain Elevator here breathe easier. The resuscitator furnishes oxygen to rescuer and rescued alike.

The equipment is vital on two counts to the 100-man crew that operates the 19-million bushel elevator, believed to be the world's largest port elevator. First, the dusty atmosphere can create an explosion hazard. Second, huge caches of grain, when being withdrawn, can suddenly behave like quicksand, engulfing an unwary worker without warning. The back-pack resuscitator marketed by National Cylinder Gas Division of The Chemetron Corp., is a safeguard against this ever-present danger of a respiratory emergency.

(Coneinued From Page One)

Massachusetts discovered the effect in a glass chamber in 1946.

Would it work outdoors?

A couple of fliers in Medford, Harvey Brandau and Gene Kooser, decided to find out. They used a chemical spray with some success, and as early as 1950 United contracted with them for experiments.

Another Medford flier, George Milligan took over from Brandau and Kooser and developed what now is the accepted way to disperse fog. He used it for years to clear the path for hospital plane flights at Medford.

United would like to see Washington, Chicago, Detroit, Seattle, Wash., Des Moines, Iowa, Columbus and Cleveland, Ohio, Charleston, W.Va., Sacramento, Calif., Vancouver, B.C., Asheville, N.C., and three other Oregon cities — Salem, Eugene and Pendleton — try it.

Other cities, including some in the South, may be included some day. They do not have as much cold fog, but it may be feasible to eliminate what they do have.

$300,000 Bond Issue Approved In Security

Following the two and a half hour vote tally, Dr. Joseph R. Gentile, chairman of the Park and Recreation District's Board of Directors, expressed his gratitude. "On behalf of the Board of Directors we would like to express our extreme gratitude for the support of the community and those individuals who worked so tirelessly and diligently for passage of the Community Center bond issue," he stated.

With 821 votes cast by Security property owners, the final tally read 693 "YES" votes, with 127 abstentions and one spoild ballot which could not be counted. Board members appeared extremely gratified with the turnout, calling it one of the largest in recent years. A similar bond issue was defeated in January, 1962.

Architect Sherwood Ritz, who worked along with Walt Weber in designing the complex, believes construction could start in four months. He believes that is the minimum, however, as he and Weber must now "build the entire project on paper." Ritz said the building task could take eight or nine months to complete, but, weather permitting, the complex will be done by early summer, 1966.

"The immediate plans of the Board are to begin construction if the Community Center at the earliest possible date," related one of its members. During the next three months, plans for the complex will be finalized and bids will be let for construction. Then, board members feel it will require an additional month to award the contract.

The proposed Community Center is slated to cover a little more than 17 acres of land, being purchased for $1,500 per acre. The complex will house a large swimming pool, a public library, a teen center, wading pool and two baseball diamonds, among other recreation facilities spread over the 17 acre tract, both indoors and outdoors.

There will be no additional mill levy by the Park and Recreation District because of the looming $300,000 debt. Security already has a four mill levy paid to the District, the maximum allowed by state law.

Board members, feeling exuberant following the issue's approval, were not surprised by the outcome, althought no one gathered in the tiny District office drew an easy breath during the seemingly long two and a half hour wait while the panel of three judges hand-counted the votes.

Gardner Jackson Died In Washington, D. C.

A Colorado Springs native died in Washington D.C. over the weekend. Funeral services for Gardner Jackson, a former Rocky Mountain News reporter, were held Monday. He died Satuday in a Washington hospital at the age of 68.

Mr. Jackson, a newspaperman and labor union executive in Washington, was the victim of a heart attack, suffered Thursday at this home.

Born in Colorado Springs Sept. 10, 1896, Mr. Jackson was the son of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Jackson. The elder Jackson, an early-day associate of Gen. William J. Palmer, once served as president of the El Paso County Bank.

Gardner Jackson was a 1914 graduate of Cutler Academy and later attended Amherst College. He served with the U. S. Forces during World War I.

Following his stint during the war, Mr. Jackson returned to Colorado to work for a year with Boettcher and Co. in Denver. He then went to the Rocky Mountain News, where he served during 1919 and 1920. In September, 1920, he was married to Miss Dorothy Sachs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Sachs, of Denver.

He later served on the editorial staff of the Boston Globe, before moving to Washington in 1929 to become correspondent for Toronto and Montreal newspapers. President Franklin D. Roosevelt appointed him to the Agricultural Adjustment Administration and he later served on the administrative staffs of John L. Lewis.

Among Mr. Jackson's survivors are his wife and four children. He is also survived by a brother, former Supreme Court Justice William S. Jackson, of Denver; and two sisters, Dr. Edith B. Jackson of Denver, and Miss Helen Jackson, of Colorado Springs.

La Crosse Wins Standoff Against Rampaging Flood

(Coneinued From Page One)

Four were held for observation.

The five-foot high wall is part of a mile-long dike officials hope will prevent major flood damage. The wall buckled under the weight of sandbags piled on top and the pressure of sand dumped against one side.

The rising waters still were some distance from the break, and flood fighters immediately began to plug the hole.

At Marquette, Iowa, the river reached 23 feet Tuesday on the way to a crest of 24.5 feet expected Friday.

Mrs. Delbert Jenkins of Marquette said the tavern operated by her police chief husband had closed. The Riverview tavern normally rings with laughter, but Mrs. Jenkins said, "Nobody's laughing now."

"We're surrounded by water," she said. "All the highways are closed. We still get mail every day when an army 'duck' comes in. But people going in and out have to use a boat."

Marquette is across the river from Prairie du Chien, Wis., where officials were wondering what to do about an elderly man and wife who have refused to leave their home.

The flood waters are only 50 feet away and the crest is still to come.

"I've lived in this house 10 years," said Mrs. Sam Ferris, "and I don't intend to let a little water drive me out."

Illinois Gov. Otto Kerner ordered 45 National Guardsmen from Rock Island to duty Tuesday. They will patrol river levees in the East Dubuque area. They joined 300 other Guardsmen ordered to patrol duty last week in the Henderson County and Quincy area to the south.

About 40 homes in the East Dubuque area were surrounded by 15 feet of flood water. A dike protecting another 108 homes showed signs of seepage Tuesday and sewers were backing up.

It was feared that more than 1,000 persons may have to be evacuated if the seepage continued. The river reached a record crest of 22.6 feet Tuesday and was expected to go to 24 feet.

More than 10,000 volunteers, National Guardsmen and Red Cross workers have been working around the clock in Illinois to bolster flood defenses between Rock Island and Quincy with 650,000 sandbags.

The Weather Bureau revised its flood crest forecast for Quincy, saying the river will hit 23.5 feet on May 1, or six inches below the figure predicted originally.

Helicopters dumped junked cars near Rock Creek north of Quincy in an effort to reinforce weakened levees holding back flood waters that have already swept over 7,000 acres of farmland.

Two trusties at the Illinois State Prison at Menard were foiled in an escape attempt by floodwater Tuesday.

Warden Ross Randolph said debris apparently sheared a pin in the propeller shaft of the motor on their escape boat. They were picked up by a prison patrol boat after drifting to an island about five miles from the prison.

Twenty-five miles upriver from La Crosse at Winona, Minn., the river began to inch back. After hitting a peak of 20.75 feet, it slipped slightly to 20.67 feet.

Winona Mayor Rudy Ellings said, "After the biggest battle in our city's history it now appears our efforts will be successful."

Winona threw up nine miles of earthern dike. Ellings said they "look better today than they ever have."

Wabasha, to the north of Winona, still was surrounded by water but levels were going down slowly.

REED BENSON

Birch Speaker Scheduled Here

The Washington representative of The John Birch Society will speak here at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in East Junior High School auditorium.

Speaking on why he joined the John Birch Society will be Reed Benson, son of former U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson.

Benson's appearance is sponsored by the Colorado Springs chapters of the society.

Benson, 37, was born in Salt Lake City, Utah, where he was graduated from Brigham Young University with a B.S. in political science. He served for three years abroad with the Mormon Church chiefly in England, where he established the first Mormon Church at Oxford, and then directed the activities of more than 20 missionaries in the Newcastle area.

During the Korean War, Benson served as an Air Force chaplain. From 1954 until 1956, he was on the staff of the Republican National Committee and the National Republican Congressional Committee.

In 1962, he was appointed Utah-Southern Idaho coordinator for the society, and was advanced to his present position last October.

Benson calls the society "the most effective non-religious organization devoted to . . . the defeat of the socialist-Communist enemy within."

House Ransacked; Thieves Take Watch

Burglars removed a screen and smashed the window of a house to gain entrance, then stole a watch valued at $85 Tuesday evening, police reported.

Thomas B. Reed, 1531 W. Bijou St., told police he and his wife were away from their house between 6:30 p.m. and 10:30 p.m. Tuesday, and when they returned they discovered the house had been burglarized.

Reed said the burglars ransacked all the drawers in a bedroom, and also several other rooms had been ransacked. He said the only thing they were sure was missing was a yellow gold railroad pocket watch valued at $85.

enough alone. In the first place, they appear to be satisfied that from their point of view the war is producing cruel attrition against South Viet Nam and equally cruel attrition on U.S. nerves and staying power.

It is extremely doubtful that Ho Chi Min, North Viet Nam's leader, wants Chinese volunteers. Repeatedly, North Viet Nam's propaganda has pronounced the willingness of the Vietnamese to hold out 20 years, if necessary, for unification of the country on Hanoi's terms.

It seems hardly coincidental that North Vietnamese propaganda for home consumption has recalled the heroism of the area's people centuries ago in repelling invasion. The cry "Dien Hong," raised to stir patriotism in North Viet Nam, commemorates a victory by the ancient Tran dynasty over Chinese invaders. Historically, the Vienamese distrust the Chinese and fear them.

Ho and his regime, by all appearances, in recent weeks have tried studiously to steer clear of the Moscow-Peking conflict and to refer to Peking and Moscow in equally respectful terms.

Daily, North Vietnamese propaganda says Communist victory in the south is inevitable in any event.

But the Russian voice, denouncing the Americans and promising more help to North Viet Nam, has become louder and more insistent, as if prodded by the contest with the Chinese.

When the Russians stepped up their promises and their denunciations of the United States, the Chinese apparently sought not only to match the Russians but go them one better.

Nevertheless, Peking has been prudent about its own involvement and the prospects of a direct showdown with American power. Volunteers might be "preparing" to go to Viet Nam, but the chances are they will not be sent unless the Chinese see a possibility that the Americans can win.

Billboard-Ban Bill Killed by Colorado Senate

DENVER (UPI)—The bitterly opposed strong bill to ban billboards along the interstate highway system, some freeways, and in scenic areas was narrowly defeated late Tuesday by the Colorado Senate. The vote was 19-16.

The Senate took great pains to kill the strong bill beyond any hope of revival in a series of roll call votes, meaning all hope of tough anti-billboard legislation during the current legislature is dead.

The Senate originally passed a weak billboard bill. The House ripped the bill apart and put teeth back in it. A House-Senate conference committee was named to work out a compromise bill.

The House last Friday voted overwhelmingly to accept the compromise bill, which was close to what the House had passed. The Senate voted to reject the compromise.

The only recourse now in the Democratic-controlled House is to accept the weak bill originally passed by the Republican-controlled Senate. It was doutful the House would do this because the Senate version contained several crippling provisions.

The major crippling amendment added to the bill by the Senate was one to require the state to pay damages to landowners banned from leasing their property for billboards.

The House version would have banned them from all the interstate system, some freeways and scenic areas.

In addition to rejecting the compromise bill, the Senate voted 15-20 against appointing a new conference committee, defeated 12-23 an effort to lay the matter over until Wednesday in a hope of getting two more votes and passed on a standing vote a motion not to agree to change its mind of appointing a new conference committee.

The Senate also voted 19-16 to affirm its action in rejecting the compromise committee report to prevent such action being taken Wednesday with the possibility supporters might win over two more votes.

Sen. Clarence Decker, D-Denver, a strong supporter of the tough bill predicted the issue would be placed on the 1966 general election ballot by petitions filed by irate citizens.

Gov. John A. Love said he will consider placing it on the call in the 1966 legislature, when only matters recommended by the governor can be considered.

"It was time to make a move in this area," Love said. "I am disappointed they did not. Colorado above all states has some need to reasonably protect its beauty."

The billboard controversy touched off more heat that nearly any other matter during the current legislature. Thousands of letters favoring the bill were sent to legislators. Only a few letterwriters and telegarm senders opposed the bill.

Tachometer, Clock Stolen From Car Here

Anita G. Staggs, 2013 W. Cucharras St., told police she left the car in the lot of the church from 7:45 a.m. until 3:10 p.m. Tuesday, and during this time the instruments were stolen.

Police said the thieves either had a key or used something to unlock the car as there were no windows broken. The tachometer and clock were bolted to the steering column of the car, and the burglars removed the bolts and cut the wires of the instruments to carry them away.

Gen. Strother to Represent LBJ In Observance

associations were formed to help foster closer ties between America and the two "down under" nations.

Gen. Strother is no stranger to those countries. In July, 1942, he became chief of combat fighter aircraft for U. S. Army Air Forces in the South Pacific and in January, 1943, was appointed chief of Fighter Command for the 13th "Jungle" Air Force.

From July to December that year he led the Solomon Islands Fighter Command and directed U. S. Army, Navy, Marine and New Zealand fighters which helped turn back the Japanese offensive that threatened Australia. His work there won him the Distinguished Service Medal.

One More Plane Lost in Viet Nam Bombing

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U. S. Navy planes struck through the night at Communist truck convoys in North Viet Nam. One plane was lost. Results of the strikes were not known.

Other U.S. and Vietnamese warplanes flew a number of missions against suspected Viet Cong concentrations inside South Viet Nam. Some of the heaviest strikes were in Quang Tin Province where Vietnamese forces were mauled Sunday and Monday by Viet Cong guerrillas.

Two A4 Skyhawks from the 7th Fleet carrier Hancock prowled Highway 1 north from the north-south border early today. They made passes at two trucks south of Dong Hoi, firing 20mm cannon. The pilots said they were unable to assess the damage, if any.

About an hour later, four more Skyhawks flew the same route and reported sighting more trucks, closer to the border. They strafed the vehicles with rockets and cannon fire and reported seeing a bright flash after one pass, possibly caused by a secondary explosion.

All of these planes returned safely to the Hancock. They reported light, sporadic anti-aircraft fire at several places.

Five A4 Skyhawks from the carrier Midway were the first group of raiders out after dark Tuesday night. Supported by five F4 Phantom jets and F8 Crusaders, the Skyhawks struck at a truck convoy about 120 miles north of the 17th Parallel.

One of the planes was downed and the pilot was listed as missing.

Following the Line

There are any number of organizations that are working hard in an endeavor to get their members to follow the leaders into the promised land of socialism. Three come almost immediately to mind.

Perhaps the most pernicious of these is the ADA, "Americans for Democratic Action." This is an organization of Fabian Socialists of which our Vice President, Hubert Humphrey, is a member and co-founder. The ADA membership is composed chiefly of politicians and their active supporters.

Another organization that seems to be almost constantly on the side of big government in all its socialistic promotions is the League of Women Voters. It follows the new deal, new frontier, great society line rather too consistently to please many of its members.

We have heard many complaints from members of the League, but seldom were they uttered for publication. It is refreshing to find a member (former member) with the courage to speak out in public and enumerate her reasons for resigning from an organization that she feels is promoting things that are, or would be, harmful to our republic. The League of Women Voters is ruled from the top, except in purely local matters. In national affairs, the word comes down and the members are expected to support the stand of the "leaders." The rank and file have little to say on national issues, all they are expected to do is "work for the cause" whatever it may be, whatever form of ism the leaders happen to be promulgating.

The same is true of the PTA, the "Parent Teachers Association." It also is ruled from the top and it very consistently follows the NEA, "National Association of Education," line toward more and more governmental control of the schools.

These three organizations have had tremendous influence and have aided considerably our drift into a socialistic state.

Did He Need It?

Will the government now take advantage of the bulldozing done by the recent tornadoes and build its freeways there? Or will it bulldoze other areas along side of nature's handiwork?

Once a Politician

Wise old Ben Franklin was probably one of the greatest exponents of individualism and personal liberty that ever lived. If he were alive today, he would undoubtedly align himself with the libertarians.

Scientist, philosopher, inventor, statesman, his contributions to posteriety were perhaps as great as those of any other individual in all history. His sayings of Poor Richard have become a part of our language and he is quoted almost as often as Shakespeare or the Bible. He represents the typical American rugged individual, the poor boy who made good in a big way.

And yet, in spite of all his virtues, he left behind him a lesson for practical politicians, an easy lesson that, for its simplicity and effectiveness, could scarcely be equaled.

For Ben was a politician for a good deal of his life. So prosperous and frugal as to be able to retire from private enterprise at the tender age of 39, he devoted the rest of his life to "public service." It was when he was serving as a member of the Pennsylvania Assembly in colonial times that he backed a scheme of a friend, Dr. Thomas Bond, for the building of a hospital in Philadelphia.

Bond was soliciting subscriptions (donations) from the townspeople, but the going was rough and slow. However, we will never know whether or not he would have been successful in obtaining enough money through voluntary donations, for Franklin helped him put it over with the assistance of the taxpayers.

First Franklin's approval and opinion was sought by the doctor and Franklin approved of the project enough to give a substantial contribution himself and encourage his friends to do likewise. He "prepared the minds of the people" by writing pieces for publication, after which, he says in his autobiography, "The subscriptions were more free and generous; but, beginning to flag, I saw they would be insufficient without some assistance from the Assembly."

So he presented it to that legislative group, most of whom dwelt in outlying districts far from Philadelphia and most of whose constituents, travel conditions being what they were, would probably never see the capital city of the colony. The "county members" as Franklin calls them were opposed to his proposition on the grounds that it would benefit only the citizens of Philadelphia and that, therefore, they should be the ones to bear the expense.

Franklin, being now fully dedicated to the proposition, finally persuaded them to promise to double the amount privately subscribed if he could raise two thousand pounds by the voluntary method. Believing he couldn't raise such a sum, they agreed. Using their agreement for a talking point, he was able to increase the private donations and was thus able to put his measure through the Assembly.

And the hospital was built, as a memorial to Franklin and not to Doctor Bond. Who remembers him? It was not officially designated as a memorial to Ben, but it just naturally became one.

And here is how he sums up the affair, a trifle boastfully for him: "A convenient and handsome building was soon erected; the institution has by constant experience been found useful, and flourishes to this day (written many years afterward); and I do not remember any of my political manoeuvres, the success of which gave me more pleasure, or wherein, after thinking of it, I more easily excused myself for having made some use of cunning."

His "cunning" consisted of explaining to the "County" assemblemen how they could gain the reputation of being charitable and compassionate men without it costing them a cent. All they had to do was vote for his measure and the taxpayers would come across with the money. This they did. And this politicians have been doing ever since. It is the very foundation of the "great society."

The above bit of political conniving can only be construed as an irrational inconsistency on the part of Mr. Franklin. A blot on the escutcheon of an otherwise wise and honorable man. Of course old Benjamin didn't "invent" this sort of political maneuvering, it is as old as the "art" of politics. His frankness and honesty in reporting the incident is refreshing, so is his sly admission that he had practiced "cunning." How many politicians today would make such an admission?

Courtesy Is Cheap but Its Dividends Are Big

By RUFUS L. PORTER

The average person who works in public service is courteous, polite, accommodating, helpful, sincere and appreciative of your business. This is usually just as true of store clerks, insurance salesmen, filling station attendants, waiters and waitresses and all other lines of public service as it is of taxi-cab drivers, and vice versa.

But occasionally we run across one who appears to possess all the opposite qualities of those enumerated above. Public service is not the proper place for a boorish, impudent, careless, indifferent, unintelligent, unfriendly, uncultured and impolite individual to try to earn a living. He creates the wrong atmosphere, he does poorly in his work and loses business for his employer.

Sometimes we all have "crabby" spells when our friends or relatives ask us if we "got up on the wrong side of the bed." But most of us shed our crabbiness with the first cup of the morning coffee. And very rarely do any of us carry our grouch to work with us. And it behooves anyone working in public service to perk up and cheer up before the first customer arrives. Customers can be no end irritating and wearing, and that is the chief reason why vacations were first granted to people who have to serve the public. They earned them by staying polite and considerate, cheerful and accommodating in the face of what were often trying situations.

The first requisite necessary to a successful career in the field of public service is a liking of people, not just some people, but people in general of all ages, races, sexes and of every size and shape. If you aren't a natural people liker, you'd do well to take a little training in liking them before accepting a job or starting a business that caters to the public and its wishes. Most employers in public service lines make a point of hiring workers who appear to have pleasant and pleasing personalities.

Occasionally an employer will misjudge and hire the wrong person, but he usually doesn't keep him on the job long. There are exceptions, of course, especially if the employer holds a monopoly in his business in the particular area of his operations. Such a monopoly is generally created by a franchise granted by the city government to bus and taxicab companies, to utility companies such as power and gas, etc. Any company holding such a monopoly grows callous toward their customers after a time and then they are not so strict with their employes as they should be and the buying public, though angered and frustrated many times by the boorishness of a few employes, needs must patronize the company, regardless.

The same is true of the elected and hired "servants of the people" when they operate the utilities, such as power, gas, water and sewer systems, etc., and also in their capacity of "peace officers," or law enforcement officers and fire wardens. They have a growing tendency, seemingly geared to their length of "service" to the public, of becoming arrogant, overbearing and stuffy.

This is noted especially, or particularily, by the people when they have a run in with the law on some minor traffic charge. Common criminals are often treated with more respect than some respected and respectable citizen who has committed the unforgivable offense of overparking on a street that ostensibly "belongs" to him and the rest of the law abiding citizens.

There are one or two businesses in the Springs that have near monopolies, and they are guilty on occasions of keeping employees that take a "the public be damned" attitude. And because they have little or no competition the public has to take it, but they by no means like it.

The city itself has several business monopolies which should have been left in the hands of private enterprise. And, being monopolies, a few of their employees get pretty "snooty" with their "masters," the citizens, on occasion.

However, on the whole, the Springs is really forunate in that there is so little of such behavior, either from the city employees or from the employees of private businesses that have what practically amounts to a monopoly in their particular line. But it does exist to a greater extent among their employes than among the employees of businesses where there is free and open competition. Competition always benefits the customers, and they are the ones we are all working for. Courtesy is cheap but it pays large dividends. And competition is the mother of courtesy.

OPEN LETTER

Mrs. L. T. Kircher,
President,
League of Women Voters,
6 Leslie Dr.,
Colorado Springs, Colorado

Dear Mrs. Kircher:

Please accept my resignation as a member of the League of Women Voters; I wish to terminate my membership and will appreciate having my name removed from the membership and mailing lists.

It is clear to me that the strong collectivistic tendency of the League is completely incompatible wtih my own more conservative, libertarian views on matters of importance to us all. The League promotes the big government concept that centralized authority should do all things for all men while I feel that our national goals can best be obtained by LESS governmental control and interference — not more, as the League apparently feels.

The League serves its members and community a real service and truly justifies its existence when it limits itself to matters of local and state concern. However, it is my contention that the League, because of its non-partisan makeup, does a grave disservice in taking 'stands' on national issues. I have seen that the League does not have behind its 'stands' an adequate or intelligent enough foundation simply because these important matters of national concern cannot be discussed on a non-partisan basis. Also, your stands and actions most often are based on emotion rather than on reason; an example of this is the current petitioning campaign against the Castle Concrete Co. in which the League is taking part.

May I say further that the League has displayed several instances of what can only be called carelessness in the short time I have been a member:

— Carelessness in strongly recommending socialist Michael Harrington's book 'The Other America' without recommending at least one other book with another approach to the problems of poverty;

—Carelessness in permitting someone to pass out at a meeting the pamphlet 'Our Invisible Poor' by Dwight Macdonald to new members and guests who might and properly should be offended at such statements as: 'The federal government is the only purposeful force that can reduce the numbers of the poor and make their lives more bearable.' 'The governmental obligation to provide, out of taxes, such a minimum living standard for all who need it should be taken as much for granted as free public schools have always been in our history. The obvious answer to poverty is to insist that the market shall be free.'

— Carelessness in strongly urging its members to intervene in assuring that the Xerox films on the UN would be shown on television when the California communist party and its newspaper were also strongly urging the same thing at the same time;

— Carelessness in flatly supporting Foreign Aid and asking all League members to write Rep. McVicker as an individual, not in the name of the LWV, in favor of this bureaucratic program which is overrun with paid lobbyists. The facts are that foreign aid has cost each family in the United States nearly $2500 since the end of World War II and the League so far has done nothing to convince these people that they have gotten their money's worth. Could it be that they haven't?

— Carelessness in the recent 'stand' the League has taken for East-West trade. Such a stand can only allow the communist country Russia (and her satellites) to produce more and more war material and assure the continued enslavement of millions of people;

— Carelessness in continuing to blindly support the United Nations, an organization which in all probability has as its goal the creation of an International Society.

A careless organization is a harmful organization and one with which I want no connection.

A NEW APPROACH?

To the Editor?

The more one learns of the situation in Viet Nam, the clearer it becomes that we are doing no good there, but only making a bad situation worse. We are not furthering the cause of democracy and self-determination, for none of the regimes that we have supported or engineered into power has had any real popular support from the people of South Viet Nam. Nor have the general elections called for by the 1954 Geneva agreement ever been held, the general consensus being that had they been, the Viet Cong would have won 70 per cent to 80 per cent of the votes. Whether we like it or not, it would seem that they are more popular in South Viet Nam than we are. The fact that after 10 years and $4,000,000,000 worth of effort we have been unable to oust the Viet Cong would seem to indicate that they have the active support and collaboration of the general populace in South Viet Nam. In fact, the only areas that we can claim to have "pacified" and have under our control are a few heavily fortified and constantly guarded stockades, which are virtually protective custody concentration camps.

As long as we continue on there in our present capacity, we are severely discrediting the principles of democracy, for we are being identified with graft, corruption, political meddling and wholesale murder and destruction. And the longer we stay there, the better we make the Viet Cong look by comparison. Instead of helping the Vietnamese and promoting their welfare, we bomb and burn and gas them and destroy their crops and villages. Is this the way to win their allegiance away from the Communists? And having failed so miserably in South Viet Nam, what can we hope to gain by enlarging the war into North Viet Nam, with the ever increasing possibility of getting China and Russia involved in a major way? Wouldn't it make better sense to work instead for neutralization and demilitarization, preferably under some neutral international authority such as the United Nations?

Napalm and gas don't win friends for democracy — let's try another approach.

GOD FRIDAY?

To the Editor:

United Press International Writer Louis Cassels, wrote about the Holy Week (Observances. "On Friday He (Jesus Christ) was executed by crucifixion. Christians call it "Good Friday," et cetera. It is not true, for not only Englishmen are Christians. Frenchmen call it "Vendredi Saint," Germans — "Karfreitag," Russians — "Strastnaya Piatniza," Latvians — "Liela Piektdiena." In no language it means "good." What is good if somebody is killed, who was not a big transgressor? Accordingly the encyclopedia Funk & Wagnalls, the name Good Friday is generally believed to be a corruption of the older "God's Friday."

Who Benefits From Subsidies?

By HARRY BROWNE

Many sincere, but certainly misguided people are trying to ward off the inevitable "Medicare" bill by promoting an alternative known as "Eldercare."

Since both entrench the federal bureaucrats deeper into the medical profession, it's hard to figure why a "free enterpriser" would promote either one. But the proponents of "Eldercare" are naturally taking their case to the "Senior Citizens" —hoping to impress them with the idea that "Eldercare" will benefit them more than "Medicare."

This, alone, is contradictory—but an even more important element is overlooked.

NOBODY WINS

The more I examine the present-day facts, the more I am convinced that not even the so-called "beneficiaries" of political projects benefit. We all know that the taxpayer loses — his money is coercively taken from him. But not even the receiver of the stolen property gains.

The March, 1965 issue of Public Service Magazine contains two examples of this. In one article, the "inmate" of a politically-financed "Senior Citizen" housing project says: "We vote in the cities — and we have considerable say in the city government outside our walls; but inside the walls, the FHA tells us, we have no control over our destinies, that Big Brother supersedes all."

Another article reveals that the Southern California Edison Company is purchasing a small electric REA co-op near Los Angeles. The lucky "owner-customers" of the REA co-op have had the "benefit" of subsidized federal loans in order to provide "low-cost" electricity. But the Edison Company's operational take over means that electric bills will be cut by 50 per cent! So the "beneficiaries" of the political subsidy were only required to pay double for their electricity as long as it was a politically-aided co-op.

There are many more examples to back up the realization that subsidy-recipients do not gain. Farmers are thrown in jail, or fined, for planting wheat to feed their own stock. The Amish farmers find their horses stolen by the bureaucrats because they refuse to accept the benefits of Social Security.

TVA was touted as a great boon to the Tennessee Valley in the thirties. To control floods, the federal authorites began by creating the largest man-made flood known in history — permanently submerging thousands of acres of lush farmland. Today, over half of the counties in the TVA region are labeled "depressed areas" by the Department of Labor.

POLITICAL CONTROL

Southern politicians who reveled in federal aid now find that they must sign "compliance" agreements, giving up their own control to another political authority. Urban Renewal beneficiaries are booted out of happy homes and relocated in strange, uninviting new slum areas.

So, Senior Citizens, what will it be. Do you choose to "benefit" from Eldercare or Medicare — as so many others have "benefitted" before you? Or do you prefer to take your chances in the "dark, forbidding" area of private enterprise — where every businessman is required to please you in order to make his own profit?

On Poverty and Prosperity

From The Paintsville, Kentucky, Herald

This week we came across two more articles on the fascinating topic of Appalachia. One, in the form of an editorial, was sent in to us by an unknown subscriber in Ohio. We requested and received permission to reprint it in the Herald, and it appears on this page. Agree with it or not, it is a different, thoughtful and thought-provoking commentary, which we believe Herald readers will be interested in reviewing.

The second article was by a writer for one of the major news wire services. Once again the focus was on Eastern Kentucky. Once again it was illustrated with bleakest of aspects . . . a battered shack, its front yard littered, two small children gazing soberly into the eye of the writer's camera . . . a high-school drop-out trudging dejectedly down a muddy, unpaved road.

After a few opening paragarphs, the story said, and we quote:

"There are pockets of prosperity in this land of poverty. Businessmen in Hazard, Pikeville, Paintsville and Prestonburg are doing well."

"One may also find subdivisions of modern brick homes. The residents are state and federal employees, doctors, lawyers, merchants and bankers. A few coal mine operators and businessmen still live in older structures costing as much as $75,000."

Is this how we measure prosperity . . . by brick homes? Is this how we do away with all that is good about Eastern Kentucky . . . summing it up as a few "pockets of prosperity," blessed with subdivisions occupied only by lawyers, doctors, merchants and bankers?

What about all the small communities in Johnson County, for example . . . Thelma, River, Williamsport and all the others . . . what about all the neat country homes and the old farmhouses? Surely they aren't all occupied by lawyers, merchants and doctors.

And how in Heaven's name is the dismal, dreary story of Eastern Kentucky, written over and over again, going to help? Surely it will do little to attract industry and employment, payrolls and prosperity. If anything, it will do just the reverse.

Always it is the unpaved road, the house on the hillside, the dejected unemployed. Well, there are paved streets in cities all across our country which are far worse . . . cluttered, filthy, peopled with unemployed adults and solemn-eyed, hungry children. And what is so endlessly dramatic about houses on hillsides, when the countryside is almost nothing but hills?

Want another quote:

"Thousands of children here never finish high school. A comparative few enter college, and most never finish."

That does away nicely with the Senior classes at Paintsville High, at Meade Memorial, at Oil Springs, at Flat Gap, we suppose. That's why Johnson County just recently decided it was worthwhile to build a new consolidated high school, to have a student body of about 1,000 or more. That's why Prestonsburg has a new community college. That's why Morehead and Eastern are adding new buildings as fast as they can be built.

To be sure, this particular story was datelined Hazard, and its illustrations came from that area. But its theme was Eastern Kentucky . . . and Eastern Kentucky, most certainly, includes our area too. Well, we do have food stamps. We do have a busy department of public assistance. We do have unemployed. We do have muddy ruts and we do have tired houses on hillsides.

But we also have paved roads. We have neatly painted houses, with attractive yards and flowers. We have small farms and large farms. We have good schools, and we're getting more. We have youngsters earning outstanding recognition at college.

"To be fair," the article says, "eastern Kentucky is not all poverty. There are many who are happy here. They are not rich — most of them — by the standards of modern society, but they are reasonably well-fed, clothed and housed. But even many of them have little hope for the future."

That's some sort of a backhand concession, we suppose. At least three is no suggestion that Eastern Kentucky be made into a test range for nuclear weapons.

Well we're not convinced that Eastern Kentucky is a place where "despair has become a way of life," to quote once again. And we're a little tired of these gloomy stories which, if nothing else, drive the morale of many troubled Eastern Kentuckians even lower.

We suggest that if this has to be the theme of Appalachia, some other area might be in line for treatment. Even more vigorously, we suggest that at least one or two stories could be devoted to a favorable view of Eastern Kentucky.

That would be a welcome change . . and one which might help overcome problems which we know exist, instead of just parading them endlessly before us.

Bigger Package—Same Weight

By AMBROSE HILLS

I have often praised today's food processors for their good work; but right now I am sore at them. I tried to put the breakfast cereal away this morning, and the cornflakes wouldn't fit our generous-sized cupboards. On the package was the notice, "LARGER PACKAGE — Same Weight."

While I congratulate them on their honesty in adding — even in small letters — the information that the weight had not changed, I wonder why the larger package in the first place? Perhaps to gain a competitive advantage? No doubt the competitor will come out with a still bigger package, and the first thing we know the supermarkets will be plugged with cartons half filled with air. It is a losing game for the manufacturers, no matter what package experts tell them. Worse still, it makes consumers disgusted with an industry that has done so much to win respect.

Another thing that is doing harm to our competitive system is the discontinuance of established lines of paint, bathroom and kitchen tile, wallpaper and the like. Bathroom plastic tile used to be four inches by four inches. Just try to find a match today. They've all switched to 4¼ by 4¼ inches. Or try to get paint to touch up a room. You'll most likely find that mocca brown is now mushroom brown or some such thing. I like variety as well as the next fellow, but there should be some lines one could buy and be assured they would remain in stock.

It is true that paint companies have improved their products tremendously, and the new tile is bright and better. The image of these companies, however, is tarnished when they follow the advice of marketing experts and try to make the old established colors and sizes obsolete. Sales may increase for a time, but they make enemies for the competitive system which has provided so many improvements.

One does not expect manufacturers to be more angelic than consumers; but surely they should have the good sense to see beyond the end of their noses. When competition leads to such nonsense as bigger packages for the same quantity of a product, then the principle of competition suffers. The principle is sound; the abuses are deplorable.

Use Caution With Softeners

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UPI) — Use a fabric softener only on laundry articles that really need the treatment, says Helen E. Bell, extension home management specialist at Pennsylvania State University.

Fabrics with nap, such as towels, diapers, chenille bedspreads, wool sweaters, and corduroy which tend to get stiff and harsh, benefit from the addition of a softener. Add softener to the last deep rinse so that it does not blend with detergent or any other laundry product.

A well delivered performance in both bidding and play led to a tidy profit for North and South in today's deal.

The south hand is worth 25 points, including high cards and distribution, and though he is perhaps a mite shy of the requirements for a demand bid—inasmuch as he does not have a five-card suit — his holding contains too much high card strength to risk a mere one bid which may easily be passed out.

North raised South's two spade bid to three in order to fix the trump suit first. When South showed a second suit by bidding four diamonds, North cue bid the ace of hearts—implying an interest in slam. Observe that, if he was content to settle for a mere game, he would have returned to four spades.

South was obliged to sign off since he had already told his full story. However, when North made another try by overbidding the game, South reconsidered and proceeded to slam. His points were all gilt-edged and the hands appeared to fit well.

West opened the six of spades which was taken by declarer's ten. A heart was led and West put up the jack which was permitted to hold the trick. He exited with another spade and South led to the ace of hearts and then ruffed a heart. The queen of diamonds put North back in to trump the remaining heart with the ace of spades.

A diamond was ruffed in dummy and the jack of spades pulled the last trump as South discarded the jack of clubs. Declarer's ace-king of diamonds and ace-king of clubs took the balance of the tricks.

Dope Protection Racket Bared In Miami, Fla.

MIAMI, Fla., (AP) — The chief federal narcotics agent in Miami and two of the city's police vice squad officers have been charged with accepting a bribe from a dope peddler who complained he was paying $2,000 a month in protection money.

The arrests were made Tuesday by city police and a team of Federal Narcotics Bureau agents at the home of an admitted narcotics operator after the trio was said to have accepted $130 in marked money.

The three were charged with accepting a bribe, a felony under Florida law, and released on their personal bond. They are Eugene J. Marshall, 39, head of the U.S. Narcotics Bureau for southeastern Florida, police Sgt. Frank Fountain, 39, second in command of the city's vice squad, and his assistant, Roosevelt Tremble, 34, a Negro plainclothes detective.

Police Chief Walter Headley said the arrests climaxed a week of investigation. It started when the dope peddler complained to police about the protection money he said he was forced to pay.

Headley quoted the informer as saying he wanted "to quit, but they wouldn't let me."

The police chief declined to disclose the informer's name or details of the investigation, saying they would come out in court.

A source close to the investigation said the informer was a known dope peddler — doing around a $10,000 per month business mainly in the Cuban and Negro districts of Miami — and had an extensive police record.

The source said the informer went to the police department's internal security squad last Tuesday and told his story.

The subsequent investigation led to the arrests at the informer's home by federal narcotics agents and police officers unknown to the trio.

Marshall, a career officer in the Federal Narcotics Bureau came to Miami in 1958 when it was a one-man office. When Fidel Castro took over Cuba and refugees started pouring into Miami, the office was expanded and Marshall was put in charge.

Marshall had an outstanding record as an officer, a Narcotics Bureau spokesman said in Washington. His previous assignments included New York and Philadelphia.

Fountain joined the Miami police department in 1947 and became a sergeant nine years ago. He has been repeatedly commended for good police work, Headley said, and virtually ran the narcotics detail.

Grain Market

CHICAGO (AP) — Grain futures prices ranged from firm to weak today in a moderately active but unsettled trade.

After holding about steady to firm most of the time, wheat came under selling pressure in the early afternoon and losses ran to major fractions of a cent a bushel.

Old crop soybeans posted advances of about two cents at times but they, too, met increased selling at those levels and were twice driven back.

Estimated carlot receipts were wheat none, corn 112, oats 12, rye none, barley 22 and soybeans none.

The Gulf Stream, whose velocity sometimes exceeds four knots, has a rate of flow about 1,000 times that of the Mississippi River.

LONG TITLE ABOUT TV

NEW YORK (AP) — A musical about the frenetic aspects of the TV business is planned for next season by Broadway producer Arthur Cantor.

The show is to be based upon the Merle Miller-Evan Rhodes novel, "Only You, Dick Daring! or How to Write One Television Script and Make $50,000,000." Cantor hasn't decided yet on how to abbreviate that title for a theater marquee.

How to Budget Earnings Becomes Family Problem

By SAM CAMPBELL

The problem with a family budget is that if you know what it ought to be you don't need it. In other words, where do you start when you finally do sit down to see whether you can figure a way out of the expenses just ahead?

One answer to that question came this week from the Bureau of Labor Statics. The BLS statistics show that family expenditures in the $5,000-to-$6,000 after-tax income bracket breaks down something like this:

Food 25 per cent; housing, 16.7 per cent; household operations (utilities, cleaning, landscaping), 9 per cent; house furnishings, 4.8 per cent; clothing, 9.3 per-cent; transportation 14.2 per cent; medical and dental, 6.8 per cent; personal care (soap, cosmetics, hair cuts), 2.9 per cent; recreation, 4.1 per cent; education and reading 2 per cent; miscellaneous (tobacco, beverages, pets, gifts) 5.2 per-cent.

Some of those figures might seem a little out of line unless you apply them carefully. For instance, the housing percentage appears to come up to only about one-sixth of your monthly pay. Most of us, it would appear make somewhat higher monthly payments than that.

However, these percentages are supposed to apply to after-tax income. So to compute whether your monthly housing payments are too much for you, first subtract one-twelfth of your annual property tax from your monthly take-home pay. On a $20,000 house your property tax comes to about $35 a month. So if you are making house payments of $140, you really are paying only about $105. That $105 should equal about one-sixth of your take-home. The rest is taxes.

That's why we talk about bond issues so much in this space. Every time a bond is voted, the amount you have to pay to occupy housing also goes up. It's an automatic process; when you approve a bond issue, you raise your total housing payments.

And you can't escape by renting. For the cost of taxes, like the cost of paint and repairs, is passed onto the tenant. The owner either must do this or go broke. Most of them prefer not to go broke. So the tenant pays just as the owner-occupant pays.

Sobering thought, isn't it?

Now if it were just a one-shot deal, it might be practically feasible to go for municipal bonds. Or even if it were a two-shot, three-shot or four-shot matter. But there is no ceiling! Bond votes are coming along two and three times a year. City Hall, school districts, flood control, water, sewerage, civic center — everybody wants more money.

All these things SOUND good. Some of them sound necessary. But so is a roof over your head both good and necessary. And in the final analysis, invariably and without exception, it will be found that the particular service for which bonds are offered can be financed by means other than taxation.

Proof of this is seen in such enterprises as your electric company, your telephone company, and your gas company. They offer services, too, but they don't cost you a dime in taxation. Sewerage, flood control, roads, water, fire prevention, schools can be handled in the same way. To do so would lower your mandatory house payment by as much as $35 a month.

Studebaker Co. Profits Up 74 Per Cent

Byers A. Burlingame, president of Studebaker Corporation, today announced first quarter operating profits were up 74 per cent over the same period a year ago.

Operating income for the first quarter of 1965 was $2,013,363, equal to 14 cents a share on sales of $49,072,936. In addition, the corporation had a non-recurring profit of $3,027,326 in February, resulting in total net income for the quarter of $5,040,689, equal to 35 cents a share.

These results compare with operating net income for the same period in 1964 of $1,156,180, equal to eight cents a share on sales of $67,322,765.

"These improved earnings demonstrate that the programs which have been instituted to strengthen the profit position of the corporation's divisions are beginning to produce results," Burlingame said.

Contaminated Food Cited As Source of Infection

Salmonellosis, a sometimes fatal infection usually spread by contaminated food, is increasing steadily in the United States, Dr. Richard N. Collins, U. S. Public Health Service physician, said here today.

Investigation officer with the epidemiology branch of the Communicable Disease Center, Atlanta, Ga., Dr. Collins said the infection has been on the increase in the U.S. for the past 22 years.

A featured speaker at the 28th annual meeting of the Colorado Public Health Association in the Broadmoor Hotel, Dr. Collins said that human cases of salmonellosis reported annually increased from 504 in 1942 to 15,390 in 1963.

"While some of this increase may be attributed to increased awareness of the presence of the disease, it has become a serious public health problem as an indirect result of rapid technical advances in food processing and food distribution," Dr. Collins said in a prepared statement.

Current methods of control have not kept up with these technical advances that have made increased spread of the disease possible, he said.

The salmonella organisms usually inhabit the intestine, where they may produce serious infections, sometimes resulting in serious illness or death, Dr. Collins said.

The most serious illness occurs among the newborn and among persons weakened by other illness or old age, he remarked.

"While outbreaks of salmonellosis attract the most attention and publicity, there remains a more or less steadily increasing rate of infection among the general population," Dr. Collins said today.

General outbreaks involving large numbers of people exposed to the same contaminated food source are becoming increasingly important, he continued, and these outbreaks probably result from modern marketing practices which allow for the widespread distribution of common foods.

"It is very difficult to recognize and control such outbreaks," Dr. Collins said.

The major sources and "reservoirs" of human salmonellae are in domestic livestock and the organisms are transmitted to man either directly from animals or through contaminated products of animal origin, the Public Health Service physician said, adding that domestic poultry probably is the largest single reservoir, but hogs and cattle also are major problems.

"Widely distributed animal feeds are known frequently to be heavily contaminated with salmonellae and provide an excellent means for the extensive spread of infection apparent in domestic animals and fowl," Dr. Collins said.

The physician urged prompt diagnosis and adequate reporting of cases of salmonellosis to help control the disease. A program of salmonella surveillance was established in 1962 by the Communicable Disease Center, the Association of State and Territorial Epidemiologists and the Association of State and Territorial Laboratory Directors.

Dr. Collins said reports are received weekly from all states, the Salmonella Reference Center at Beth Israel Hospital in New York City and the National Animal Disease Laboratory in Ames, Iowa.

"While reports received at the center are useful in noting epidemic trends, our present knowledge of the occurence and distribution of salmonella is "woefully incomplete' and the reported cases in man, animals, food and the enviroment represent only a small fragment of the actual occurence," Dr. Collins said.

Man Fined $300; Loses Right to Drive in City

William Sigler, 34, 1003 S. Nevada Ave., was fined $300 and suspended from driving in the city for 90 days Tuesday by Municipal Court Judge Allan Asher on a guilty finding of reckless driving.

Patrolman Arthur Dalton testified that about 5:55 p.m. April 3, Sigler, northbound on Cascade Avenue, drove across the center island, jumped a curb, struck a tree and clothes line pole in the 600 block, backed up, and struck a car properly parked, headed south on Cascade Avenue.

Dalton said Sigler told him a child darted out in front of him and in trying to dodge the child, he lost control of his car. Dalton also said Sigler was given a blood alcohol test which registered 1.4, which is a shade under the count required to charge a person with driving under the influence.

Robert Miller of Manitou Springs testified he was standing near the bus barns in the block and observed the accident. Miller said he did not see a child.

Sigler's only defense was that a child was there.

"I don't believe there was a child," Judge Allan Asher told the defendant, "but if there had been, I don't believe you could have been able to see one."

Man Booked On Assault Charge

Thomas Ellington, owner of the Beefeaters, 1422 S. Tejon St. was booked into county jail Tuesday after a complaint alleging assault and battery was signed against him, the sheriff's office reported.

According to Deputy Sheriff Ray Carey, John Bernheim, 2001 Mid Rd. was in the Beefeaters with a group of friends early Saturday morning. At approximately 2 a.m. the bartender approached him and started to grab his drink saying it was closing time.

Bernheim said he would like to finish it but the bartender said he had his finger in it so Bernheim could not drink it. At this point one of Bernheim's companions said he had heard a man had been beaten up in the Beefeaters the previous week, and the bartender replied that if they did not like the way the place was run they could all leave.

Ellington then approached and told Bernehim to get out, and according to Deputy Carey as Bernheim stood up Ellington hit him and knocked him back into the chair.

Bernheim then attempted to leave the second time and on this occasion Ellington hit him once more knocking him against the fireplace.

Bernheim and his friends then left. The people with him said that at no time was anyting out of the way said to Ellington, and Bernheim told the officer that Ellington had no cause to strike him and knew of no reason why he should have been attacked.

Grass Fire in Black Forest Burns 40 Acres Tuesday

A grass fire, which at one time threatened to move to the tree tops, burned over 40 acres in the Black Forest Tuesday before it was brought under control.

The fire was believed to have started when hot ashes were inadvertently tossed into a trash dump about noon on the Baptist Assembly property. The fire, whipped by high winds, spread rapidly and could possibly have spread throughout the forest.

"There's the man you want to talk to. He saved the day for us," Deputy Sheriff Bob Stone said. He pointed to Bob McCollom, a developer who was working on his property adjacent to the burned - out area.

McCollom, using a large road grader, plowed a fire lane around the perimeter of the blaze halting its spread on the ground.

"I tell you it was really going," McCollom said. "It was jumping up into the trees and then the wind died down. Man, it died down just at the right time."

McCollom said it took him more than two hours to circle the blazing area. At times, he said he was forced to push tall trees out of his way and then uproot them in order to cut the fire lane.

"There was so much smoke, I had a hard time finding the fire," the developer said. "There were a couple of times when I didn't know where I was going. I mean I didn't know if I was going north, east, south or west."

Approximately 150 men fought the blaze during the five hours it took to bring it under control. Included among the firefighters were about 30 ministers from throughout Colorado who were attending a retreat at the Baptist Assembly a mile or two away.

The ministers, many of them past middle age, cautioned each other not to exert themselves as they moved through the smoldering forest armed with shovels and water tanks smothering hot spots.

Stone said high winds fanned the flames initially but they died down suddenly.

Two dirt roads led to the main area of the fire, but some persons had difficulty finding it. The smoke could be seen for several miles away.

Stone said the blaze apparently started when a caretaker inadvertently dumped refuse containing hot ashes into the trash heap.

The fire was first spotted by Deputy Sheriff Lee Quein who called his office. In a short time five units from the Black Forest County, Air Force Academy and Monument fire departments arrived on the scene. Three members of the sheriff's office were on hand as were volunteers from the area.

Rex Hays, an official of the corporation said the power is used for loading shells and is extremely sensitive to static-electricity and cannot be disturbed too much without exploding. The powder was stored in the barrel well away from the buildings in case of sudden explotion. The missing potassium nitrate is worth $75.

A youth approximately 16 years old was picked up following the incident and told police two others youths he was with had taken the billfold. He said they had distributed the money between themselves and four other youths, and had thrown the billfold away at San Miguel Street and Bates Street. Half of Public Health Personnel Are Inadequately Trained, Speaker Says

Half of the personnel in public health work are inadequately trained, a noted physician said Tuesday during a luncheon in the Broadmoor Hotel.

Dr. John D. Porterfield, keynote speaker of the 28th annual meeting of the Colorado Public Health Association, said there is a personnel shortage in the public health field and there will be no "glittering" changes in the future.

A former deputy surgeon general and now coordinator of Medical and Health Sciences at the University of California, Dr. Porterfield urged training of present personnel "to the highest level of efficiency."

He asked that public health workers "take stock" of themselves "to learn your own roles more fully" in the public health team.

Education, prevention, therapy and rehabilitation should be practiced, Dr. Porterfield said, to meet the needs of public health.

Dr. Porterfield, holder of the Distinguished Service Medal of the United States Public Health Service and honorary fellow of the Royal Society of Health in Great Britian, said there has been talk of increasing schools of public health. But this is a long way off, he said, and urged more extensive in-service training by local public health agencies.

Dimensions which should be considered by public health are new ways of meeting problems, the recognition given to new professions and new problems which assume importance, Dr. Porterfield said.

"Public health is not a profession. It's an area of utilization," he said. "We must be knowledgeable in our long standing."

Dr. Porterfield, who spoke on "New Tunes for New Times in Public Health," said public health agencies should relate resources of their communities for the community's health and not waste time over jurisdictional boundaries.

"I think the situation is serious enough and important enough not to waste our time with jurisdictional boundaries," he said, adding that "artificial boundaries hurt both sides."

Future medical centers, he said, will be "a mighty resource" for public health work by bringing together sources of health in a community.

Dr. Porterfield said the "saving hope" for the "orchestration" of public health is the National Commission on Community Health Services.

The psysician is consultant to the Medical Services of the American Medical Association, past president of the American College of Preventive Medicine and is past president of the Middle States Public Health Association.

Dr. Porterfield has worked in the public health field since he was graduated from the University of Chicago more than 25 years ago.

Doctor Says State Public Health Lacks Lobby Force for Programs

Dr. Samuel Johnson, division director of the Denver Department of Health and Hospitals, said Tuesday that a major deficiency in Colorado's public health program is the lack of a lobbying force.

Speaker during an afternoon session of the 28th annual meeting of the Colorado Public Health Association here, Dr. Johnson said public health in Colorado is not organized into a "viable, effective organization which can exert some muscle for good public health programs."

In his prepared address, Dr. Johnson said there is a reluctance on the part of public health agencies to take any public stand on issues which are actively opposed by the medical societies of the state.

"Undoubtedly the most effective way to carry our ideas to the people, whether they be the general public, legislators or the medical societies, is through a strong, concerned and effective Colorado Public Health Association.

"Past history indicates that our organization is not such a group. I think we'll have to admit it has been a social organization concerned primarily with an annual meeting," he said.

Dr. Johnson, formerly director of the Disease Control Service, Denver Health Department, said the time has come for public health workers "to stop being comfortable" by providing traditional public health programs that are readily accepted.

"They cause no controversy but they may not be the programs we should be doing," he said.

Dr. Johnson said the CPHA should make a concerted effort to encourage practicing physicians to cooperate with the public health programs. He said programming must be a cooperative effort.

"Public health ordinarily is the farthest thing from the physician's mind as he goes about his daily practice. His exposure to the subject in medical school was most likely inadequate and probably dull.

"I'm convinced he in no way feels responsible for disease control in the community. Yet it is upon his reporting that we rely to initiate control efforts," Dr. Johnson said.

He urged the initiation of programs by the CPHA to provide education for cooperation with medical societies "to impress upon the physician his importance and his responsibilities for community health."

Dr. Johnson said leadership by the CPHA has not been as it should be and the development of new planning to meet the public need is a necessity.

City to Increase Speed Limit on Constitution

The speed limit on Constitution Avenue between Paseo Road and Devon Street will be increased Friday.

The speed limit will be raised from 30 to 40 miles per hour for eastbound vehicles starting at Paseo Road and ending at Devon Street on Constitution.

For westbound vehicles the higher speed limit starting Friday will begin at Devon Street and terminate at Yorktown. This will exclude the school zones of Stratton and Madison from the 40 MPH zone.

Signs new to Colorado Springs will be used to terminate the 40 MPH speed. These will be black on white, reflectorized, 30 by 24 inches in size and read "End 40 MPH—Begin 30 MPH."

The traffic engineering department carefully studied the area before deciding the increase the speed limit. Constitution carries mostly passenger vehicles to and from the rapidly expanding northeastern residential section.

Constitution is generally 55 feet wide from curb to curb and vehicular parking is prohibited on the south side in this area. It permits four lanes of moving traffic and three cross streets are all controlled.

'Mystique' of Bogart Is Spreading

By SEYMOUR M. HERSH

CHICAGO (AP) — The "Bogey mystique" is spreading.

The mystique, a combination of hysteria and adulation brought on by the old Hollywood films of the late Humphrey Bogart, has long been a substitute for spring fever in the Ivy League.

The fad is now a fixture at the University of Chicago, where tastes often run to Aristotle.

Hundreds of students crammed into a social science lecture hall Tuesday night to cheer, whistle and moan as Bogart clenched his teeth or lit a cigarette in the 1947 movie, "Dark Passage," also starring Lauren Bacall and Agnes Moorehead.

The movie was sponsored by Doc Films, a campus group.

Rick Thompson, 20, director of the group, explains the new Chicago fad this way:

"He represents the little guy, the guy versus the institution — the man who doesn't knuckle under to police or society or whatever organized force he's up against.

"So many students here anyway are neurotic. They're crazy about the forces they can't control."

"He's all blood and guts," sighed Sandra Sciacchitano, 24, a graduate student in political science. "But he kids the parts he plays and therefore you can laugh at him."

"I think there's a tendency to read too much into the movies," she added.

Bernard Munk, 26, who teaches economics at the University of Illinois, thinks Bogart "is so enormously cool."

"It's this kind of wry honesty that wins out," Munk said. "It's the only way a guy can win out these days."

Group Seeks to Elect Dead Man as Mayor

EDWARDSVILLE, Ill. (AP) — A group of persons dissatisfied with the administration of Mayor Raymond O. Rogers is trying to elect a dead man as mayor.

William C. Straube, listed as a mayoral candidate in today's city election, died of a heart attack April 9.

A spokesman for the Straube campaign group said many persons "feel Edwardsville needs a change."

Alderman Michael Rains, 42, is also on the ballot with Rogers and Straube.

If Straube were to be elected, a special election would have to be held within six months. Rogers would continue as mayor until after the special election.

"All of it seems to me a very foolish thing," said Mayor Rogers.

In our mail recently was a letter from a girl in high school complaining that her mother refused to permit her to shave her legs. She was so miserable and self - conscious about her unshaven legs that it prompted us to seek two professional opinions on the subject.

When we asked our dermatologist if there were harmful effects from shaving the legs, he replied "Ridiculous! Irritation can be caused by too frequent shaving or too close shaving, but there's no harm otherwise. It's like mowing the lawn. You're simply cutting the top of the hair!"

He also disclaimed the popular belief that shaving would cause a thicker, coarser growth of hair. But he did point out that shaving stimulates hair growth and that once shaving is started, it would need to be continued if the girl wanted her legs to be smooth and clean.

He advised against the continued use of chemical depilatories which dissolve the hair, and the waxes and pastes which pull out the hair. These methods are too painful and irritating, he pointed out.

According to this dermatologist, the easiest and safest way to denude the legs is with an electric razor, which is probably the least irritating method, daily shaving might cause skin irritation. So he suggested that girls space their shavings over the week.

Armed with the fact that there is no physical harm if girls shave their legs, we decided to consult a beauty specialist.

Muggy, our beauty expert, insisted that for many girls shaving the legs was a vital part of good grooming. "Keeping the legs smooth, clean and free from dark, prickly stubble is absolutely necessary for feminine grroming."

When a girl actually needs to start shaving her legs depended on the individual, Muggy explained. Sometimes, the racial background makes a difference. The maturity of the girl is also an important factor. However, she felt that by age 14, most girls needed to shave their legs, or at least were concerned about hair legs.

"If the fuzz on the legs is light and hardly noticeable, don't shave," she urged. "Some girls are lucky; they don't need to shave their legs because the baby - fine fuzz doesn't show."

"For the girls who didn't wish to invest in an electric razor, Muggy had these suggestions for the use of a safety razor. "Never shave dry; this causes irritations and skin eruptions. Use a men's shaving cream to soften the hair. Use an upward motion rather than a downward - toward - the - toes motion. And do it slowly so you don't nick yourself," she stressed. "A leg with bandaids all over it is not glamorous!"

If a girl's parents were opposed to her shaving her legs, Muggy suggested that she peroxide the hair. "This simply lightens the hair so it isn't so obvious," she said. "There's no danger involved; nor is it a messy job."

All that is necessary for this process is purchasing a bottle of peroxide from any drugstore, dabbing the solution on the skin and hair, then going out into the sun for a while. (Incidentally, this peroxide process was okayed by the dermatologist, too.)

"If the girl decides later that shaving her legs would be cleaner and nicer, she should talk with her parents and stress the good grooming angle. She shouldn't push her folks with the juvenile, "But all the other girls do it!'"

Have you a problem? Ele and Walt Dulaney may have the solution. Write them in care of this paper, enclosing a stamped, self - addressed envelope.

'Exercise' Is Benefit, Says Stan Musial

By GAYNOR MADDOX

NEW YORK (NEA) — Fruit, bacon and eggs and toast for breakfast, no lunch, steak, roast beef or lobster and salad for dinner. That's what Stan Musial, 45, executive director of the President's Council on Physical Fitness and vice president of the St. Louis Cardinals recommends to any man or woman in the 40s eager to remain healthy, flat-bellied and full of oats.

"But what you eat is only half the story," Musial adds. He is tall, slender and three times a grandfather. "Just as important is regular exercise that keeps you fit," he stated.

Stan the Man is an apostle of strong, trim bodies. He warns against physical idleness and overindulgence in food and drink. "I think President Johnson put it straight on the line when he said, 'We cannot stay strong as a country if we go soft as citizens.' My job with the council is to encourage everyone, youngsters and adults alike, to shorten his waistline and limber up his muscles."

He pointed out what has happened to Americans in this era of affluence. The ordinary tasks of daily living no longer provide enough vigorous exercise to develop and maintain good muscle tone or cardiovascular and respiratory fitness.

In homes and factories, and on farms as well, machines now supply the "muscle power" for most jobs. They have all but eliminated the necessity for walking and climbing stairs, and one of them—the television set—holds too many of us in captive idleness for many hours a week. This inactivity, together with overeating, has resulted in a massive physical fitness problem.

Musial is 6 feet tall and weighs around 184 pounds. "I step on the scales regularly — maybe twice a week—to check on my weight. I never try to starve myself. But I do watch my diet—reasonably, not fanatically. I cut the fat off broiled meat. I pass up candy. I rarely ever eat dessert, avoid midnight snacks and try never to leave the table full. But I do eat a good, hefty breakfast," he said, adding, "And, of course, while I was playing with the Cardinals I got lot of exercise. As a result, in the past 10 years I've kept my weight fairly steady."

Today, with his ball-playing days over, he seeks other ways to get daily exercise. He says he knows he must in order to keep his weight down even though he doesn't eat any more than he used to.

Therefore, he goes to a gymnasium frequently. He tried to jog along streets rather than walk. At home he does push-ups because they are great for firming the stomach muscles, he explains. He shadow-boxes in his own room.

"I've found that regular exercise that is not too strenuous gives a fellow a feeling of emotional stability. It releases tensions. It's easier to stick to a weight control-program year after year when you are emotionally stable. Flexing your muscles speeds up circulation and gives you a feeling of well-being," he observed.

Research scientists in the causes and prevention of obesity know from experience in obesity clinics, hospitals and group therapy that those few who do stick to a weight-control program and learn to live happily within a calorie budget, are almost without exception emotionally well - adjusted men and women. These scientists agree with Stan Musial that moderate exercise every day is important in keeping a dieter emotionally stable. For that reason they, too, encourage physical activity while on a reducing program.

He smiled engagingly, saying, "Please don't get the impression I want to preach, but a lot of men are tempted to relax, go soft and indulge themselves when they hit 40. A little self-discipline would pay them dividends. A man looks better and feels better when his belly is flat and his muscles limber."

Cowbelles Name New Officers

A change was made in the newly elected officers of the Pikes Peak Cowbelles at the April 13 meeting at the Golden Dragon Restaurant. The new officers are Mrs. Tom Watt, president; and Mrs. Clint Williams, treasurer.

During the business meeting which followed the luncheon, the Cowbelles decided not to enter this year the tournament of tables, to be held April 23-24 at the International Center.

It was voted to enter a float in the Rodeo Parade this year.

The Cowbelles will continue giving meat to the Christian Home for Children and will accept donations of clothing and bedding for the home.

Next month the Cowbelles plan a covered dish luncheon, at a place to be announced later.

MORTGAGES INCREASE

Farmers are increasing their use of mortgage credit at an accelerated rate, according to the presidents of the 12 farmer-owned Federal Land Banks at their semi - annual conference in Washington, D. C., the Record Stockman reports. Most frequently mentioned causes were farmers' efforts to modernize their farms and enlarge their units by buying more land to make more efficient use of heavy equipment.

Agricultural Surplus Gets New Examination

This year, the agricultural surplus problem has been approached on a different front, according to Richard Fenwick, research assistant with the Colorado State University extension economics section.

The new viewpoint is from Leon H. Keyserling, economist and attorney, and former chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisors. The economist outlines his views in a recent book called "Agriculture and The Public Interest Toward a New Farm Program."

Keyserling suggests that the true magnitude of the farm surplus problem should be considered in the light of the surplus situation in the one - farm sector of the nation's general economy.

Farmers usually cannot stop or substantially reduce production and remain efficient production units as can many nonfarm industries, Fenwick suggests. "Hence, farm surpluses are 'visible' while non - farm surpluses are often 'invisible.'"

The "invisible" surpluses in industry have been estimated by projecting yearly optimum levels (full potential) of industrial performance.

This approach has led to estimates that total national production was $590 billion lower than it could have been from 1953 to 1964. The annual gap between actual national production and maximum potential production averaged 8.8 per cent. During this 12 - year period, according to Keyserling, idle plant capacity was 24.8 per cent for steel and 22.2 per cent for automobiles. Average annual unused manpower in the non - farm economy was 8.1 per cent.

On the other hand, average annual production of farm products was 1.8 per cent greater than total domestic and foreign utilization. In 1960, the nation had enough wheat stocks on hand to supply domestic needs for one and one - half years. In 1964, wheat sotcks represented a supply that would last 13 months. Current corn stocks would fill domestic needs for 14 to 15 months.

The visible farm surpluses would appear to be less than the invisible surpluses in the remainder of the economy, Fenwick points out.

One of the major public complaints about farm surpluses is the cost to the federal government for storage and transportation. According to Keyserling, the non - farm surpluses have cost the nation more in the form of higher prices paid for many non - farm goods, as well as social costs such as poverty, unemployment benefits and impaired morale brought about by less than maximum production. Many non - farm industries also are receiving subsidies from the federal government through the $50 billion defense program, he adds.

"Part of the solution to the problem may be rational mutual appraisal of surplus situations in both agriculture and industry by farm and business leaders," Fenwick concludes.

BEEP PRODUCTION LISTED

Beef production during February was 1,365 million pounds, five per cent above February, 1964, but 11 per cent below January 1965, the Record Stockman reports. The number of cattle alaughtered during February toslaughtered during February totaled 2,340,800 head, 11 per cent greater than a year earlier, but 11 per cent less than the previous month. The average live weight of cattle slaughtered during the month was 1,021 pounds, 34 pounds less than February, 1964, and three pounds less than January, 1965.

Colorado Sets Scabies Control Regulations

No cattle or sheep are to be moved into Colorado from Texas unless a permit has been obtained from the State Veterinarian of Colorado, according to a recent order from Commissioner of Agriculture Paul W. Swisher and L. Richard Kintzele, chairman of the Colorado Agriculture Commission.

Cattle or sheep entering the state must also have been officially dipped in accordance with the USDA, ARS, ADE directive 74-24 within 10 days before entering Colorado, except by written permission of the State Veterinarian's office.

Stock are to be moved in cleaned and disinfected cars and trucks only.

Cattle or sheep, however, may move directly to a packing plant under federal supervision for immediate slaughter when accompanied by a "clean" inspection certificate and a permit from the State Veterinarian.

Easter Lilies Can Rebloom In Late Summer

The satisfaction gained from flowering Easter lilies in April often can be duplicated in late summer, states C. M. Drage, Colorado State University extension horticulturist.

There are two ways to rebloom Easter lilies, the horticulturist explains. During the first bloom, the lily should be kept in a moderately cool, draft - free place and given considerable light. After blooming, keep the plant in a sunny window and continue to water until the foliage begins to ripen. Then withhold water and dry off completely.

About the middle of May knock the bulb out of the pot and plant it outside in well-drained soil in a sunny location, Drage suggests. Place the bulb about six inches deep.

Frequently the result will be a few flowers in late summer — unless growing conditions are adverse or the plant is weak. The lily may last for several seasons. However, none of the lilies commonly forced for Easter are reliably hardy and winters may kill them.

A thick mulch will aid winter survival. In no case should you try to force the bulb again as a pot plant, the horticulturist explains, since its strength has been exhausted.

There is a second way of handling your Easter lily, Drage continues. After the plant has been dried off, leave the bulb in the pot and establish a good growing situation. Water lightly until new shoots appear — then water more freely.

Feed the plant every two weeks with a complete liquid fertilizer. It will usually reflower about August. The blooms will be smaller, but generally satisfactory. After this second flowering, discard the bulb, Drage states.

Forage Harvest Revolution Affects Equipment Choice

The continuing revolution in forage harvesting methods which has brought about innovations like the hay conditioner, bale thrower, and the self-propelled windrower with conditioner—has complicated equipment selection.

Production, harvesting, storing, and feeding factors should form the basis for a sound decision, according to O. J. Trenary, extension agricultural engineer at Colorado State University. "The best equipment or combination of machines for one farm is not necessarily the best for another."

The pickup baler is fast. However, individual ownership of expensive machinery often cannot be justified on small volume. It takes a volume of about 150 tons to justify ownership when compared to custom rate work of around $4 per ton. If hay is to be hauled, handled, or sold, baling is usually a must. Balers can be used for both hay and straw.

Field chopping equipment can make both silage and hay, thus often lowering investment costs. Plus, a small crew can make hay with relatively "perspiration proof" methods.

Feeding from overhead storage is easy since chopped hay can go directly from mow or stack to feed rack. Cows may eat it better than long hay. However, chopped hay can become hard and brittle if moved and restacked before feeding. There is more waste under such conditions than if baled.

Grass silage usually produces more feed value per acre and is more weatherproof. This form of harvest is usually easier to schedule during busy periods. To avoid disagreeable odors during storage, direct cut grass silage requires careful management. These odors often can be avoided by handling it as wilted silage or haylage, but leaf loss will be increased.

Colorado State University research on forage returns from the various harvesting methods can be found in CSU Bulletin 417A, Trenary says. The publication also contains data on harvesting and feeding costs and the relative contribution of each harvesting method to livestock gains when forage is fed with grain rations.

The publication is available through the CSU Bulletin Office or local county extension agents.

Local 4-H'er In Speaking Competition

Betty Anderson, Rush, has been chosen to represent El Paso County at the Colorado 4-H Public Speaking Contest June 8 - 10 in Ft. Collins.

Miss Anderson spoke on "Let's Say Thank You" at the County Council 4-H Day program April 10 in the Nob Hill Community Hall. She is a member of Edison Lucky Lassies 4-H Club.

Others participating in the contest were Bonnie Vorenberg, Washington Junior; Sally Kingrey, Pals of the Pines; Ted Peterson, Leash'Collar; Beverly Butler, Washing Junior; and Harold Clark, Pals of the Pines.

Judges for the contest were Mrs. Eva McCune, 4-H leader; John Whigham, member of Toastmasters' Club 555; and Ed Fine, assistant extension agent.

Beverly Young, Colorado's International Farm Youth Exchange delegate to Israel, showed slides and spoke to the group about her trip.

At the business meeting, the County Council voted to open the food booth at noon the first day of the fair. After discussion of money - making ideas, it was decided to continue the candy sale.

Those desiring to give demonstrations for Home Demonstration Clubs are asked to contact Miss Mary Kohli at the Extension Office.

Dinner was served for 4-H'ers and their families by the El Paso County Extension Homemakers Clubs.

Apple Tree Pest Controls Noted

Many Colorado home owners assume they can prevent wormy apples by spraying a tree two or three times, but this is not correct, says Bill Hantsbarger, Colorado State University extension entymologist. It usually takes five summer spray applications to prevent worm attack.

According to the entomologist the first spray should be applied one week after the blossom petals have fallen. Additional spray applications should be made at two week intervals until five sprays have been applied.

Commercial combinations of malathion and methoxychlor or malathion and DDT can be used. The home owner can prepare his own combination by mixing ten tablespoons of liquid DDT or methoxychlor to five tablespoons of liquid malathion in fine gallons of water. These materials will control both worms and spider mites.

It is important a tree be sprayed thoroughly, Hantsbarger explains. A 10-year-old tree in full foliage will require about five gallons of spray. Custom tree companies often can do a much better job of spraying, the entomologist suggests. "If you make it a do-it-yourself project, be particularly thorough and get good coverage."

A pump - up sprayer will do the job, the CSU specialist states, or you can use a sprayer that attaches to a garden hose. If you use the latter, calibrate it two or three times during the season to make sure it is delivering the proper amount of chemical, he continues. Use liquid or emulsifiable concentrates in this sprayer. For small trees, bucket pumps or trombone sprayers can be used.

Another pest that needs to be controlled on apple trees is the scale insect. A domant oil spray used every two or three years will keep this pest in check.

Dormant oil should be applied in late winter or early spring before green leaf tips begin to show, Hantsbarger advises. Use a 95 per cent dormant oil (supreme or superior type) at the rate of one and one - half cups to five gallons of water.

Spring Grazing Cows May Get Wheat Poisoning

Cows turned on new green growth — particularly wheat — should be watched closely for a condition known as grass tetany, advises Dr. William Brown Jr., extension veterinarian at Colorado State University.

This condition, also known as "wheat poisoning," strikes quickly and requires the prompt service of a veterinarian. Usually, a grass tetany outbreak in a herd can be detected when animals are observed down and in distress, Dr. Brown states.

The condition is caused by a magnesium deficiency in the animal's body. Lack of energy in the winter ration and other feed deficiencies also contribute to the condition. Cows which have calves or are about to calve are particularly susceptible, according to the extension veterinarian.

Feeding two ounces of magnesium oxide per day in a grain ration will help prevent the condition, he adds.

HOME GARDENER'S NOTEBOOK

A GOOD STAND OF GRASS

* * * * * *

By ALLAN SWENSON
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Soil erosion can spoil your lawn and garden areas. Many new homes, especially in new developments, present this problem.

Erosion can reduce the depth of topsoil so it is difficult or impossible to grow shrubs or flows successfully around your house. Erosion can also wear away existing topsoil unless a dense, healthy stand or grass is maintained to protect the soil.

Here are some tips: Keep the soil well covered with a dense stand of grass. This is one of the easiest ways to protect your property. On newly planted areas, especially on slopes, use a mulch covering of straw, sawdust, peat moss or manure until the grass is started well.

The kind of soil you have is important, and will help to determine whether it is easy or diffcult to maintain.

If you're thinking of purchasing or building a home, choose a location where the soil is deep and has good drainage. It should have good water-holding capacities, good texture, and plenty of organic matter. For further local information on soil selection and management, see your county extension agent or garden center specialist.

Colorado Water Supply Outlook Best Since '57

The water supply outlook for Colorado this summer is the best since 1957, according to the April 1 stream flow forecasts made by the Soil Conservation Service.

Above normal snowfall during March was added to the already above average accumulation of snow in the Rocky Mountains. Flow of streams should range from 27 to nearly 60 per cent above normal this summer, according to Jack Washichek, SCS snow survey leader based at Colorado State University.

The best snow pack in the state is in the Wolf Creek Pass area, Washichek says. This area serves as the headwaters for the Rio Grande and San Juan rivers.

The Wolf Creek Pass snow course has 123 inches of snow and 49.8 inches of water in it.

Unless the summer is unusually warm, it will take some time to melt this amount of snow, he adds.

The Rio Grande River flow should be 50 per cent above normal this year, and the San Juan likely will flow about 59 per cent above normal. Stream flow in the Rio Grande Valley has been deficient the last few years.

The Arkansas Basin also will have the best water supply in years, the survey shows. Snow pack in the headwaters of the Arkansas is excellent and flow should be 140 per cent of the 1948 - 62 average.

The lower Arkansas near the Kansas line has received little moisture this year and winter wheat has suffered, the CSC reports. Reservoir storage in the valley is poor and a good runoff is badly needed.

The South Platte and its tributaries to the north should have above average flows, but not as great as the Arkansas and the Rio Grande, Washichek explains.

Caryover storage in the Platte Valley is about average, with stream low about 30 per cent above normal. Water supplies should be adequate. Soils in this area are in fairly good condition.

The Lower South Platte area needs spring moisture badly, however. Soils are the driest they have been in many years in the Sterling area.

Colorado's Western Slope also can expect a good water year. Forecasts for the Colorado, Yampa, and Gunnison rivers indicate a flow about 30 per cent above normal.

Little melting has taken place in the high mountains as yet, but could start sometime in April. Snow could fall all during April and if this occurs, 1965 could be one of the biggest run off years on record, Washichek concluded.

Austin Bluff Rangers Gymkhana Scheduled

Austin Bluff Rangers will hold a gymkhana at 12:30 p.m. Saturday at Mark Reyner's Stables.

The show is open to all riders in the area. Entry fees will be 50 cents per event. Age groups are 13 and under, and 14-18. Four place ribbons will be given in each event, and four buckles will be awarded, to the high point junior girl and boy, and senior girl and boy.

Events will include: costume class, horsemanship for Mark Reyner's pupils, bareback horsemanship, obstacle race, stake race, keyhole race, barrels, cowhide race, tendem barrels, and 75 yard up and back.

Riding Club Slates Breakfast Ride

The Kit Carson Riding Club has scheduled a breakfast trail ride through the Austin Bluffs at 7:30 a.m. Sunday.

After the ride, members and guests will assemble at the club grounds for a breakfast of ham, eggs, hotcakes and coffee. Charge of 75c per person will be made to defray the food cost.

GRAIN ENROLLMENT REPORTED

Enrollment in the 1965 feed grain program, the voluntary production control and price support program, ended March 26 in most areas reports the Record Stockman. As of March 25, U.S.D.A. reports more than 1,378,000 feed grain farms were enrolled in the program, 41,000 more than the previous record number.

Also as of Mar. 25, farmers in the program had agreed to divert 34,053,000 acres from feed grain production this year. This figure, which will be increased, is slightly under last year's record signup of 34,300,000 acres.

Quarter Horse Show Scheduled

Those entered in the Reed Ranch Quarter Horse Show April 24 are invited to practice in the indoor arena from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. any evening this week, said Gene Reed. Youths up to 18 may enter, and it is not necessary to have a registered quarter horse, unless competing for the all around trophy donated by the American Quarter Horse Association.

The Reed Ranch Quarter Show will be held at the Reed Ranch Indoor Arena, three miles north of the Garden of the Gods, at10 a.m. April 24 and 25. Youth activities will be on Saturday and registered events on Sunday. The show is AQHA approved with trophies donated by the Rocky Mountain Quarter Horse Association.

The public is invited, and there will be no admission charge. A concession stand will beo pen both days.

MEAT PRODUCTION REPORTED

Total meat production under federal inspection for the week ended April 3 was estimated at 511 million pounds, according to the USDA, according to the Record Stockman. This was two per cent below the previous week, but four per cent above a year ago.

Political Time Bombs Are Making

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

The two most populous states in the Union, New York and California, seem to be racing each other to plant time bombs under the most carefully laid plans of the politicians of both parties.

Consider the political similarities between the two states. In California, the Democratic party is split by the feuding that goes on between Governor Pat Brown and Big Daddy Unruh, the speaker of the State Assembly. In New York, the adherents of Mayor Bob Wagner of New York City continue their silent jockeying to keep U.S. Senator Bobby Kennedy relegated to the role of new boy in the Empire State political school. Bobby, of course, refuses to accept any such downgrading.

The Democratic party in New York State is likely to become a poser for President Lyndon Johnson because of the complete lack of consensus about who is best fitted to be the Democratic candidate for Governor in 1966.

Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., who, believe it or not, is moving toward late middle age, is faced with a now - or - never proposition if he is to live up to his picture of himself as his father's son. But Sam Stratton, the Upstater who wins two-to-one in what used to be a Repbulican area, thinks he deserves a shot at the Albany job.

Jack English, still angry because a strange alliance between Bob Wagner, Boss Charlie Buckley of the Bronx and Liberal party factotum Alex Rose nominated Robert Morgenthau for governor in 1962 and lost disastrously to Nelson Rockefeller, is busy polishing the claims of his candidate for 1966.

The English "dark horse" is the capable Eugene Nickerson, the Nassau County executive. Between Upstaters and Manhattanites, liberals and moderates, bosses and advocates of a direct primary, pro - Rooseveltians and those who think Jimmy Roosevelt's defeat in the Los Angeles mayoralty has rubbed the magic from the Roosevelt name, there is bound to be blood - letting among Democrats when they try to come up with a candidate capable of taking on Republican Nelson Rockefeller in 1966. Rockefeller would be sitting pretty if it were not for the animosity of the Conservative party.

In California, the battle for the governor's job promises a Donnybrook all around. Jesse Unruh subtly undercuts Pat Brown's chances for re - election. The Republicans, sensing they have a unique opportunity to elect a governor in 1966, are, as usual, split between the liberals and the conservatives, with the liberals plugging Senator Tom Kuchel (who would have to quit his job in Washington to run), and the conservaties debating the relative merits of oil executive Joe Shell and actor Ronald Reagan. But this doesn't necessarily let President Johnson off the hook, for he may have to choose between the Brown and Unruh Democratic factions, which would make it a bad blood campaign for both Democrats and Republicans.

A court appointment for Governor Brown might solve things for both Big Daddy Unruh, who sometimes goes by his own name of Jesse Marvin Unruh, and for Lyndon Johnson as a dispenser of harmony. If Unruh is to be the Democratic candidate for governor, he would be a formidable campaigner. But U.S. Senator George Murphy, Republican, has warned the Democrats that if Californians farm income is ruined by Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz's campaign against the use of Mexican migrant workers, it will take more than Unruh's magic and Lyndon Johnson's balm to produce a 1966 Democratic victory in the fight for governor.

The time bombs that are ticking at two ends of the continent could have their impact on 1968 as well as on 1966.

School Children Credited for Battling Floods

CLINTON, Iowa (AP) — Grownups who have been battling angry floods in the Midwest for nearly a month are quick to give credit for the help of school children.

If the youngsters sometimes seem to get underfoot filling and hauling sandbags it can be laid to eagerness. But officials concede that without their help many a levee couldn't have been raised in time.

Among the thousands of high school and junior high pupils who have enlisted in the fight against the Mississippi River were the children on the job here Tuesday.

Fifteen of nearly 1,300 who had been excused from school for the day were at the spot where sandbags had been placed on top of a cinder block wall behind the Clinton baseball stadium.

Danny Waters, 12, and Barbara Hodges, 16 with leg fractures, and Tim Leonard, 13, with back injuries were hospitalized. The others were treated for cuts and bruises and released.

The Rev. James Coonroy, chaplain at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, said: "The kids were all in the hallway, either sitting on chairs or lying on litters. They were terrific. They were trying to comfort each other and keep their spirits up."

Some of the youngsters were on Easter vacation but not those at Clinton High School. School Supt. R.T. Grau said before the accident that those excused for work on the flood project had to bring written consent from their parents.

Gov. Harold Hughes was in the area conferring with officials on steps taken to hold back the river. He saw school children at work with their elders.

"People are quick to criticize our kids," he said. "Here on the river they have worked longer and harder than some of the adults. They deserve a lot of credit."

In Clinton, all school absences were canceled today. City authorities said there was no further need for student volunteers.

Military Men Consider Viet War 'Deadline'

HONOLULU (AP) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara was to complete the "war room quorum" at Pacific Military Command headquarters today to consider future military and diplomatic strategy in Viet Nam.

McNamara arrived Monday night in Honolulu, where top U.S. military men in the Pacific already had started talks on Southeast Asia.

The conference came as Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin warned the United States it is nearing a "dangerous deadline" in Viet Nam, and shortly after Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., called for a temporary suspension of U.S. bombings in North Viet Nam.

Pentagon sources and Army Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and senior military man at conference, denied any crisis atmosphere.

Wheeler said, "I wouldn't call it a crisis. It's just a matter of exchanging views between Ambassador (Maxwell) Taylor and Secretary McNamara."

Wheeler, Adm. U.S. Grant Sharp Jr., the Pacific military commander, and Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the top U.S. military man in South Viet Nam, began the talks Monday morning.

The ambassador to South Viet Nam arrived unannounced in Honolulu Sunday evening but did not join the secret sessions until after lunch Monday. He kept a dental appointment at Tripler Army Hospital earlier in the day.

Prior to McNamara's arrival, Wheeler called the top military component commanders, including Lt. Gen. Victor Krulak, the Pacific Fleet Marine force boss, to the Camp H. M. Smith Command Center — dubbed the war room — to discuss the military aspects of the undeclared war.

"They concentrated on Viet Nam, but they covered the whole area," a military spokesman said after the day-long session. "They discussed military items for the most part. I expect they will go over most of the ground again after Mr. McNamara's arrival."

The high level talks were to continue throughout Tuesday and possibly into Wednesday, military officials said.

CAPITOL STUFF

By TED LEWIS

WASHINGTON —When Vice President Humphrey listed Thursday an imposing batch of bills he expects Congress to pass this session, Hubert was to all intents and purposes revealing that his boss LBJ figures that he had better make the most of the present legislative mood to do his bidding.

The strategy as now disclosed is to try to get virtually all of the Administration's legislative package passed this year. This means that Congress, instead of adjourning in July as originally the aim, will be kept in session until Labor Day at the earliest, perhaps even until the snow flies if it remains as productive as in its first 100 days.

When an Administration-Controlled Congress displays the momentum this one has so far, it would be a grave error of judgment for any President to turn loose of such a good thing. Especially, of course, Lyndon Johnson who savors the repute of a hurry - up President who gets things done that need doing.

The list of "must" type legislation that Humphrey now predicts will be passed this year is somewhat staggering in size. It includes, besides the priority medicare and voting rights measures and others now definitely on their way toward final action, a group of bills which Congressional leaders consider could just as well be acted on in the 1966 election - year session.

Among these proposals, on which the Administration wants action now, not later, are: aid to higher education, establishment of area health and health research installations, lifting of present immigration restrictions, a curb on uncontrolled sale of firearms and a group of bills which are aimed at beautifying highways and getting rid of air and water pollution.

The Vice President presented the list in a speech before the American Society of Newspaper Editors. He did not say that the President now wants more out of Congress this session than he previously would have been satisfied with, but Capitol Hill leaders of both parties got the message.

COMPARISON TO FDR DRAWS SMIRKS

There was some negative significance in Humphrey's "must" legislative items which should not pass unnoticed.

Humphrey made no specific mention of the proposal to repeal that section of the Taft-Hartley Labor Law which has allowed various states to enact right -to - work statutes. This bill is high on organized labor's legislative agenda, and Johnson in the past had urged action this session.

The Vice President properly and wisely gave Johnson response to White House urgings. But when he compared LBJ's achievements in the first 100 days of this Congress with FDR's during the famous "hundred days" of the 73d Congress in the depression crisis of 1933, some of the veteran cynics in his audience had a perfect right to smirk.

A comparison of this kind is a political exaggeration, as Humphrey well knows since he is versed in American history. Yet it has become a part of the Administration's ballyhoo campaign aimed at showing that Johnson is a "miracle man" and that the Democratic - controlled Congress is in the process of making a legislative record unique in history.

CONGRESSIONAL SPEED REFLECTS NOVEMBER SWEEP

Nobody argues about the effectiveness so far of what Humphrey calls LBJ's "vigorous leadership" in the Congressional arena. Since Congress met in January, it has passed the Appalachia redevelopment bill and the sweeping aid - to - education measure, and soon after the Easter recess it will send to the White House the medicare bill and complete action on a Presidential succession amendment.

All of these measures have been Congressional issues for years. The same is true of the essential elements in the Administration's "Great Society" proposals. The fact that they are now either law of close to it mainly reflects last November's national election results.

Had John F. Kennedy lived to run again and swamped Barry Goldwater and the Republicans, as Lyndon did, this Congress would be similarly on the move. Probably not quite so fast, it must be conceded, because of Johnson is definitely capable of softening Southern bloc opposition in Congress.

If Humphrey and others insist on comparing the first hundred days of LBJ's present Congress with Franklin Roosevelt's, it is fair to point out that what FDR accomplished was in the hundred days which began with his inauguration on March 4, 1933. Johnson had been President for 14 months before his hundred days of legislative accomplishments were considered worth ballyhooing.

This is no reflection on the way he took charge after the death of Kennedy on Nov. 22, 1963. But he did not exactly have his way with the 88th Congress in 1964. It did enact the Civil Rights Law, pass the $11.5 billion tax cut bill and vote $700 million to start the poverty program.

Sales of hobby and craft items reached a record $550 million in 1964 and industry leaders predict $600 million in sales for this year.

Monaco Stages Comeback For Prosperity

By ROSETTE HARGROVE

MONACO (NEA) — The story book Prince and his Princess are working it out in the best tradition of fairy tales.

Rainier and Grace, their Serene Highnesses of the tiny principality, have children and are living happily ever after.

Once upon a time it looked as though it might not be thus.

When their prince married the American Movie Star nine years ago, the Monegasques looked with a certain amount of fear when he had chosen as his consort. They feared that Philadelphia born Grace (nee Kelly) would Americanize the man who exercised Old World control over his 368-acre domain and would attempt to bring Hollywood to Monaco.

Grace had to learn the language and customs of her new subjects.

Rainier, Grace and Monaco all have adapted with remarkable success.

The Princess has proved herself a perfect wife and admirable mother and has assumed her state responsibilites as though to the manor born. Her beauty and elegance have brought new brilliance to the sometime rather shabby formal functions of the principality.

Two healthy children, Caroline, 8, and Albert, 7, have recently been joined by a second daughter, christened Stephanie Marie Elizabeth.

Ask a Monegasque housewife what she thinks of Princess Grace and she probably will reply—as one did—"We know now that the Princess has other ambitions than being a movie star or cover girl. She is a real helpmate to our Prince and brings up her children, as far as she can, just like any other well-to-do family."

The middle-aged Monegasque dames approve of Grace's lack of eccentricity or ostentation in dress. They like the way she still manages to appear glamorous, and are especially intrigued by the fact that she does not hesitate to wear the same ball gown several times in a season.

While the men generally are more fond of the brunette type of local beauty, they admire Grace's looks and approve her dislike of scandal in any form and her democratic way of shopping along the streets of Monaco afoot, and without escort.

Grace has a real and very earnest interest in the Monaco Red Cross—of which she is president—in the problems of older people, the future of orplans and many other social service activities. She is not content just to make glamorous personal appearances in behalf of her charities, but works several hours a day personally answering letters and regularly visits orphanages and the old peoples' home.

The Monegasques were a little startled when a couple of years ago Her Serene Highness expressed the wish that Monaco's famed pigeons-shooting establishment replace live birds with clay pigeons, but her wish was their command, even though it meant a loss of revenue.

Rainier has also settled down to his responsibilities. To please his wife he has given up racing automobiles, no longer speeding along the sinuous coast of the Riviera at 100 m.p.h.

Not so long ago the Prince made an even greater sacrifice by selling his yacht, the "Albercaro."

A few years ago Rainier and Grace built themselves a model house at Mont Agel, about 30 miles away from Monaco on the French border. Planned on American lines, it has all the latest improvements and gadgets and here the princely couple spend weekends with the children whenever they can get away from affairs of state.

Prince Rainier Wants Younger Folk in Monaco

By ROSETTE HARGROVE

MONTE CARLO, Monaco (NEA) — A serpent lurks in this miniature Garden of Eden which was once the playground of Russian grand dukes, jet-setters, international tycoons and King Farouk.

The Monegasques realize that all was not well when they listened to Prince Rainier's 1965 annual "message to the people." The broadcast proved to be an explosive tirade against the uncrowned king of Monaco, Aristotle Onassis.

While Rainier did not mention the Greek shipping magnate by name, everyone knew who he was talking about when he spoke of "certain Monegasque interests" who were not pulling their weight in the ambitious modernization program which his government had already begun.

Onassis controls the Societe des Bains de Mer"—the Sea-Bathing Company—which was founded in 1863. This, in effect, is a state within a state, almost as archaic as its name. Holding more than half of the million shares of SBM, as it is always referred to in the principality, Onassis controls what were once the main attractions of the 368-acre realm—the casino, the old luxury hotels, the Cafe de Paris, the posh Monte Carlo beach, the Sporting Club and five night clubs.

But times have changed and the former vacation habitat of the wealthy is now badly in need of adjustment to changing world conditions. The old Monte Carlo baccarettable habitues are disappearing. And the younger people who are left simply do not have the same kind of money to spend and would rather play the slot machines.

Rainier contends that the Onassis group is hidebound and stuffy, is allowing the luxury hotels to fall into dispair, cares nothing about the standard of living of the Monegasques and is continuing a disastrous "rule-or-ruin" policy.

Though the Prince has the right of veto on all major appointments to the board of directors, he would prefer not to use it since the SBM employs more than half of the principality's 22,300 people, including the 3,039 native Monegasques.

The SBM also pays the state 10 per cent of its gross profits. This amounted to about $8 million in 1963. So the situation remains a stalemate.

Rainier's dream is to make Monaco a holiday resort for the young. The first part of the vast undertaking has been removing the railroad which snaked along the coast and putting it underground, thus making available valuable building sites. This was started two years ago.

The new artificial beach will be available to tourists next year. With more medium-priced hotels, the Prince hopes that tourists will extend their stay in Monaco instead of visiting for a day for a fling at the gaming tables.

Despite the gremlins which Rainier's principality is still the bother His Serene Highness, Rainier's principality is still the only country among the 137 nation's of the world whose nationals pay no income tax and where the revenue from indirect taxation is sufficient for ordinary expenditures but not enough to pay for ambitious renovations.

Rainier is not about to allow an established cartel of turn-of-the-century business men, foreigners at that, to wreck his long-range plans for the development of his country. So the pressure is on and Aristotle Onasis and the SBM are than they were several years considerably less complacent than they were several years ago.

NEW WRINKLE

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) —About 75,000 cars are stolen every year in California, so the highway patrol has devised a new way to catch the thieves—a computer.

The newly installed machine instantaneously records reports of auto thefts and quickly relays the information throughout the state to local police agencies.

The computer, according to the highway patrol, will make it difficult for a thief to succeed even in driving the short distance between Oakland and San Francisco.

Electronic Brain Not Favored by News Writer

By WARD CANNEL

NEW YORK (NEA) — Before answering reader mail, we would like to offer a strong word of warning against the use of the electronic brain in place of the human heart.

According to recent and widespread reports from Europe, marriage brokers in several countries are claiming an enormous incease in business since they started to use computerized data on men and women in order to match prospective husbands and wives.

As regular readers know, we here at the Institute have the highest regard for the computer—but only as long as its use is restricted to handling technical details of life, such as diagnosing illness or declaring war in case of enemy attack.

But in arranging a marriage between total strangers, all the computer can work with are facts — income, for example, tastes, habits, goals preferences.

Consequently, the very best you can expect from a computer arranged marriage is compatibility.

Now, that may be all right for foreigners. But to leave out romance and passion is not only un - American; it also goes against everything we are trying to do here at the Institute.

And now, a peek into the mailbag.

Dear Dr. Cannel — I am a happily married woman with a lovely home, a maid, a car of my own, and a very liberal allowance. However, I see storm clouds ahead as my husband will be graduating from college in June and feels he should take a job. Can love exist on $7,500 per year?

Answer — Yours is a very common question. Send two boxtops to us here at the Institute for the informative booklet, "Making Do."

Dear Dr. Cannel — You are absolutely right. A romance can last weel into middle age—and beyond. I am a woman of past 60, and am as deeply in love with Cary Grant as I was when I first saw him in 1932 in the Paramount Production of "I'm No Angel," starring Mae West and directed by Mervyn LeRoy.

Answer—Letters like that are the best sort of thanks for the work we are trying to do here at the Institute.

Dear Dr. Cannel — I have been having an affair with several girls in Accounts Receivable, and find that I am falling in love with one of them. My problem is that I cannot tell which one it is. What can I do about this situation?

Answer — Sensitive people always have a difficult time with this plight. Send two box-tops to us here at the Institute for the informative booklet, "Am I in Love, and If So, How Much?"

Dear Dr. Cannel — After six years of marriage, my husband no longer throws things at me when he gets angry. Is that a bad sign?

Answer — That is not an easy question to answer. Romance and passion can frequently be rekindled into a flame if there is still a spark. Sent two box-tops to use here at the Institute for the handy booklet and check list, "has the Magic Gone Out of My Marriage?"

Bachelor Cooking Plans Given Up

PRETORIA, South Africa (AP) — Pretoria Technical College has given up its crash program of trying to teach bachelors how to cook.

Worried by a nutritionalist's advice that the many bachelors in the town were eating their way out of baked-bean cans into an ulcer-ridden middle age, the college started a special cooking course. The first one was most successful, says V. Serfontein, head of adult education at the college.

The second flopped for lack of support, however.

The problem of bachelors living out of cans is being taken seriously in the administrative capital of South Africa. To get the men interested, Serfontein has proposed that the college should start co-educational cooking courses.

"Who knows, perhaps some young couples could find true love over a simmering casserole," he says.

Romney Keeps Stuffing His Survival Kit

By BRUCE BIOSSAT

LANSING, Mich. (NEA) — Notwithstanding many shafts of wit and sarcasm aimed at him, Gov. George W. Romney keeps stuffing his political survival kit with new equipment. He has learned much politically, accommodating better than at first and avoiding grievous error. He has a new, toughminded Michigan state chairman, Mrs. Elly Peterson, to help him through the shoals.

"He pulls a few shrewdies," says one observer.

Not evern that fabled six-termer, former Gov. G. Mennen Williams, ever did better on the campaign trail. Says a Williams friend: "Romney is quicker than Williams with the 'glad tidings' sort of pitch."

As he ponders whether to go for a third term in 1966 and take the first four-year hold of the job, the governor has plenty of problems.

Even a moderate showing of Michigan's present amazing economic growth pace could quickly devour the state's $100 million surplus and leave his rising budget hurting. He needs new tax money as a hedge, and may or may not get it soon. Furthermore, Detroit is a racial tinderbox which could flare at any time, with resulting political embarrassment all around.

Romney's Michigan supporters see a chance for him to make some points for the 1968 nomination if he can get along with the present heavily Democratic state legislature, as a Republican presidential winner most likely would have to get along with a Democratic Congress.

If, as expected, he runs again next year, some professionals think he must not only win big —as most in both parties believe he could do—but display the power to elect other Republican candidates. This did not happen in 1964 when he successfully breasted Johnson's Michigan tide to win by 380,000 votes.

Last year he won nearly 20 per cent of the Negro votes, cut into the Democrats' labor strongholds in Detroit and Flint, mastered the swelling suburbs. He needs to repeat these feats to reinforce his 1968 prospects.

Any 1968 ambitions would mean Michigan Republicans would have to find a 1970 governorship replacement with at least some of Romney's appeal. Politicians here think the governor may be tuning up his attractive young lieutenant governor, William Milliken. One observer takes a slightly acid view:

"Romney wants him to be popular, but not too popular. Where the spotlight burns really bright, he himself usually appears."

Clearly the governor still finds it hard to shake his critics' image of him as a man who, however good, tends to hold center stage, march conspicuously alone in parades, hug campaign money close to his chest.

Evangelism is most likely the key. A young missionary who shouted Mormonism from a soapbox in London's Hyde Park the governor has been schooled from childhood to elevate cause above person. He must keep on doing it to be square with the teachings of his lifetime.

So, in the political world, he shouts program, platform, principle and tries to scale down candidates, including himself.

Yet these notions are at war within him with other compelling beliefs — in strong leadership and his view that he is an ordained leader of men. From these flow ambition which he seeks constantly to keep somewhat veiled.

Some critics who perceive the conflict label his ambition real and his concern for causes phony. But many who study the governor closely and continuously believe both are thoroughly real.

None denies that the leader always shows through. He looks, acts, and talks the part. He has a sense of where power resides—and what to do with it.

Amanda Blake has played the featured role of Kitty Russell since the first broadcast on the CBS Television Network of "Gunsmoke" in 1955.

Messenger 'Boy' Buys Himself Rolls Royce

By ROLF ULVESTAM

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Valdemar B. Persson, newspaper-carrier and messenger, doesn't smoke, doesn't drink and does not tangle with women.

But — he likes sitting in his Rolls Royce, beaming, while his private chauffeur drives him from his daytime paper-carrying job to his nighttime toil as messenger of a printing plant. And he enjoys seeing the faces of other proud car owners as he whizzes by in his 12 cylinder, 400 h.p. Rolls Royce, Phantom 3 of the fine vintage of 1937. There exists only a few specimens of this "king of cars" with aluminium body and silvercoated radiator in the world.

"I cannot think of anything more worthwhile to own in life than a Rolls Royce, whether it old aristocrat. I thought so already as a kid," comments Rolls-owner Persson.

The fact that he doesn't smoke, drink or date girls has to do with money, of course. He has been greedy for years.

"Had to," he explains. "I figured it would take me 15 years to save enough money to buy a Rolls. I started five years ago, took on more and more jobs and made it in five years!"

Had it been worth it? Persson has no doubts.

High or low, car-owner or not, all stand amazed as a newspaper carrier comes swaying down the street on his bicycle, stops at the Rolls, nods to the chauffeur, adjusts his tie and nonchalantly slips into the back seat with a tired gesture to get the thing started.

Luck came to Persson's help in getting the car. A Phantom 3 stood garaged at the custom house in Goteberg. A Swedish businessman who had bought it abroad could not afford to pay also the $2,000 custom fee. Persson stepped in, paid the tolls and another $4,000 to the businessman.

"I have already been offered double this amount. But I will not sell. It would be a treason against myself," he says.

Song Writing May Aid in Getting Parole

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Music may provide Matthew Rycombell more than just freedom of expression—it may provide him freedom from the Ohio Penitentiary.

Rycombell, a song writer for 18 years is looking for a fresh start on the outside, if a parole comes through for him in July. He will go before the Parole Board in June.

Warden Ernie Maxwell also thinks Rycombell's song writing might help the two-time parole violator stay out of trouble. This time "he could make good," the warden said.

At present, Rycombell's ballad "Bandito" is being considered for the theme song of a movie about Billy the Kid. His song "The Ten Commandments of Love" made a Top Ten record list in 1958.

Rycombell is serving an automatic five-year sentence for parole violation in May 1960. He was sentenced originally from Cuyahoga County in May 1954, in a $5 burglary.

Rycombell, 43, has served time in three other prisons since he was honorably discharged from the Army in 1941.

He isn't a musician, but picks out melodies on a piano and a guitar. Three fellow prisoners help at times with words and music.

So far, Rycombell has written 68 songs, all of which he says carry a message and "come from the heart."

LUTHERAN-CATHOLIC TALKS IN JULY

BALTIMORE (UPI) — U.S. Lutheran and Roman Catholic leaders will meet here in July for a series of theological talks that will mark the first formal conversations ever held by the two communions in this country.

At the first meeting, a beginning examination of the "status of the Nicene Creed as dogma of the Church" will be considered. Both Lutherans and Catholics subscribe to the Nicene Creed. It was adopted in 325 A.D. at the Council of Nicaea, called by Emperor Constantine in Bythnia, Asia Minor, to get churchmen to define orthodox Christian belief.

Sea Otter Fur Comeback Seen In Alaska

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—Stored in a dark, cold compartment at the headquarters of the Alaska Department of Fish and Game in Juneau is a commodity that sent sailing ships around the world in its trade more than two centuries ago, enslaved a people and made another people rich.

Skins of the sea otter hang, rich and dark and luxurious, in that compartment. No relic of the past is this; the pelts are fresh from the island of Amchitka far out on the string of island beads called Aleutian.

One day soon the fur will be re-introduced to the world which knows it only as a legend, vanished from the halls of trade for half a century at least.

This was the fur of royalty, more valued than sable. This was the fur that opened Alaska more than a hundred years before the gold rush. It was fur that lured the Russians to establish Alaska as a colony and the sea otter was king of furs.

The Aleuts, who hunted the otter with spear and net and club, were enslaved by the men of the Czar, who in turn gained riches sending the royal fur home to the royal court.

From the California coast north to the tip of the Aleutians the sea otter once was as plentiful as the bison on the plains. The early explorers bartered with the Indians for otter skins, carried them to the Orient and cleared a fortune in a single voyage.

Like the buffalo, the otter all but vanished from the pressure of hunting. In 1911 the Pacific nations, although they must have thought it a sentimental gesture for a lost species, banned the hunting of sea otter in their treaty protecting the fur seal.

During and just after World ticing strange animals near the Pacific shores. The sea otter was on the way back.

"Today there must be from 30,000 to 50,000 in Alaskan waters," says Loren Croxton, regional supervisor here for the department's Division of Game.

"There is a herd of about a thousand of the Monterey peninsula in California. The next big pod—or colony—to the north is near Cordova Sound in Alaska. There are scattered animals all along the coast and out the Aleutian chain beyond Adak-and out there is the real center of population.

"On Amchitka the herd has grown until the food supply no longer can support the natural increase."

The sea otter is about four feet long and weighs 70 to 90 pounds—every inch and ounce pure glutton. He spends the greater part of his life diving for clams, sea urchins, mussels and the other invertebrates with which he must satisfy his perpetual hunger.

He can feed down to 120 feet. Deeper waters extend too far beyond Amchitka for him to migrate to other islands between meals.

"We began to lose several hundred a year at Amchitka because there just wasn't enough food," Croxton says. "We—the State Department and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service—decided in 1961 it would be better to harvest the fur than let starvation control the Amchitka herd.

"Although the international agreement still is in effect, we can take the otters inside the three-mile limit and feel it not only is justified but necessary as a conservation measure.

"We believe we should take several hundred a year to keep the herd at a proper level."

The problem of continuous feeding in transit has balked efforts to transport otters from along the south Alaska coast overcrowded islands to sites along the south Alaska coast which once supported thousands but now have none.

"The animals selected for culling are shot from the shore," Croxton continues. "Their almost waterproof fur keeps them from sinking. The pelts go to our Juneau headquarters."

When they are marketed he says, "It's impossible to guess what prices the furs will demand. Even in its heyday the otter not only was a royal fur, but it was so heavy its use was limited to male royalty.

"As beautiful as it is, no one can guess if the women of today will prize it or spurn it."

Choreographer Defends Dance Steps for TV

By JOAN CROSBY

NEW YORK (NEA) — When Joey Heatherton, who somehow seems to be undulating when she is standing still, wriggled and writhed through a modern dance on an early edition of NBC-TV's Hullabaloo, the network got mail suggesting the exhibitions marked more of burlesque than home entertainment.

David Winters, a pug-nosed, 25-year-old Englishman who choreographs the dances for Hullabaloo, has two defenses for the Watusi, frug, swim, jerk, monkey, et all. "You know what they say about evil being in the eye of the beholder. Besides, when you're doing these dances, they don't seem at all sexy. Now if you really want a sexy dance, try the tango."

Winters was seated in a corner of a bare rehearsal hall with dirty windows and Early Bingy decor. While he talked, he peered through dark glasses at his Hullabaloo dancers, who were rehearsing a rousing hoedown. Two of the dancers "obviously don't know the number," he said to his assistant, suggesting they run through it themselves while the others rested.

There is very little rest for anyone connected with Hullabaloo, since the dances are made up on the spot by Winters. The show is taped on the Friday preceding the Tuesday air date. Although David has an idea what the numbers will be like the Saturday before taping, he actually has two days to put the dances together. That, plus the constant need to keep the dancers' energy at a pitch bordering on frenzy makes him a busy young man.

"I keep the dancers on their toes by letting them know they can be replaced. I hold open auditions about once a week. In order to get the dancers for the first show, I auditioned 700. Trained dancers have a much more difficult time doing all the modern dances than do energetic kids. Professional dancers have been trained to control their bodies, and modern dances need loose, free bodies."

Winters, whose parents brought him here from England to escape "war memories," began his career at the age of 17 as "Baby John" in "West Side Story." He appeared as "Arab" in the movie version.

"'West Side Story' brought out the kind of youthful talent and energy that has led to what you are seeing today. It was the kind of show that, artistically, was not locked in an old-fashioned format. It was such a trend-setter that it took 10 years to produce it."

David sees no end to the procession of dances done by teens and energetic older folk. "They are all variations of the Twist. Some became popular because a few of the young Hollywood crowd were seen doing the dances. But they were being performed in Negro clubs in the East five years ago.

"This whole teen-age fad has been around 10 or 11 years, when everyone said it would last about two. Look at Elvis Presley who was like 19 when he started and has just turned 30."

Although he dances on Hullabaloo about once a month, Winters is more interested in choreography and producing than performing. After his "West Side Story" stint in Hollywood, he opened a dancing school and numbered among his pupils Presley and Ann-Margret. Then he began creating dances for films like "Send Me No Flowers," "Pajama Party," "Bus Riley's Back in Town" and three Presley pictures.

'No Nonsense' In Television, Zimbalist Says

By BOB THOMAS

A season ago, the actor finished a long run as star of "77 Sunset Strip." He declared himself weary of the television grind and anxious to test his wings in feature films.

Recently he was announced to head up one of next season's formidable entries, "The FBI Story," for which the government agency promised aid and support. What happened to Zimbalist during the interim?

"I became disillusioned with the rat race that working in features entails," he said sorrowfully. "To get roles in features you have to play the social bit — cozy up to these oldtime producers who think the movie business is just what it used to be.

"Well, if that's what working in pictures entails, I say to hell with it. I would much rather be working in television, where you don't have to put up with that nonsense.

"Sure, you work hard. But that never bothered me, as long as the material was good. I was bugged by the tripe we had to do on "77 Sunset Strip." But I think it will be different this time."

The reason for his faith is the creator of the series, Quinn Martin, mastermind of such vehicles as "Fugitive" and "12 O'Clock High."

Zimbalist was performing in the Electronovision "Harlow" before going to work on the series. His only other feature during the lull between television shows was "The Reward," which contributed to his disillusionment with movies. It was directed by the French new-wave director, Serge Bourguignon, and members of the cast and crew are still shaking their heads over the experience.

"Picture this," Zimbalist said. "We were in the middle of Death Valley in the heat of summer — 120 degrees — and he took one scene 55 times. That's right: 55 times! We were all going nuts.

"They tell me they still can't tell what the ending is about. We're supposed to go back for retakes to straighten it out."

Zimbalist will have his work cut out for him in "The FBI Story." He will be the sole lead, although there will be other continuing characters to spell him now and then. The format appears to be the same as the movie "The FBI Story," based on Don Whitehead's best-selling book. Zimbalist will play a role similar to that of James Stewart, a mythical G-man who manages to get assigned to a number of famous cases.

Arrested Man 'Undercover' Agent for FBI

NEW YORK (AP) — Gary T. Rowe, one of the four men originally arrested by federal officers in the slaying of Viola Liuzzo in Alabama, has emerged as an undercover agent for the FBI, the New York Times said today.

Rowe, 34, of Birmingham, testified Tuesday at Hayneville, Ala., before the Lowndes County grand jury investigating the fatal shooting of Mrs. Liuzzo, 39, Detroit mother of five. The government later dropped charges against Rowe and he was freed.

Mrs. Liuzzo was slain in a car shortly after she participated in the March 25 Selma to Montgomery civil rights march.

The Times said in a dispatch from Hayneville that although the details of Rowe's story are not known, the circumstances indicate he was in the assailants' car when Mrs. Liuzzo was killed, but could not prevent the shooting.

The three other men taken into custody the same day Rowe was arrested — March 26 — have been indicted in Montgomery on federal charges of conspiring to violate the constitutional rights of demonstrators. President Johnson, in announcing their arrests, described them as members of the Ku Klux Klan.

The Times said that after Rowe left the courthouse at Hayneville in an auto under FBI guard Tuesday, it was learned that he has been a paid informant of the FBI for the past six years.

A British ship, The Sirius, arrived in New York on April 22, 1838, after the first trans-Atlantic crossing to be made entirely by steam.

Oregon Finds Improved Disaster Plan

By ZAN STARK

SALEM, Ore. (UPI) — Oregon's disaster plan proved such a spectacular success during the savage Christmas week floods last year that it may be copied across the nation.

A congressional investigating team was briefed on the system in January and several states have asked for details.

Oregon's disaster coordinating council was born out of the state's bungling response to the Columbus Day, 1962, windstorm that killed 26 and left $170 million in property damage.

The 1963 state legislature made Civil Defense the whipping boy, and cut the agency from 18 to a staff of three concerned mostly with paper work.

Legislators substituted a disaster council made up of state department heads and what was left of Civil Defense. They made Gov. Mark Hatfield personally responsible for its success.

The disaster council's response was a shambles. Communications in the command center faltered. There was little inter - agency coordination. Imaginary refugees were evacuated to areas that would have been under water. Nobody could even find a map of the area.

Publicly, Hatfield termed the test a success.

Privately, he was terribly concerned.

The next day Hatfield called in state Public Utility Commissioner Jonel C. Hill, a tough, outspoken, organizational genius. Hatfield ordered him to reorganize the disaster council and to "make it work."

Hill reasoned that state government and industry combined had the facilities to meet any disaster. He decided the key to success was coordination.

State police, National Guard, aeronautics, highway, civil defense and forestry department radio networks were linked through the command center in the basement of the capitol.

A commercial network was set up so statewide emergency radio broadcasts could be made.

Early last December a heavy layer of snow covered the state. It was followed by a record cold spell. Then a series of tropical rainstorms swept across Oregon.

The frozen ground could not absorb the rapidly melting snow, and rivers began to swell.

The command post communications center was on duty all night Dec. 21 as the first ominous flood messages began trickling in.

As the full impact of the disaster that struck every one of Oregon's 36 counties began to be realized, key industry — transportation, utilities, construction—joined the battle.

Every move was coordinated through the command post.

By Wednesday, every major roadway and railroad in the state was blocked. National Guard cargo planes dropped food to thousands of stranded motorists and rail passengers. Hay was dropped to cattle.

The flood hit Salem on Wednesday. Command center personnel stayed at their posts as their homes went under water.

The Willamette River crested at 48 feet at Oregon City—an amazing 21 feet above flood stage — Christmas Eve. Thousands were moved to evacuation centers.

The crest battered Portland Christmas day, and still more families were warned to flee.

Sunday night—six days after it had been activated—Hatfield closed down the command center.

The toll was fantastic — 70 homes destroyed, 1,700 severely damaged, another. Three score tially damaged. Three score highway bridges had been washed away.

Damage was estimated at $250 million, and 18 deaths were blamed on the flood.

But everyone was amazed the toll was not greater. The command center was credited with keeping the toll down.

Hatfield and Hill have begun a detailed review of the operation.

In response to requests from across the nation, they are preparing a detailed outline of the system that worked.

New Electronic Detective Tests Jet Performance

By TOM A. CULLEN
European Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

British inventor has perfected an "electronic detective" that weighs only 80 pounds and, as a result, both the Americans and Russians are buying it to test the performance of their newest jet planes.

Inventor Kenneth Dobson, a 6 foot 3 inch snuff-taking individualist, claims the electronic device will save hhundreds of lives that would otherwise be lost in air crashes.

The Midas flight recorder, as the detective device is called, will also save plane makers millions of dollars by testing aircraft flight and discovering mechanical and structural defects before trouble develops, he claims.

The Russians have already bought six of these recorders for use in their giant Ilyushin 62 jet airliners on an experimental basis. If the experiment is satisfactory the Russians have said that they will place a larger order.

The United States Air Force has placed a $1.5 million order for the Midas black boxes to equip its entire fleet of Douglas C133 Globemaster transports. The order comes after a year's extensive flight trials with Midas.

So far Dobson's electronic detective is the only one of its kind in the field. "I have plenty of competitors, including American firms," he admits. "But none of them has gotten beyond the stage of waving paper studies in the air."

Ordinarily it would have taken the makers possibly as long as a year, to find out the cause of the crash. But the Midas flight recorder told investigator's immediately that the plane's control had failed when the test pilot put it into a stall.

Thanks to these findings, the One Eleven's design had now been modified, and the first delieveries of this rear-engined jet are scheduled to be made more than a year ahead of its American rival the DC-9.

Dobson got the idea for Midas while working as a scientific boffin for the Royal Signal Corps during the war. His job was to analyze captured German electronic equipment.

The Midas flight recorder consists of a box of transistors and electrical circuits. It is fed from transducers—devices attached to critical parts of an aircraft to record pressures and temperatures and then to translate these into electronic impulses.

Midas is crashproof and fireproofed to withstand a temperature of 1200 degrees Centigrade for 30 minutes. If jettisoned on land, the little black box is protected by flameproof padding. At sea, it floats with a wireless beacon and marker dye.

Dobson thinks that Midas could have prevented the early Comet crashes which destroyed Britain's lead in the jet field. The box's transducers on the aircraft skin would have measured fatigue, and thus have given warning to structural failure.

DRILL PROVIDES SURPRISE

GALLUP, N.M. (AP) — School system employes and students who have classes in the Gallup school administration building dutifully filed out of the building during a routine fire drill.

Firemen at the scene for the drill grabbed extinguishers and went to work. The fire caused an estimated $400 damage.

While the nation's per capita consumption of sugar has remained at 95 pounds a year since 1940, more than two-thirds of the intake was consumed in its refined state at home 25 years ago; today nearly 70 per cent is eaten in the form of prepared foods bought at the store.

Palmer, Wasson Continue to Win

Birds Easily Win Four-Way Meet

By TOM CUSHMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

Wasson's powerhouse track team rolled relentlessly on Tuesday night, storming past Pueblo South, Palmer, and Cheyenne Mountain in a quadrangular meet under the Wasson Stadium lights.

The well-balanced Thunderbirds, champions of last Saturday's Pikes Peak Relays, won 12 first places in the 15-event meet in another superb show of strength. Wasson finished with 87 points while South, one of the two strongest Pueblo schools, trailed with 51½. Palmer finished third with 47 and Cheyenne Mountain had 29½.

The T-Birds built an almost insurrmountable lead before the first spike touched the track Tuesday night. The field events were started at 5 p.m. and by the time the running commenced at 7 the T-Birds had swept the six field event first places and had finished one-two in three of the competitions.

Wasson's torrid high-jump duo of Craig Gillette and Randy Vance turned in another outstanding performance to highlight the meet. Gillette soared over 6-2½ to capture first place and Vance came in an inch lower at 6-1½. Vance then went on to win the broad jump with a leap of 20-9½ and the triple jump with a stretch of 41-7. He also ran on the victorious 880 yard relay team, thus finishing with 15¼ points for the night. That gave him scoring honors by a single point. Mike Martin of the T-Birds had 14¼ with a win in the low hurdles, second places in both the broad jump and triple jump, and the anchor leg in the 880 relay.

Other field event winners for Wasson were Bob Toof, who tossed the shot put 49-7½; Dewey Winter, who flipped the discus 136-1; and Marshall Griffith, who recorded a career high of 12-2 in the pole vault, edging Palmer's David Paul on the basis of fewest misses.

Cheyenne Mountain's Steve Lucas shared honors with Vance as a double winner. The Indian ace swept both dashes, winning the 100 in 10.5 and the 220 in 23.0. In both he edged South's highly-regarded Sherman Jones. The only other interruption in the Thunderbirds' string of wins was in the mile relay where the South quartet swept to victory over a makeshift Wasson foursome that included only two of the runners which whipped to a school record and the fastest clocking in the state this spring during last weekend's Pikes Peak Relays.

Other individual winners Tuesday included Tom Benson, the T-Birds' fine quarter-miler, who sped to a 51.9 clocking in that event; Wasson's Barry Clayton who churned the mile in 4:48.8; the Thunderbirds Allen York, who ran a 2:03.3 in the 880; and Bud Hoffpauir, who did 15.8 in the high hurdles. The T-Birds' ace distance man, Dan Poole, missed the meet due to illness.

Palmer did not record a first place but continued to show improvement, especially in the field events where the Terrors were the only ones to seriously threaten Wasson domination. Gary Stockdale lost the discus to Winter by one-half inch and also finished third in the shot put. The Terrors also captured second, third, and fourth in the pole vault and third and fourth in the high jump.

Cossette's Key Single Gives 'Birds 1-0 Win

By TOM CUSHMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

Don Cossette, an outfielder who underwent an appendectomy on the eve of Wasson's first baseball game this spring, returned to the lineup only last weekend and Tuesday performed a little surgery of his own. Cossette's first hit of the campaign came in the fourth inning of a South Central League battle at Memorial Park and it all but removed Pueblo Central from the conference race.

It was Cosette's single that sent the lone run scampering across the plate in a 1-0 Wasson victory over the same team that had earlier dished out a comparable helping of misery for the Thunderbirds. Central's 6-4 triumph over Wasson in Pueblo at the start of the SCL chase may still end up as the blow that prevents the Birds from winning their third diamond crown in four years—but Tuesday's rebuttal will at least make the fact less painful.

Wasson's latest success lifted the team's league mark to 5-2 and kept the T-Birds in a second place tie with Pueblo Centennial, as the Bulldogs punished South, 5-0, in a Tuesday tiff in the Steel City. Palmer's league leaders rolled on, however, pounding inept Trinidad, 11-0, to maintain their two-game lead. Wasson and Centennial will select the team to chase the Terrors down the stretch when the two runners-up clash in Pueblo Saturday at 2 p.m. Central, previously tied with Wasson and Centennial, suffered its third loss and is all but out of the race.

Cossette took the swing that counted Tuesday but he still had to make room in the spotlight for junior hurler, Jim Krug. The lanky Wasson ace, a reliefer in the early stages of the campaign, recorded his second straight route-going performance since being elevated to starting duty by Coach Gib Funk.

Krug's masterful job this time out goes down as the best work to date by a Wasson pitcher in 1965. He allowed four hits and was in serious difficulty only on a couple of occasions in the middle innings. Over the seven frames he yielded just three walks and fanned six, while retiring the final seven men he faced in a brilliant display of clutch hurling.

The Thunderbird star had ample aid from the slick defense in back of him on this particular afternoon. Two plays, especially, must be credited as possible game-savers. In the fifth inning, after opposing pitcher Dan Kochevar had opened with a single, thus bringing up the top of the batting order, third-sacker Jim Smith speared a smash down the line and calmly started a twin-killing. Ray Pisciotta followed with another base hit and George Dasko then clubbed a vicious liner to left which Steve Herzberg stabbed on a stunning diving catch.

Central bunched its other two safeties in the second with one away but Krug reached back to fan Don Dudley and force Dave Diaz to pop to second. In the third the Wasson hurler had his only control problems, passing two, but Smith rescued him from potentially serious damage by spearing Lou DiNiro's liner at third. The Wildcats put their leadoff man on via a walk in the fourth but Krug easily worked out of that jam.

Wasson, meanwhile, was having another frustrating day offensively. Herzberg walked and Budgie Hamilton singled him to third with one down in the first but Rich Wadlow popped out & Cossette lined to left. Two singles in the second were wasted as Ron Daniels was nabbed on a steal attempt.

Two Loop Games Friday

Indians, Tigers Post WRL Wins

By CHARLIE DREUX
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

Russ Lyon's Air Academy High Kadets, bridesmaid in past conference pennant chases since that school opened its doors eight years ago, took another step towards breaking the Cheyenne Mountain jinx which has made the Big Blue baseballers perennial runner-up in the old Pikes Peak League.

The Kadets took another giant step towards cilnching their first loop championship without lifting a bat; as a matter of fact, the Academy High team actually succumbed to St. Mary's in non-conference play.

However, Cheyenne enabled the Kadets to advance their first loop championship without lifting a bat; as a matter of fact, the Academy High team actually succumbed to St. Mary's in non-conference play.

However, Cheyenne enabled the Kadets to advance to their cause for the newly formed Will Rogers League's first baseball championship as the Indians revenged a first round loss to Harrison by slipping past the Panthers, 1-0, Tuesday afternoon at the Cheyenne diamond.

In other loop action Tuesday, Canon City bombed Widefield, 15-3.

The Harrison loss put both the Panthers and Cheyenne in a two-way tie for second place with a 3-2 won-loss record each.

This puts the Kadets in a stronger position to clinch the WRL title and Lyon's charges can cinch a tie for the championship by winning their next two league encounters. The Academy High nine plays host to winless Widefield on Friday to highlight the WRL slate while that same day Cheyenne attempts to remain in striking distance of the Kadets when the Tribesmen entertain Canon City at 3:30 p.m. The Widefielder-Academy High game is set for 4 p.m.

Saturday's agenda calls for three non-conference games. Pueblo Catholic visits Canon City with game time slated for 10 a.m.; Arvada West is the guest of Academy High at 2 p.m.; and Harrison travels to Fountain Valley Boys school for a 3 p.m. outing.

In the Cheyenne-Harrison contest Tuesday, lefty Ted Garcia who lost a one-hitter to Academy High last week, picked up the victory as he contained the Panthers to four hits. The Indians nearly lost the WRL game for Garcia because of fielding miscues.

But Cheyenne's ball-hawking outfield saved the day for Garcia with heads-up fielding which saw Doug Heyliger make two brilliant snares to prevent the Panthers from scoring. In the third stanza, Harrison's Bill Doud and Ron Cottingham tagged back-to-back singles as the Panthers threatened to score. Dick Crabtree then stepped up the plate and clobbered a high-outside pitch to deep right field where Doug Heyliger made his run-saving catch to end the Harrison uprising.

Bill Massarand paced the Indians' four-hit attack as the Cheyenne third sacker continued his hot streak by posting two singles and upped his batting average. Massarand is hitting at a .594 clip, collecting 22 hits for 37 times at bat including six home runs.

Bill Johnson took the loss for the Panthers as he teammates committed three errors which resulted in the unearned run in the fourth inning.

Canon City's gunners found the rage Tuesday as the Tigers unleased for 15 runs on 17 hits to topple winless Widefield. Four home runs sparked Canon City's 17-hit barrage as four Tigers tallied four-baggers including Jerry Scavarda, Chris Aragon, Steve Samsel and Jerry Roberts.

Dan Scavarda picked up the win for Canon City as the right-hander limited the Gladiators to three runs on five hits.

Johnson Leads Terrors In Wild Trinidad Win

By MORRIS FRASER
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

Palmer hitters have yet to knock a home run in game competition, but a pair of balls almost went over Tuesday in the Terrors' 11-0 manhandling of Trinidad, and Phil Johnson actually completed a "roundtripper."

Johnson, who hurled a two-hit shutout against the Miners, gained Palmer's final run in the fifth inning on a single. He made a long turn at first and raced for third as Miner centerfielder Leslie Tapia let the ball get by him.

As Johnson pulled into third, leftfielder Mike Buford relayed to the base. The ball took a high hop past third baseman Frank Welch and Johnson trotted home.

The run didn't mean much to the final outcome but the wild sequence of events was typical of the rest of the action. Palmer banged out 11 hits and Trinidad came up with nine errors, three each in the second and third innings. Only four of Palmer's runs were earned.

Although Palmer hasn't hit any fencebusters this year, the Terrors are solid double and triple sluggers. The Tribe has accounted for 13 doubles. Johnson and Roger Green slammed triples against the Erps Field fence Tuesday to bring Palmer's total to 11.

Two fly balls almost went out of the park over the left field fence, 310 feet distant. Fred Romero banged a high hard ball that the wind held up for Buford. Then Larry Williams lined a shot that would have cleared the rail but for Buford's last-ditch grab.

Johnson went three-for-four at the plate and Green, who had managed only two hits this season, was two-for-three. Ken Rose tapped out two hits and knocked in a pair of runs in the second inning.

Palmer sent nine men to the plate in the second and 10 in the third inning. Starter John Ellenberger finally was relieved after 2 1-3 frames by Dave Gurlule, who gave up two unearned runs the rest of the way.

Johnson struck out nine and walked three, allowing only one man as far as second. That one was Gary Topping, who got the second Trinidad single. Johnson threw wild in a pick-off attempt and Topping was awarded second. It was Palmer's only error.

Palmer breaks from South Central League action this week after taking its seventh straight SCL victory and its 10th win of the year with no losses. The Terrors host upstate power Arvada West Saturday at 10 a.m. in Memorial Park. The next league encounter for the Tribe will be Tuesday against Pueblo South in Memorial Park.

AFA Linksters Seek Fourth Win Over CC

The Air Force Academy golf team will be shooting for its fourth straight victory this afternoon when the Falcons take on Colorado College at the Broadmoor. Tuesday, the Cadets made it three in a row and boosted the season's record to 3-2 with a victory over Denver University, 20½-6½.

Jamie Gough was again medalist for the Falcons and match, his third straight, with a 73 round that beat out DU's Dennis English by a single stroke. Gough also paced the AFA in the leafoff match on a 2½-1½ win over English in the singles.

AFA 20½, DENVER 6½

SINGLES—Jamie Gough (RF) def. English, 2½-1½. Jim Newendorp (AF) def. Basset, 2-1. Nick Neate (AF) def. Fay, 3-0. Longfellow (DU) def. Al Lucki, 3-0. Ramsey Vincent (AF) def. Pierce, 2½-½. Burt Slusher (AF) def. Pesner, 3-0.

DOUBLES — Gough and Newendorf (AF) drew with English and Basset, 1½-1½. Neate and Lucki (AFA) def. Fay and Longfellow, 3-0. Vincent and Slusher (AF) def. Pierce and Pesner, 3-0.

St. Mary's Pulls Upset; Downs Academy High Nine

Behind the steady pitching of Bob Gates, St. Mary's Pirates pulled a stunning upset over the undefeated Will Rogers League leaders from Air Academy High Tuesday afternoon at the Monument Valley Park baseball field, 4-2.

The Kadets, who lead the WRL chase with a 4-0 mark, sent Mark Baker against the Buccaneers which tagged the Academy High right-hander for six hits while their ace chucker John Gannon was given a rest. Gannon will undoubtedly start Friday against winless Widefield as the Big Blue baseballers continue their WRL championship chase.

Coach Bob Spencer's Pirates struck in the second frame for three runs and tallied another score in the third stanza as the normally solid fielding Kadets made a host of miscues which resulted in three unearned runs.

Despite the fact Academy High went under to St. Mary's, the Kadets' ball-hawking centerfielder Bruce Peters collected three to highlight his team's eight-hit attack.

Indy Defeats Bears; Padres Post Squeaker

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

San Diego continues to ride on top of the Pacific Coast League's Eastern Division baseball standings, but the Padres will have to admit it hasn't been an easy trip so far.

The defending league champions have defeated Salt Lake in four of five starts since the season opened Sunday, but only by one run in three of the contests.

And Tuesday night, the Bees stretched their battle five extra innings before the Padres scored a run in the bottom of the 14th for a 2-1 triumph.

The Padres used four pitchers. Bob Olson was credited with the victory, his second of the season. Fred Burdette suffered the loss, making his record 1-1.

At Oklahoma City, catcher Jerry Grote walloped a two-run homer — the 89ers' first of the season — to beat Arkansas 6-4. Up to that time, Arkansas' John Boozer had hurled 99 innings last season and this year without allowing a round-tripper.

Elsewhere in the Eastern Division, Indianapolis coasted to a 5-2 triumph over Denver after scoring all the runs in the first two innings.

Like the Padres, the Western Division leading Tacoma Giants made it four out of five over Hawaii with a 2-1 victory in Honolulu Tuesday night. The Islanders outhit Tacoma 7-4 but couldn't overcome the two-run lead the Giants gained in the second inning.

The Seattle-Portland and Spokane-Vancouver contests were postponed by rain and wet grounds.

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

They've been saying Warren Spahn's over the hill. But maybe he just tumbled into the valley of the jolly green giant.

Spahn, who gave every indication in 1964 that he was getting too old to remain a big winner in the majors, apparently stopped off somewhere between seasons for a vitamin pick-me-up that has taken a couple of years off his 43-year-old left arm.

Making his second start Tuesday night, the winningest southpaw in major league history came through with another strong performance, allowing only one earned run in a 3-2 victory over Los Angeles that brought him his first triumph as a New York Met and the 357th of his career.

Spahn, won 23 games for Milwaukee in 1963, plummeted to a 6-13 mark last season with a 5.28 ERA. But he never once assumed he was over the hill.

"I am sound physically," he pointed out during spring training. "I just wasn't pitching enough last year. I have to work regularly to be effective.

He proved his point against the Dodgers, working into the ninth with a four-hit shutout.

Then a single by Wes Parker and an error by Ed Kranepool opened the door and the Dodgers stuck their foot in it with run-producing singles by Tommy Davis and John Roseboro.

But with the tying and winning runs on first and third, Spahn reared back into his high kick and pitched out of the jam. He struck out Jim Lefebvre for strikeout No. 2,500 of his career, got Ron Fairly on a grounder and finished with a flourish by striking out John Kennedy.

Elsewhere, Roberto Clemente, still underweight from a battle with malaria this spring, drove in two runs with a pair of singles in Pittsburgh's 3-1 victory over San Francisco and Philadelphia edged Houston 2-1 in 13 innings on Ruben Amaro's key single. The other clubs were not scheduled.

Spahn was locked in a scoreless duel with Dodger starter Claude Osteen, who had allowed only three hits, until the eighth when Roy McMillan's squeeze bunt brought in Johnny Lewis.

Lewis produced the other New York runs with a two-run single in the ninth inning.

Clemente, who has six hits in his last 12 at-bats, singles following Bill Virdon's double in the first inning and drove in another Pirate run in the fifth after Dick Schofield singled and moved to second on a grounder. Schofield's sacrifice fly in the second inning produced the other run.

Willie Mays provided the only San Francisco run with his third homer of the season. Mays' 420-foot belt came off Bob Friend, who needed Al McBean's relief help over the final 2 2-3 innings to get his second victory without a loss.

The Phillies edged the Astros in the 13th when reliever Hal Woodeshick issued two-out walks to Cookie Rojas and Frank Thomas before Amaro followed with his game-winning hit off Claude Raymond.

Hawks Big Guns Stifled As Canadiens Triumph

CHICAGO (AP) — "If they can keep those two big guys quiet, we'll have won half the battle," says Montreal goalie Gump Worsley.

Montreal had kept the two guys quiet and has already won half the battle in the Stanley Cup National Hockey League championship.

The Canadiens scored a 2-0 victory over the Chicago Black Hawks Tuesday night and have won the first two games of the best-of-7 series in Montreal.

For the second successive game, Bobby Hull and Stan Mikita, Chicago's one-two scoring punch, failed to produce. Hull is Montreal's No. 1 target. So far Claude Provost has done a brilliant job of guarding the Golden Jet.

Hull was held to only two shots on goal in the second game, in which Jean Beliveau and Dick Duff scored power play goals in the second and third periods, respectively, to give Montreal its commanding edge.

Not only have Hull and Mikita been stopped, but the Hawks desperately miss Pierre Pilote and Kenny Wharram, a couple of injured stars.

Pilote, the All-Star defenseman, captain and playmaker, is out with an injured left shoulder. Wharram is suffering from bruised knees. Whether they will be able to play when the series resumes in Chicago Thursday night is questionable.

The Hawks had only 18 shots on goal while Montreal took 31 and sent two past goalie Glenn Hall.

The Hawks are hoping for a change in their fortunes on their home ice. In the semifinals they lost the first two games in Detroit only to roar back and take the series in seven games.

Hull remarked after Tuesday's game, "We didn't look any better when we lost the first two in Detroit. We'll bounce back."

Montreal Coach Toe Blake attributed the Canadiens' success to "good skating and good goal tending. Provost has the stamina it takes to stay with Hull all night."

When asked about Chicago's injuries, Blake said, "Everyone seems to forget we lost two good players in Jacques Laperriere and Gilles Tremblay."

Kansas Coach Is Fired As Policy Feud Continues

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — A two-year feud over athletic policy at the University of Kansas led to the firing Tuesday of Bill Easton, veteran track coach, and more changes may be coming.

Easton, whose athletes won 38 Big Eight team championships, two NCAA titles and eight Olympic gold medals, was dismissed by Wade Stinson, 37, hired as athletic director a year ago by Chancellor W. Clarke Wescoe.

The 61-year-old coach charged that Stinson was under orders to cut down athletic expenditures and made him the first target because of personal animosity and because track doesn't operate in the black.

"I think it's time someone — and it'll probably have to be the alumni — determine which way they want things to go here, not only in track, but in all sports."

Stinson said Easton was fired because he was unwilling "to follow administrative and financial procedure necessary to successful functioning of the athletic program — procedures which coaches of other sports have no difficulty in following." Stinson wouldn't elaborate.

Wescoe was on vacation. An effigy of Stinson was burned on the campus Tuesday night by a group of 200 students.

Two years ago alumni boosters wanted Football Coach Jack Mitchell as athletic director to replace A. C. (Dutch) Lonborg, who had reached retirement age. Wescoe proposed a three-man board instead. The struggle wasn't resolved and Lonborg was asked to stay on a year past retirement.

Stinson was the personal choice of Wescoe, and his hiring was a surprise in Big Eight conference circles because Stinson went into the job with no experience in coaching or in athletic administration.

Easton said Stinson's hiring "was a case of an amateur telling career pros what to do." The coach added "I'm willing to be a sacrifice if it will get us straightened out."

Mitchell said Easton's dismissal stunned him.

"Bill and I are close friends," the football coach said. "He is a highly respected colleague and one of the greatest sports figures in the history of Kansas athletics."

Easton wondered out loud if the next move would be elimination of the Kansas Relays, which draws national attention but operates in the red. During the 40th Relays Saturday, spring football information was distributed in the press box. In capital letters at the top was "The Sport That Pays The Way."

The coach said he has no plans, has never worked under a contract and will finish as KU track coach June 30.

Mantilla Muscles Sox To Win Over Senators

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Instead of belting the ball between fielders and over fences while moving from one of six positions to another, he's just rapping the ball between fielders and over fences.

Mantilla, maintaining the power he discovered in 1964, drove in all of Boston's runs Tuesday in the Red Sox' 5-2 triumph over Washington. It was the only American League game scheduled.

The 30-year-old Puerto Rican got the Red Sox off to a fast start with a first-inning grand slam home run — the first of his career and the first in the league this season. Two innings later, he singled across Boston's final run.

The performance increased Mantilla's 1965 output to a .368 batting average, two homers and 10 runs batted in. No one else in the AL has more than seven RBI while only Tony Conigliaro, hitting .556, has a better average with Boston.

Mantilla's slugging has helped the Red Sox to four victories in their first five games and the AL lead.

Acquired from the New York Mets for the 1963 season, Mantilla burst forth last year as a power hitter, reaching career highs of 30 home runs and 64 runs batted in. His .289 average was scond best in his nine-year career.

Mantilla's homer production was noteworthy for two other reasons — in eight previous seasons he had hit a total of 35, and only Dick Stuart, with 33, topped him on the Red Sox.

While he was compiling his lustrous record, Mantilla was moving all over the Boston defense. He played at six different spots — all three outfield posts, second base, shortstop and third base.

Boston opponents would just as soon see him on the bench.

The Red Sox went out today to try and continue their winning ways, a mannerism they weren't expected to possess this season. They were scheduled to play Chicago in one of four afternoon games.

The other three involved the league's final home openers — Kansas City at Detroit, Los Angeles at Cleveland and Minnesota at New York. Baltimore was scheduled to play Washington in a night game.

In the National League Tuesday, New York and Warren Spahn edged Los Angeles 3-2, Philadelphia nipped Houston 2-1 in 13 innings and Pittsburgh defeated San Francisco 3-1.

Gilchrist Still Holding Out Bronco Pact

DENVER (UPI)—The Denver Broncos had seven veterans and 35 rookies and free agents in the fold today, but fullback Cookie Gilchrist still had not signed his contract.

The latest veterans to sign contracts are quarterback John McCormick and offensive guard-center Jerry Sturm.

The Broncos obtained the 250-pound Gilchrist from Buffalo in an off-season trade, but he has not signed.

Other veterans already signed include Abner Haynes, Jackie Lee, Don Chackleford, LeRoy Moore and Hewritt Dixon.

McCormick has been working out in Denver for the past three weeks. He underwent knee surgery during the off season.

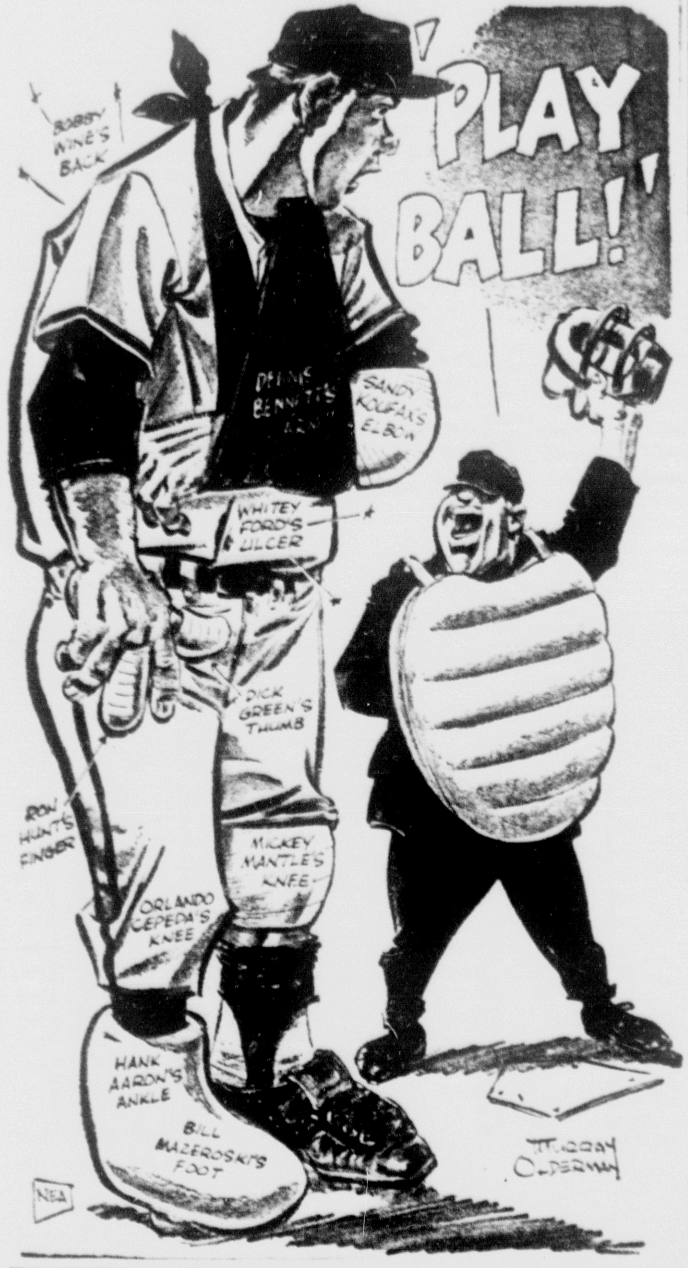
'HE MUST BE KIDDING'



High School Drops Fielder Because -- He's a Girl

By BOB WESTON
United Press International

NEW PORT, Ky. (UPI)—The Newport High School baseball team has to play this season without one of its best outfielders—because she's a girl.

"I don't care what they say, it's a stupid rule," pouted pretty Patsy Kidney, a thorough-going tomboy in outlook but unmistakeably all girl in appearance.

The blue-eyed brunette was talking about the Kentucky High School Athletic Association regulation which bars girls from competition with boys in baseball.

"I know I can beat out several boys on our team," said the 18-year-old coed. "If I didn't think so, I never would have gone out for baseball."

Veteran Newport Coach Stan Arnzen chimed in, "no kidding, she's good enough to be on our team. On the basis of ability, I'd have to cut some of the boys before I would drop her from the team."

"They thought it was a joke when she first came out," Arnzen related. "But she showed she belonged right away. The second pitch thrown to her in practice, she lined into center field."

Overhearing the conversation, Newport pitcher Everett Merrill observed, "I know she wasn't an easy out when I pitched to her."

One would think the shapely and vivacious coed would be booked solid with dates. But Patsy isn't and she doesn't worry about it.

"When I go out on a date and we go bowling or play ping pong or something like that, I always seem to win," she said. "Then the boy doesn't ask me out again. I can't help it—I just want to win at anything I play."

Patsy comes by her athletic ability honestly as her father, Jim Kidney, was once a ballplayer in the Pittsburgh Pirates farm system.

"I guess he always wished I was a boy," she said. "He has played pitch and catch with me since I was real little and taught me most of what I know about baseball. I know he hoped I could play baseball this year."

Newport's prettiest athlete excels in girls' softball and basketball. She also swims and shoots golf in the 90s, but baseball is her first love.

"Sure we might have some problems finding her a dressing room and showers at some schools," Coach Arnzen conceded. "But I've got to admit it's a shame she can't play."

He said he probably would use her as a scorekeeper the rest of the season and let her continue to hit fungo balls in practice.

Bride Fires 580 To Move Team To Third Spot

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — The 48th annual Woman's International Bowling Congress Tournament moved into action today with a bride of only one week the toast of the lanes Monday night.

Judy Johnson, a newlywed from Vancouver, Wash., had a 580 on 223-199-158 as her team, Draperies by Erma, scored a 2424 to take over third place in the Division II standings.

No changes took place among the Division I leaders but Division II had several newcomers in the doubles and singles Monday.

Three bowlers made the top ten in the singles of the Division II. Hilma Yuskat, a Portland waitress with a 141 average, had a 547 series for seventh place. Janice Wilkens, Kalispell, Mont., has 545 for eighth place. Shirley Lacey, Seattle, has 543 for ninth place.

ASU Gains 11th Victory in Row

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Arizona State University whipped New Mexico 4-1 Monday night in a Western Athletic Conference baseball game.

The win was the 11th straight for the Sun Devils, who defeated Sul Ross of Texas 14-2 in an afternoon game.

Alamosa Wants Training Site for Olympics

By DONALD P. MYERS
United Press International

ALAMOSA, Colo. (UPI)—This chilly, mountain-locked southern Colorado town is trying to solve a tall problem for the 1968 Olympics at Mexico City.

Alamosa business and civic leaders are working hard to make their San Luis Valley community an Olympic training ground, and one of the nations top physiologists is in favor on the idea.

Dr. C. B. Favour, chief of physiology at National Jewish Hospital in Denver, supports such a preconditioning for any athletes headed for the high-altitude 1968 Olympics.

Dr. Favour has completed a two-year study, financed by the U.S. Army, to find new ways to speed up the body's adjustment to quick changes from low to high altitudes.

Army Study

The Army financed Dr. Favour's study to find out, among other things, why Indian Army troops failed to fight effectively when rushed to the Himalaya Mountains to repel Communist invaders a couple of years ago.

The Indian troops were strangers to the high altitudes. They suffered headaches, nausea, sleeplessness and mental confusion. Some died.

In his study Dr. Favour found that the human body should be preadapted for sudden trips to high altitudes where there is less oxygen in the air.

He said the altitude change may affect some athletes at Mexico City. Athletes in events like the shot put, the sprints, and the discus—events based on a shotr burst of strength—probably will not be affected by the rare air.

"But, it will be necessary for longer distance runners and swimmers to be at that altitude for a time previously" to adapt their bodies to the change in height, Dr. Favour said.

Colorado Gov. John A. Love termed the Alamosa Olympic Training Project Committee "an excellent idea" that "has my full support."

"Our committee... has discussed this problem long range and has already recommended to the U.S. Olympic Association that the 1968 team train in your general area."

Campus Site

Adams State Coach Jack Cotton, who is president of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) Coaches Association, said two athletes already have indicated interest.

One is Buddy Edelsen of Sioux Falls, S.D., who was sixth in the marathon at the Rome Olympics in 1960. He said he plans to enroll at Adams State and train for the 1968 games.

The other is Paul Degalaskis of Crete. Degalaskis, high jump champion of Greece, said training facilities on Crete are "completely inadequate."

Dr. Favous had another reason, too, in favor of pre-Mexico City training for American athletes at Alamosa.

"Unpleasant personality traits such as temper tantrums, tendencies to goof off and cheat, come out at high altitudes," he said. "The mountains take the veneer off a gentleman."

Harvard Football Coach Hospitalized

The University made the announcement Monday. Yoviesin has been admitted to the hospital for treatment of a heart murmur and an operation appears to be indicated.

The University said Yoviesin went to the Rochester, Minn., clinic as a result of symptoms which appeared following a virus infection last fall.

Hungarian Wins Junior Sabre Title

ROAR OF APPROVAL

NAPLES (AP) — One of the most avid television fans in these parts is Milord, a seven-foot long, two-year-old lion belonging to Beppino Russo of nearby Piano di Sorrento. Milord comes in from his job of guarding the orchards every time the TV set is turned on. And he sits entranced until the show is over. He shows no preference — sports events, music or advertising — he seems to like them all.

HOW TO END YEAR WITH A SURPLUS

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — The City of Lexington started the new year with a hidden surplus of $1,040.

Finance Director Robert Johnson said it was an oversight that the money was appropriated for a day nursery. The nursery had gone out of business 1½ years ago.

Slender Model Newest Import From Britain

By CHARLES STORER

NEW YORK (AP) — Jennie Chillcott is one of Britain's more attractive exports to the United States, and, looking at her, it is little wonder the demand here is high.

Jennie is a tall, slender model who typifies the "British look" that is important now in the fashion world.

"The Americans are going for the British look in girls, in clothes, in lots of things," she said Tuesday in an interview. "And with this British look they've sort of been yelping for British models to come over here."

Jennie arrived in New York last September, and already is well established as a model in the leading women's stores in the city and for fashion designers bringing out new lines.

She grew up in Liverpool and Cardiff and went to school, and college briefly, in Nottingham.

At 17, Jennie went to London and became a model. She specialized in show work, rather than photographic modeling.

She says that since the British look is the "in" look here now, the fact she is British "gives me a lift" when applying for a job.

She finds life in the United States "fantastic." Though here only six months, she has become a devotee of New York and San Francisco restaurants and New York night life. She has also learned to ski and has visited most of the major ski resorts in the Northeast.

Escape Urge Turns Into Longer Stay

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — An unquenchable desire to escape turned a 30-day jail sentence into several years behind bars for Douglas Neal.

Neal, 32, drew the minor sentence as a prowler in 1960 in Atlanta. Today, five years and four months later, he is still in jail because he can't resist the urge to break out.

Neal served 20 days of his original sentence before escaping. An Atlanta judge sentenced him to one year after his capture.

He fled again and this time was sentenced in an Atlanta court to five years.

Last summer, Neal had less than a year to serve on his five-year term when he and two other prisoners escaped a work gang in a stolen dump truck. They were recaptured and that led to his latest sentencing by Judge C. Wesley Killebrew in Richmond County Superior Court.

"Why in the world did you escape again when your time was so near up?" the judge asked.

"I just got that old liquor in my head, judge," Neal replied.

The startled judge asked where Neal had acquired liquor.

Neal said he and two other prisoners had bought two pints of liquor at a service station. He said they were wearing their prison uniforms.

"I didn't pursue this line of questioning," said the judge Tuesday night. "I figure it wasn't up to me to find out how they got it wearing prison uniforms."

"I told Neal, 'You just can't seem to sit still, can you?'" Killebrew said. "he didn't have an answer for that one."

HINTS FROM Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:

Several weeks ago I used the last sheet in a conventional style grocery list - pad, and it seemed I could never find anything to jot down my grocery list.

Then, as I was unloading my groceries, I thought, "Why not use the reverse side of the cash register receipt for next week's list?"

It's perfect . . . narrow and long enough that I should never run out of space. —Kay Burress

No more running around looking for a piece of paper to write the grocery list on . . . just thumb tack or tape that cash register tape on your bulletin board or with a magnet on the refrigerator or metal cabinet, as soon as you take it out of the grocery bag.—Heloise

Dear Heloise:

For women who do their laundry away from home, here is a new use for empty coffee cans with plastic lids.

Put your detergent mixture in the can and with a triangular, beverage can opener, punch a hole. This will leave one side of the opening attached in the plastic lid.

Put another plastic lid on the bottom of the can, and this prevents it from sliding or spilling in the car, going to and from the laundry.

Letter Of Laughter

Dear Heloise:

I know people think I'm lazy when they see my dirty windows, but I have a good reason.

In summer the dirt filters the sunlight a bit making the house cooler, and in winter when the outdoors is so bare, it keeps people from looking in at "me" . . . —Donna

Dear Heloise:

About those boxes of snapshots . . .

Get a cheap loose-leaf binder (like school children use) place snapshot in center of the page, write under it the names of the people and on the opposite page "make-them-come-alive" with several sentences.

My mother has done this for me and now has a series which she calls "From Lamplight to Satellite"!

My booklet is priceless and "personal"! —Dorothy S. Hilland

Dear Heloise:

I puncture holes in the bottom of an aluminum foil pie pan and use this as a lid for my spaghetti sauce or soup.

It will let the steam out, keep the sauce or soup from becoming watery, and it will prevent the usual splashes and splatters from getting all over the stove. —Mrs. Gerald R. Miller

Dear Heloise:

The crack in that second refrigerator in the garage can easily be patched with the same patching used for surfboards.

Worked wonderfully on the inside of my freezer lid that was accidently cracked. E.M.C.

Dear Heloise:

While working on crewel embroidery, I keep each group of colored yarn in a waxed sandwich bag.

It keeps all of the yarn clean, and it is so easy to see the colors I want since the yarn is visible through the waxed paper. —Jean Farrell

LBJ Commends Southerners For Striving

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has commended Southerners striving for better race relations and said:

"Neither a voting rights act nor any other civil rights act will solve the civil rights problems of the nation or insure equal justice and equal opportunity for all our Negro citizens.

The President specifically commended the 22 Alabama business groups that advertised their commitment toward better racial communication and the leaders of Selma for deciding to endorse the advertisements.

"Assuredly," Johnson said, "racial problems will persist, not only in Alabama, and not only in the South. But for this to happen in a city where group feelings have been inflamed suggests, I think, that men of reason and good will can prevail in all parts of our country. There could be no more encouraging fact."

The President's statement, issued Tuesday by the White House, was made at a Cabinet meeting.

In it, he noted Congress is returning after an Easter recess and said he hopes it "will now continue its excellent display of deliberation with speed and enact the voting rights bill without delay."

Senate debate on the bill was to have started today, but the death of Sen. Olin D. Johnston, D-S.C., has caused a cancellation of all proceedings.

Single Ballot Helps Improvement District

EUREKA, Calif. (AP) — A single ballot Tuesday formed a resort improvement district near the Pacific Ocean in Northern California's Humboldt County.

The same vote also elected a five-man board of directors.

Since none of the resort district land in a planned 4,200-parcel development has been sold, only a representative of the company owning the land had the right to vote.

BOOTLEGGING

The term bootlegging came into general use in the United States as far back as 1880, when it was derived from the practice of carrying flasks concealed in boot tops, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

June Allyson Claims Barber Abused Her

Miss Allyson, 43, divorced Maxwell, 33, Tuesday.

A few hours later Maxwell asked for dismissal of Miss Allyson's divorce decree, and the court set Friday morning for a hearing.

The actress' attorney, Sydney Williams, told newsmen that Maxwell had signed papers agreeing to a default decree.

The couple married Oct. 12, 1963, and separated last Aug. 3. The actress met Maxwell when he was the barber for her late husband, actor Dick Powell.

Maxwell is scheduled to appear April 27 on a charge of disturbing the peace during a quarrel with Miss Allyson April 11. He is free on $56 bail.

He filed Monday a cross-complaint for divorce, alleging he had suffered mental anguish because of alleged heavy drinking by Miss Allyson. He asked a share of her salary and said it is $20,000 a month.

Maxwell, a Newport Beach barber, has been living at the couple's home there. He said he has been suffering from tuberculosis.

Dear Abby--

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Fess Up, Now!

DEAR ABBY: Talk about a mess. This is the worst. My boy friend and I eloped during the semester break and were married by a Justice of the Peace. We told our parents about it and they said we shouldn't tell anybody. They want us to announce our "engagement" as soon as school is out in June, and then they'll give us a big church wedding in September. Well, as luck would have it, I think I am pregnant. I can't wait until September for a big fancy wedding for obvious reasons. I hate to disappoint my mother, but I think I ought to tell her. But how? —JUMPED THE GUN

DEAR JUMPED: Tell your mother that you have a date with the stork—and waiting until September is for the birds.

DEAR ABBY: Can you find me a good, true woman? I am a retired Merchant Marine officer who has been everywhere and seen everything. I am tired of knocking around. I am pushing 60, but nobody takes me for any older than 45, or 50, tops. I have a nice little savings account and a pension for life. Never having been an angel myself, I wouldn't expect one, but I would like a healthy, good-looking woman who wants to settle down with one man from now on. I am partial to plump girls. I speak both Italian and Spanish. If you will send me an address, I'll go anywhere. —SLIM

DEAR SLIM: Don't start packing until you've taken a good look in your own back yard. Just let a few friends know that you are interested in meeting a good woman who wants to settle down, and you'll need police protection.

DEAR ABBY: I am the proud father of a big, handsome college freshman. When this kid comes home for weekend vacations, he helps himself to my neckties. Now I wouldn't mind so much if he returned my ties in the same condition that he finds them. But he knots them peculiarly and the tie is a lifeless rag by the time he's worn it once. He has more ties than I have, but he wears mine because he says he likes my "taste." I suppose I should be flattered and, in a way, I am. But how would YOU solve this problem, Abby? —POOR DAD

DEAR DAD: What you need is stronger family ties. And buy enough for both of you!

Brookings Institution Names New Director

WASHINGTON (AP) — Kermit Gordon, director of the Bureau of the Budget since December 1962, is resigning about June 1 to become vice president of the Brookings Institution, a private research center.

He will be succeeded by Charles L. Schultze, who quit less than 10 weeks ago as assistant budget director and was told by President Johnson: "I hope that I may call on you for help in the future because we have much unfinished business to see to."

The shift was announced Tuesday by the White House.

Gordon, 48, a former Rhodes Scholar and economics professor, first came to Washington in 1961 as a member of President John F. Kennedy's Council of Economics Advisers.

U.S., North Viets Stand Pat on Peace Condition

TOKYO (AP) — North Viet Nam and the United States stood pat today on their conditions for peace in Viet Nam. Each said the other must get out of South Viet Nam.

North Viet Nam rejected an appeal by 17 nonaligned nations for unconditional talks on Viet Nam, listing "withdrawal of foreign military personnel" as one of four conditions for any settlement.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk in turn said North Viet Nam must declare it is prepared to "stop sending arms and men over the border."

"If that point is taken care of, then other things could begin to happen speedily," Rusk said.

The North Vietnamese statement, broadcast by the official North Viet Nam news agency, also ruled out any mediation by the United Nations as inappropriate and contrary to the 1954 Geneva agreement which partitioned Viet Nam.

The North Vietnamese statement had been awaited in Washington as the key to the Hanoi regime's position on President Johnson's April 7 offer for "unconditional discussions" as well as on the appeal signed April 1 by the 17 nonaligned nations in Belgrade.

The Hanoi broadcast repeated Communist demands made a week ago as a first reaction to Johnson's speech. U.S. officials rejected these at the time, but Undersecretary of State George W. Ball left the door open, saying the North Vietnamese should reply to the appeal by the nonaligned nations.

The new broadcast called for:

1. Recognition of basic national rights of the Vietnamese people.

2. Withdrawal of foreign military personnel in accord with the 1954 Geneva agreement on Viet Nam.

3. Settlement of South Viet Nam's internal affairs "in accordance with the program" of the Communist Viet Cong.

4. Peaceful reunification of Viet Nam "without any foreign interference."

"What is missing in the Vietnamese four points is a declaration that they are prepared to stop sending arms and men over the border and that is the key to the matter," he continued. "If that point is taken care of, then other things could begin to happen speedily."

Associated Press special correspondent John M. Hightower reported from Washington that officials there consider the efforts to open peace talks have substantially collapsed. They said Red China and the Soviet Union are likely to become increasingly involved in the war.

The first of the 17 nonaligned nations to comment on Hanoi's rejection was India. A government spokesman in New Delhi said the North Vietnamese stand was "highly regrettable."

Elsewhere on the diplomatic front:

Canadian Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson said the key to peace in Viet Nam is for North Viet Nam to abandon its policy of aggression and leave its neighbors alone. He added that any solution in Indochina would have to include guarantees for the independence and neutrality of Laos, Cambodia and South Viet Nam.

President Johnson's special envoy Henry Cabot Lodge arrived in Canberra, Australia, and said the United States could derive great benefits from Australia, and said the United States could derive great benefits from Australia's advice on Viet Nam.

In London, 20 Labor members of Parliament joined 15,000 ban-the-bomb demonstrators at a rally in Trafalgar Square which heard criticism of U.S. policy in Viet Nam.

"If the British government, Labor government or not, has declared itself in support of American policy (In Viet Nam), it has ceased to speak for the British people," said Sydney Silverman, a left-wing Labor parliamentarian.

HE'S HIGH ON JOB

He recently painted the courthouse tower, some 100 feet high.

"How does it feel to swing on ropes with only air beneath?" he was asked.

By REX THOMAS

SELMA, Ala. (AP) — Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. says there have been signs of progress in the Negro's struggle for civil rights in Alabama, but adds, "we must make sure that noble words are implemented."

The Negro integration leader made his first visit in a month Monday to the area where he began the battle for Negro voting rights three months ago. He climaxed a busy day of conferences with Negro leaders by addressing a cheering crowd of Negroes Monday night at Browns Chapel A.M.E. church, headquarters of the civil rights drive.

The most notable sign of progress, King said, was a recent newspaper advertisement by Chambers of Commerce and other business leaders from around the state calling for law and order, fair employment opportunities and compliance with the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

"That at least represents a positive step forward," he said. "But we can't allow any developments to lull us to sleep. No longer can we live on promises. We must make sure that noble words are implemented all over Alabama and that Negroes are able to get jobs like anybody else."

King said that more than 150 Negroes have been fired from their jobs in Selma for taking part in the rights movement.

"We can't take this lying down," he said. "We are going to call on our friends all over the nation to help us." We will withdraw our economic support and spend our money only where we are respected."

He promised his chanting, hymn-singing listeners that "we are in Selma and Alabama to stay until the Negro gets his freedom."

King told newsmen afterwards that response to his appeal for a nationwide boycott of Alabama products "has shifted tremendously in our favor" across the nation.

He cut his speech short and headed for Montgomery to catch a plane back to Atlanta.

Earlier, he met with civil rights leaders in Camden after police turned back two marches to the Wilcox County courthouse.

King arrived while about 125 Negroes, their march halted by police, stood beside a street near a Negro church. He led the marchers back to the church for a rally and strategy meeting.

As he drove into town, King was handed a state court injunction prohibiting him and other civil rights leaders from taking pupils out of school to demonstrate.

Minutes after he left the Antioch Baptist church and headed for Selma, nearly 400 Negro pupils marched from the church. They were stopped by police.

King told a newsman he had not read the injunction but that he followed the theory that pupils demonstrated "on their own volition."

An associate, the Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy, told the church rally, "I'm sick and tired of injunctions and I'm going to break injunctions."

Negroes were granted a parade permit by the Camden City Council for marching to the voter registrar's office once a jail — but they insisted on marching to the courthouse to register. Police halted them.

The Negroes said they tried to register at the courthouse because in "other states they go to the courthouse." The office was moved from the courthouse about 18 months ago.

"I don't know why they are raising hell about where they register," said Sheriff P. C. Jenkins. "I told them I took the test out here under an oak. The office was moved to the old jail because there's just not enough space in the courthouse."

Boards of registrars were in session throughout Alabama for the second time this month. The number of those who applied was not made public. Applicants are notified by mail.

DON'T THINK SHE DIDN'T TRY

He picked up one snapshot and was told "that's me. The picture was made about 25 years ago."

"Mommy," the boy asked, "Why didn't you keep the face you had?"

Chevalier Still Manages Magic In Own Show

By JORIE LUELOFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Two French institutions are the same age, and at times it seems a toss-up as to which will endure the longer — the Eiffel Tower or Maurice Chevalier.

The ageless Frenchman — actually he will be 77 on Sept. 12 — recently embarked on a project from which most entertainers would flinch — a one-man show consisting of only himself and piano accompaniment. Enthusiastic audiences are reaffirming the fact that the Chevalier magic is still going strong.

"I feel that I have never been in such wonderful contact with the people," he says in the vivid French lilt that has charmed generations of Americans. "It's wonderful to go across so many years and still go deeper in the affection of the people."

"First," he says, "there's the luck of keeping enough health to do it. And secondly, it must be that I'm more a personality than an actor. I'm just natural. Maybe they feel a little bit of the warmth I've always had in my way of living. I go through new fashions, new generations — I think that's my luck.

"To be able to be what I am in a profession where things go roaring and roaring and roaring," he sums up with a lot of raspy French R's, "that's my little miracle."

When his four-week New York run ends in early May, Chevalier will take his show to Boston for a week before heading home to his country estate near Paris.

"I don't work all year long — boom, boom, boom all the time," he says, slamming fist into hand to punctuate the booms. "I go around the world half the year, and the other half I have a beautiful holiday at home."

That does not mean semi-retirement. The French star is always eager to embark on a new project. After a 65-year career in records, films and on stage, a fresh idea has captured his interest.

"I'd like to have a real great part as an old man in a picture in which the story would go around an old man. I'm not what you call an actor, so it's got to be playing a man of my age that I understand — a man that has a little bit of my ways."

"It will come," he says, "it will come one day.

"When I retire it will be because my health would force me to retire. My work is the greatest happiness I have in my life now — all the rest — I've had it wonderfully. As long as I can do it, I will go on doing it, because that's my greatest kick in life — my greatest pride."

Terror by Klan Is Charged by Negro Group

By BILL CRIDER

BOGALUSA, La. (AP) — The civil rights conflict which has kept this southeast Louisiana town on edge is showing some marked differences from similar tests in the Deep South.

Observers here note a relatively minor role played by local Negro ministers and churches — and also a new accent of defense by Negroes.

Many white citizens say Negroes face no barriers to voter registration in Bogalusa and that they can't understand why the community has been chosen as a target for civil rights demonstrations.

Negro leaders contend that Bogalusa has allowed the Ku Klux Klan too much power, and that as a result the 20-year-old Civic and Voters League turned militant.

"Man, this place is something else," said Wilfred T. Ussery, San Francisco, vice chairman of the National Congress of Racial Equality. "I've never seen so many guns."

Nearly everywhere in the Deep South, the civil rights movement has involved the Negro churches. In Bogalusa, says Ussery, "We can't even find a church for a meeting place. It is a direct result of terror."

The Rev. Alton Owens, pastor of Bethel Baptist, a Negro church, says he doesn't think "ministers should participate in the civil rights movement too much."

The Civic and Voters League, prime mover in the current drive, consists of people "who don't follow their pastors too well," he added. "I don't think it's the pastors' duty to follow them."

Of the 22,000 residents, 9,000 are Negroes. Mayor Jesse H. Cutrer Jr. said the city has about 8,000 voetrs, 1,200 of them Negroes.

The mayor said there is no obstacle to Negro voter registration other than the fact that registrants must drive 20 miles to Franklinton, the parish seat, and take registration tests there.

White citizens, other than city officials and police, don't care to discuss the situation with newsmen.

It started last January, when CORE was invited in to help the league stage a public accommodations test with Negroes attempting to eat at white restaurants and lunch counters.

"Everything was supposed to slip right back to where it was the next day," said A. Z. Young, 41, league president. "But the next day, we tried it again. Things been popping ever since."

Young said three presidents of the league quit or were ousted in rapid secession because they wanted to put the drapes on the accelerating drive.

"The chair was empty for a long time before they finally talked me into it," said Young.

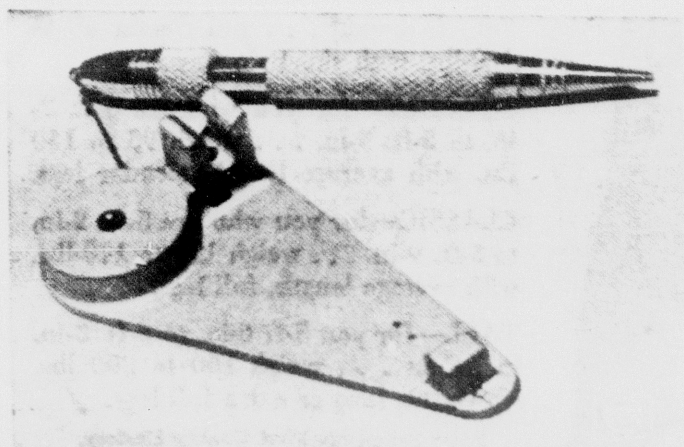
"I'm an old warrior," he said. "I put in 168 days of straight combat in Europe in World War II when I was a platoon sergeant in a tank outfit. The way things are now, things are about as bad as they were then."

The Deacons, an armed group formed last December, stand night guard at the homes of leaders in the main Negro sector of Bogalusa.

"When you drive into that area at night, turn on the dome light of your car so they can see who you are," advised an FBI agent. "Make a lot of noise; don't seem to be sneaking around."

The Deacons say they are not affiliated with any group.

"If it wasn't for the Deacons, I know the Klan would already have come into here and killed or whipped the leaders of this movement," said Young. "But the Deacons give them something to think about."



NOTEWORTHY NOTE-TAKERS—Pencils will be essential equipment for astronauts in the Gemini spacecraft, but they'll be costly. Space exploring is expensive—34 of these pencil, nylon cord, take-up reel and baseplate "systems" will cost $4,382.50.

Armed Forces News

By STEVE TILLMAN

WASHINGTON (Special to the Gazette Telegraph) — Top level civilian leadership of the Defense Department is really mad over the reported "slipping of a copy of the Air Force pay study to the Navy League which in turn made it public. The Air Force secretary is reported as most unhappy over the incident since it is claimed that the study in question was only a partial study of the whole problem.

Whether or not the Secretary of Defense will cause an investigation into the leak is not known at this time. One thing that seems to be firm on this is that the incident has not helped to improve the difference between the administration and congressional sources over the military pay problem.

Many career officers on duty at the Pentagon are wondering what has happened to the old code of conduct among the military. It used to be that a point could be argued all over the place but once the top man had made the decision everyone on the team loyally supported the decision.

If each individual is to exercise his own option as to what can and cannot be done in an irregular manner, it won't be long before the integrity of the military will be in deep trouble. At least this is the view of some top level people in uniform.

Sgt. Maj. Herbert Sweet, USMC, now on duty with the Third Marine Division, Okinawa, has been selected by Gen. Wallace M. Greene, Jr., commandant of the corps, as the next sergeant major of the corps. He will succeed Sgt. Maj. Thomas J. McHugh. Sweet will be the fourth man to hold the senior enlisted billet of the Marine Corps since it was set up in 1957.

The House approved amended Social Security measure contains a raise in social security benefits amounting to seven per cent. This will be effective as of Jan. 1, 1965 if the Senate approves it. So far any possibility of a raise in military pay of the retirees is not good.

Apparently no pressure is on among members of Congress for it. Unless one of the interested groups, such as the Retired Officers Association, gets cracking soon, any increase will be dependent on recommendations of the Presidential Panel Group. This would mean congressional consideration in 1966.

Our suggestion that all those interested in a military pay raise, as well as a raise in retired pay, write to their senators and congressmen, is certainly bringing results. If the reader does not know the name of his senator or congressman, then just write to the chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, and the chairman of the House Armed Sergices Committee.

Congressional sources agee that every week decreases the possibility of this session of Congress taking any action on the greatly needed Bolte Officer Program. Unless some action is initiated soon, the delay will prove very costly to the military retirement program. The number of retirees has increased to more than 400,000 and is rapidly rising.

The manpower problem of the services is becoming very acute especially with respect to trained enlisted peronnel in those MOS's in short supply. The Army is probably feeling this the most although the Air Force is not far behind.

Much of the shortage is due to the retirement policy of the Army having enlisted personnel move from the active list to the retirement list soon after the completion of 20 years of service.

The Army has initiated an incomplete effort to overcome the problem by asking for volunteers from enlisted men on the retired list, having specialist rating in the critical list, to come back on active duty. In general this will be noncommissioned officers and others in pay grade E-5 and above, that qualify.

Getting back to the subject of letter writing, the attention of the Pentagon has been directed to the fact that some commanders have instructed enlisted personnel not to write. The Army has notified the field to lay off. It is the right and privilege of everyone in uniforms to write to their senators and congressmen on the military pay problem, as well as on retirement rights.

The Army may make changes in rules governing the rules under which combat pay is payable. It looks like there will be a reduction in the minimum time requirement before the soldier can start to collect.

A new directive of the Defense Department will state in no uncertain words the right of men facing administrative discharges to have legal counsel.

Of the 1965 graduating class of the Military Academy only 63 will go to the Engineers, long considered the top arm of the Army. The greatest single group of graduates, numbering 173, will take the Infantry. Looks like the old "Doughboys" have definitely replaced the Cavalry as the elite branch.

The Air Force will retain individual Reserve training units. It will also improve the traininits will not be disturbed if the Pentagon initiates future action to merge the Air Reserve into the Air National Guard.

The following named Air Force brigadier generals have been nominated for promotion to temporary major general. Gilbert L. Pritchard, Robert R. Rowland, Carroll W. McColpin, Robert W. Burns, Alonzo A. Towner, Lewis E. Lyle, Donald W. Graham, Otto J. Glasser, Jay T. Robbins, John W. Vogt Jr., Emmett M. Tally Jr., David M. Jones, Thomas G. Corbin, Harry J. Sands, Jr., Don S. Wenger, and Charles R. Roderick.

Colonels to temporary brigadier generals are: William L. Hamrick, Alvan N. Moore, Robert J. Gibbons, Roland A. Campbell, Joseph J. Kruzel, Sam J. Byerley, William Burke, John M. McNabb, Jack C. Ledford, Guy H. Goddard, Joseph J. Cappucci, Clifford J. Konauer Jr., K. Carlton, George M. Johnson Jr., Robert W. Waltz, John W. Baer, William H. Lumpkin, Edmund F. O'Connor, Robert J. Dixon, and William G. Moore Jr.

Mrs. Kennedy Seeks Help For Group of Retarded

EDITOR'S NOTE — Amid triumph and tragedy, the remarkable Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy daily carries another sorrow — that of her mentally retarded daughter, Rosemary. But there's no time for self-pity. Mrs. Kennedy is busy working to help the thousands of others afflicted as is Rosemary.

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy, looking youthful for all her 75 years, settled herself in an arm chair, and spoke of one of the many sorrows that have punctuated her remarkable life.

It was mid-morning when Rose Kennedy entered the study of her husband, the former ambassador to Great Britain. The brim of her blue straw bonnet was turned back. She wore silk slacks the same color, a flowered blouse, and gold sandals that displayed to advantage her red lacquered nails.

She sat in an unpretentious arm chair, and, having strained a tendon, rested one leg gently on a leather foot sling. In the small book-lined room around her were mementos of her famous family.

Over the fireplace just slightly awry was a framed copy of the inaugural address of her son, the late President John F. Kennedy. Atop the television set were snapshots of the ambassador in healthier days romping with grandchildren. There were also pictures of sons and daughters posed with their offspring.

"We don't usually talk about it," Mrs. Kennedy began hesitantly, focusing her clear blue eyes on some faraway spot. What she meant was that the family does not ordinarily elaborate.

The fact that the Kennedy family had not chosen to remain completely silent has played an important par in the growth of hospitals, institutions and research programs for at least some of the nation's six million mentally retarded.

Rosemary, now 46, was the first daughter and the third Kennedy born to Joseph Patrick and Rose Kennedy. Her elder brothers, Joseph and John, as well as the sister to come later, Kathleen, are now dead.

"Rosemary was one of a large family and so she ran and played and seemed a happy child, and we didn't notice anything wrong at first," said Mrs. Kennedy. "Oh, she would seem a little slow at times — but there is usually always one child in a large family who develops a little less rapidly than the rest."

But as the pretty, blonde child grew older, Mrs. Kennedy began to realize something was wrong.

"I thought," she said, "that if only I could coat this child with a veneer of learning — maybe just enough to know Bach and Da Vinci and whatever kind of scientist might be a part of her life — well, then she might be able to get along all right.

"Then as she matured even more it got to be even more difficult. It is always more difficult for the parent, you know.

"Privileges were a problem too, why couldn't she take a boat out alone when her brothers and sisters were able to do so? These were conflicts in the family, things she could not understand.

"Eventually, it was obvious that she felt more comfortable, was a great deal happier with youngsters like herself, and well, we placed her in this Catholic home."

The Kennedy family could afford trained help and institutional care. Mrs. Kennedy has always been keenly aware of this.

"When I was campaigning for Jack," she recalled, "people would come up and thank me for the Joseph Kennedy Foundation we established as a memorial to my oldest son. We did it because he was very fond of children, and because this business of retardation which was a problem to us had affected so many children.

"I remember one lady especially who said to me, 'Oh Mrs. Kennedy, my son has been waiting for two years to get into such a home but we have no influence. Sometimes I feel like the infant Jesus and His mother — with no place to lay His head and no one to take us in.'"

Within a few years the Kennedy Memorial Foundation discovered that it could not possibly build hospitals and homes fast enough to care only for retarded children.

As a consequence the foundation now emphasizes research, public health education, all preventative measures.

"The important period for preventing brain damage is the nine months after conception," she said. "Do you realize that 30 per cent of the mothers don't receive prenatal care? We need to bring these services to the poor especially."

Mrs. Kennedy appears occasionally at fund-raising benefits. Since her husband's stroke several years ago, she has been unable to attend as many as she would like. She describes his condition as "only fair."

Recently, she has made some television appearances to ease the minds of mothers of retarded children who may worry about the possibility of bearing still another retarded child. She said the chances are slim. In her speech Mrs. Kennedy points out that daughter Rosemary was one out of nine children. The other eight included a president, and two U.S. senators.

THE SARGE—Expert at reading the riot act to television's Gomer Pyle—U.S.M.C. (Jim Nabors) is his tough and often frustrated Sgt. Carter who, in private life, is Frank Sutton, an accomplished actor. Sutton is hoping for a movie role to occupy the four months between television seasons.

D. C. WASH

By GERRY VAN DER HEUVEL

WASHINGTON — President Johnson has his own funny picture book with captions. The brown leather album with his name embossed in gold on the cover lies on a table in the sitting room in the family quarters. The photographs are offbeat shots of the President and others in the Administration.

One is of Bill Moyers, the President's 30-year-old special assistant, talking on the telephone with a glass of milk in his hand. The caption reads: "Well, yes, I am planning to run when I'm old enough."

Another shows a reporter talking to the President at a social function. Johnson has his finger tucked in the reporter's breast pocket. The caption says: "Don't look now, Mr. President, but there's a pickpocket in the room."

There is one of Mrs. Johnson's chubby press secretary, Liz Carpenter, having a conference with Johnson's former press secretary, portly Pierre Salinger, who explains: "It's called a Muddy Mary — one part vodka and two parts Metrecal."

GAG ABOUT WARREN AND A PAPER BAG

Another taken on Air Force 1, the President's plane, includes several Washington dignitaries. All are smiling except Chief Justice Earl Warren, who has turned toward the window with his hand over his mouth. President Johnson is saying with a devilish grin: "It's the little paper bag under the seat, Earl."

Indonesia President Sukarno has told us what we can do with our foreign aid, but apparently he hasn't got the word across to the Indonesians. The U.S. Post Office received this week from an Indonesian artist a proposed design for a commemorative stamp on U.S. aid to Indonesia. The design showed a huge crane labeled "U.S." lowering aid packages on a spot marked Indonesia.

The artist not only is not up on his politics but he's in a dream world when it comes to U.S. postage. It was a 2-cent stamp.

President Johnson's choice of retired Vice Admiral William F. Raborn Jr. to head the CIA was his most important appointment to date, at least so far as the nation's security is concerned. This is how it came about.

NEW HEAD OF CIA WAS SCOUTED BY MACY

Johnson "never even heard of Raborn until Macy recommended him for the job," a source close to the President said. John Macy, chairman of the Civil Service Commission, is Johnson's chief talent scout for top appointments. What the President subsequently learned and liked was that, as the developer of the Polaris weapons program, "Raborn took that Polaris and knew every nut and bolt in it."

Besides his own observations and knowledge of the former vice president of Aerojet General, Macy gave the President the book "Polaris" by James Barr and William Howard to read before he made a decision. After reading the pertinent parts of the book, the President thought he had found his man, but he wanted a closer look.

An invitation to Raborn to spend last weekend at the LBJ Ranch followed. His appointment was announced from there.

Johnson's final decision had been that here was a "real management genius, a fellow who can take on Congress and those admirals above him and all the agency people under him."

WHITE HOUSE RELUCTANT TO USE ITS ZIP CODE

Postmaster General John Gronouski hasn't made much headway in getting the White House to use its zip code number on envelopes and letterheads. The Presidential staff feels its own zip code would be superfluous, as every postman knows where the White House is.

Gronouski thinks, however, that the White House should set an example to help make the nation zip code conscious. In case you're interested the zip code for 1600 Pennsylvania Ave. is 20500.

Mike DiSalle, former OPA administrator and governor of Ohio, has written a book on capital punishment that will be out early this summer. Its title is "Night Need Not Fall," and is an argument against the death penalty. The Democrat is already at work on another book, to be called "Second Choice." It will be, he says, a look at the vice presidency.

Besides writing books, DiSalle has a law practice here and in Columbus.

"There are a lot of people who think we work too hard at the White House," one employe said this week, "but we have to — to get the job done before sunset. After all, we'd rather curse the darkness than light one candle."

The quipster was Liz Carpenter, speaking to the American Society of Newspaper editors.

ALFRED HITCHCOCK GETS OFF SOME QUIPS

George Reedy, she said, was an ideal Presidential press secretary. "He has too much political experience to run for cover and too little to run for the Senate."

Speaking to the same group of editors, television and movie suspense master Alfred Hitchcock noted that in three weeks he will mark the completion of 10 years on television — "a long time to be getting away with murder."

He said he thought it was appropriate for him to address the editors since newspapers "harbor a class of people who, like me, combine movies and murder in a single calling — I refer, of course to the critics."

Speaking of the trend toward more color television, Hitchcock said that if it continued, there would be no black and white programs in a year or two.

"What if newspapers followed suit?" he speculated. "The Times masthead would carry the slogan 'All the news that's fit to tint' and the London Times would simply give up the ghost and print one final edition — edged in black.

"I don't believe that newspapers are seriously threatened by television," he assured the editors, "but I do believe our home delivery is superior to yours. After all, we send our programs directly into the living room. We don't have a small boy throw them into your rose bushes."

PREDICTS HOME BOOM IN VA

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) — Tidwater Virginia is a new entry in the "megalopolis" sweepstakes which envisions a single city over such extended areas as Boston-New York-Washington.

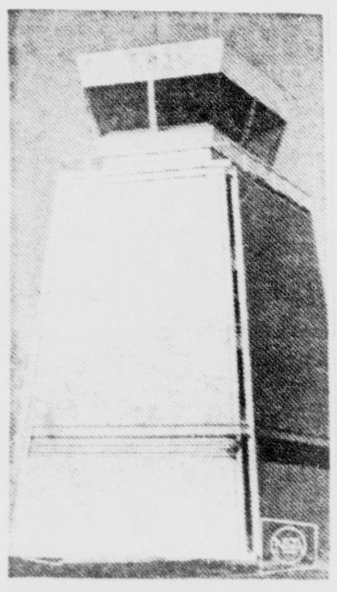
The entire peninsula between the York and the James Rivers, from Richmond to the sea, will be a single continuous city by 1975, Governor Albertis S. Harrison Jr. told a recent gathering of the New York Southern Society. The state's population will double in that decade.

The home - building boom which will be set off by that growth is sparked by an industrial expansion that sees the opening of one new plant, or one major factory addition, in the state every two-and-a-half days.

Tidewater growth is anchored at the south end by the bustling Hampton Roads seaports, with new traffic from the middle west resulting from more efficient, merged railroads. The home market farther north serves industrial growth along the James River, where synthetic fiber and plastics plants led the way.

CABLE DOODLEBUG

PALO ALTO, Calif. (UPI) — A new portable device which enables repairmen to trace the course of buried communications cable and pinpoint defects from above the ground has been developed by the Delcon Division of the Hewlett-Packard Corp.



FIRST OF MANY—Standing tall in Lawton, Okla., is the Federal Aviation Agency's first of 18 standard design control towers built with federal funds for airports with annual operations of 24,000 itinerant take-offs and landings. It's designed to standardize the working environment of controllers.

CONTRACEPTION

The population boom creates interest in family planning and contraception. Large families are wonderful, unless parents are ill-equipped psychologically or economically to care for the youngsters. Often this ends in broken homes, troubled children, and parents with little opportunity to live a constructive life. There is no motivation to correct the situation among the irresponsible.

The extent of contraceptive use depends upon religious and socio - economic situations. Many married couples are interested in spacing their children and limiting the number in order to give each child more attention and love. The effectiveness of oral contraceptives is well established, provided they are used according to directions. These hormones stop the monthly release of the egg from the ovary and change the lining of the uterus, making it difficult for ova to become implanted. Pregnancy occurs when the pills are stopped.

Small plastic intrauterine contraceptive devices (pessary) are gaining in popularity. They were available in Japan & Germany in 1959 but not in this country until recently. They are almost as effective as the oral products when fitted and used properly. The gadgets are made in the shape of a spiral coil, bow, or loop, and come in different sizes. A stainless steel ring also is available.

Physicians were somewhat wary about these devices because of experience with a metal pessary introduced in 1920 or 1930. This mushroom-shaped contraption fit in the cervix in contrast to the newcomers that remain inside the uterus. They were abandoned because of complications such as infection and bleeding.

The early use of the plastic pessary was disappointing because some developed pain, bleeding, and expulsion. Side effects have been reduced considerably with increasing know-how in fitting and use. The device is left in place until pregnancy is desired. They are expelled from the uterus occasionally and the user is advised to check this possibility from time to time. They are suitable for 80 per cent of those interested in this type of birth control.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

A PLACE IN THE SUN

W. F. S. writes: What is meant by the term "developing grandiose idiotion?"

REPLY

Delusions of grandeur occur in some individuals with mental disorders. They believe they are wealthy or exalted in rank. These persons behave in this way to distort the world in order to be assured of a place of significance. I assume the word of idiotion refers to idiot.

CALCIUM ON SPINE

R. E. S. writes: What would cause calcium at the end of the spine in a 35-year-old man?

REPLY

Calcium deposits usually represent the end result of an irritation or infection. They form instead of scar tissue. Calcium also is noted in hardened arteries in this area.

GUM SWALLOWER

J. B. writes: My 2-year-old niece swallows gum instead of chewing it. Will this stuff pass or stick somwhere along the line?

REPLY

It is digested and does not stick. There is no harm in this practice, assuming she swallows a stick now and then.

SORE WON'T HEAL

H. O. writes: Is a tiny scab on an eyelid that never heals likely to be cancerous?

REPLY

Yes, and this is true of any lesion on the skin that acts this way.

Federal Housing Expenditures Figures Vary

By JOHN PIERSON

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Question: How much money is the federal government going to spend on housing this year?

Answer: $10 million.

Answer: $4.3 billion.

These two answers—each correct in its own way—demonstrate something that many Congressmen and newsmen have come to accept as fact. Namely, that in the curious world of the federal budget, no activity is handled more curiously (and more confusingly) than housing.

Why the two figures — one 400 times larger than the other?

The answer is that while the government pays out billions of dollars for such programs as urban renewal, public housing, and mortgage insurance, it also is taking in billions of dollars in these same programs. And the receipts nearly cancel out the expenditures.

That's why Uncle Sam can spend $4.3 billion on housing during the fiscal year that begins July 1 while President Johnson's budget shows housing outlay of only $10 million.

During the current fiscal year, housing receipts are expected to exceed expenditures by some $280 million. So the budget shows a negative figure in housing. The uninitiated might even think the government is tearing down houses this year rather than building them.

Here are a couple of examples of how receipts are cancelled out against expenditures in different programs. The Public Housing Administration plans to lend and advance local housing agencies $394 million in fiscal 1966. But at the same time, PHA expects to get back $392 million in repayments on earlier loans and advances.

Is PHA doing a $394 million business or a $2 million business? The reader must decide for himself.

The Urban Renewal Administration isn't expecting to do quite so well in balancing disbursements and receipts. URA has budgeted $243 million for loans and advances and only $217 million for repayments.

The point is that the government's private housing activities earn a big surplus each year and can thus carry the public housing programs, which usually are in the red.

Net receipts in the private housing programs are supposed to run $843 million in fiscal 1966, while net spending on public projects is budgeted at $853 and you get a housing budget of $10 million.

Looking At Hollywood

By HEDDA HOPPER

© 1964: By the Chicago Tribune

FILM ON GEN. PATTN'S LIFE IS BEING PLANNED

HOLLYWOOD — "The truth about Gen. George S. Patton is more interesting than any fiction about him," says Producer Frank McCarthy, "and we'll put his point of view on screen." Novelist Calder Willingham was signed by 20th to do the script based on "Patton: Ordeal and Triumph," but Calder and McCarthy read both Ike's and Montgomery's versions. "We'll not play him as a two-bit hero," says McCarthy, "but as the gutsy, controversial, flamboyant man he was. We're not sure of army cooperation until the script is finished. If we can get the tanks, we'll film in Europe." "And who," I asked, "will you find for the general?" McCarthy reeled off a bunch of names — Wayne, Mitchum, Lancaster — then said he might even get an unknown. The man who can play Patton hasn't been born.

Bob Carroll went to Marion, Ind., to confer with his collaborator Madelyn Martin Davis (they did the I Love Lucy shows) on "Fifth Avenue Folly" which they're writing for 20th. Arrived just as the tornado struck. "It went right by us but we had a 48-hour telephone blackout and no electricity. Following the wind, it became black as night, then hail the size of golf balls engulfed the area. For three days and nights Bob and Madelyn helped her husband, Dr. Richard Davis, as he tended the injured.

Debbie Reynolds told me this will be her last year of night clubs, but she'll never stop working for the Thalians. Last year they raised $125,000 for their clinic. She recently finished a soap commercial in color that cost $300,000. It will be shown all over the world except here and in Canada. Debbie donated all her salary (around $40,000) to her favorite charity, and will be heading their show again in October since she's chairman of the board. "If you can't do something for others, there's no point in living," she said.

Jackie (Flab Galore) Gleason and Bob (Soft Arches) Hope had so much fun at their grudge golf match in Miami Beach they'll repeat in Houston April 29.

I expected Dick Tracy's creator, Chester Gould, to walk through my office door when I met seven lovely girls who'd battled it out for the Miss Moon Maid title. The winner, Sheila Hansen, is a blonde doll from Mississippi whose parents used to play in movies. Her prizes: a thousand dollar wardrobe, a free trip to Hollywood, a movie contract to do a part in a "Beach Party" picture. There was another tiny cutie — Pat Bell of Carthage, Mo. — a brunette with big, blue eyes.

Carl Reiner phoned to say he will do "Enter Laughing" at Columbia in May, '66. He and Joe Stein, who wrote the play (also that brilliant "Fiddler on the Roof") will do the script and co-produce. Carl directs. He tours universities and stock companies where "Enter Laughing" will be playing this summer to find a new teen-age star for the movie. Reiner returns to his chores on the Dick Van Dyke show this fall, and bought himself a new toupe when Celebrity Game went back on the air. He loves that show — acting is his only hobby.

Hans Conried has done tremendous business on his tour of some 50 colleges. Those actors who don't do college tours have no idea how rewarding they are.

Tony Richardson's next picture will star Albert Finney and Jeanne Moreau. I wondered where Finney has been these many, many months. Tony Randall tells me he's been playing small parts with Larry Olivier with the National theater in London.
